UNITED STATES IN THROES OF GREAT STRIKE

400,000 MINERS ON STRIKE THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES

Bituminous Coal Centres Affected by Strike Order Which Became Effective at Midnight; Leaders Claim That Strike Will be Extended

Chicago, Nov. 1.—The nation-wide strike of United Mine Workers of America entered its first day with more than 400,000 miners idle, according to the claims of union officials throughout the nation. There was little disposition on the part of operators or their representatives to challenge the claim of the union men. When allowance is made for the aggregate reports from operators, the estimated total of miners on strike at noon to-day was just a shade less than 400,000. Union claims correspond to the number of paid-up union memberships on file at headquarters in Indianapolis, 401,488.

In ten or more states the unions reported more men out than the total August paid-up membership on file at national headquarters. North Dakota reported its 1,500 lignite workers at work, in response to orders from Indianapolis headquarters. North Dakota expected to use this coal itself.

Nowhere were disorders reported early in the day.

Injunction Ignored.
Chicago, Nov. 1.—Upward of 394,000 bituminous miners throughout the nation of a total of 515,000 employed in that industry to-day were on strike in response to the general strike call, effective at midnight last night, according to reports. In some instances estimated, received by union leaders. Despite the Federal injunction issued at Indianapolis against the strike, the leaders, who generally stated they would disregard it, asserted the strike to-day would be extended to more than 500,000 miners. Exact strength of the walkout probably will not be known until Monday.

Miners operators early to-day had announced no plans for carrying on the mining.

From headquarters here of the central department of the United States army, which embraces most of the nation's great coal fields, no reports of additional movements of Federal troops into the mining zones has been announced. Federal troops from Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., to-day were on duty in the West Virginia coalfields and others were held in readiness in Georgia to be sent to the East Tennessee mining district. In Colorado and Oklahoma state troops had been ordered into the coal lands.

Throughout the country the putting into effect of the great walkout was orderly. No reports of violence or destruction of property were received and in many instances a sufficient quota of union men was left at the various properties to prevent accidents or damage that would result from stopping the machinery.

Minus reports from some of the states on the number of miners affected by the strike order, principally Alabama and Virginia, following is a table by states of the number of men reported out to-day by the union leaders:

NEWS SERVICE TO BRITISH DOMINIONS

Governments Considering a Continuance of Imperial Cable Service

London, Nov. 1.—In the House of Commons yesterday the Under-Secretary for the Colonies informed Percy Hurd that payment to Reuters in respect to Imperial news service hitherto sent to Canada, would not continue after October 31, but the question of continuing the Imperial service on several lines was under consideration with the Canadian Government. The Under-Secretary added that payment to enable Reuters to meet the actual expenditure in sending an amplified cable service to other parts of the Empire had been approved till December 31.

The total loss to the Government funds involved in the Imperial news service was, after October 31, at the rate of nine thousand pounds a year, part of which was met by the Government and part by other British administrations interested.

CREDIT TO FRANCE FOR RECONSTRUCTION DEVASTATED AREA

The Hague, Nov. 1.—The Senate to-day adopted a resolution granting a credit of 25,000,000 francs to France for the reconstruction of devastated regions.

DOMINION LOAN RAPIDLY MOUNTS

Toronto Report Places Figure at $135,115,000 For Canada

Toronto, Nov. 1.—It was announced to-day by W. S. Hodgins, chairman of the Dominion business committee that the Dominion subscriptions to the Victory Loan amounted to $135,115,000. The sum is divided among the Provinces as follows:

British Columbia, $3,314,200; Alberta, $2,487,950; Saskatchewan, $2,180,700; Ontario, $79,850,950; Manitoba, $8,092,700; Quebec, $34,187,850; New Brunswick, $1,845,350; Nova Scotia, $3,034,500; Prince Edward Island, $118,800.

The above total represents totals for four days up till Thursday night from all the Provinces and cities with the exception of Ontario and Quebec, which have reported for five days up to Friday night.

Toronto's total of $40,500,650 on Friday night, covers reports for five days as against Montreal's total of $31,543,950 up to Friday night, which only covers reports for four days.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The Province of Ontario to date has subscribed $73,851,150 to the Victory Loan. The cities and larger centres are doing exceptionally well. Oshawa leads the Province to-day, per capita, with $135.55; London is in second place with $94; Toronto third with $61.09, and Hamilton fourth with $59.40.

Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, has issued an appeal to all ministers of the country to make November 2 a "Victory Loan Sunday."

Sir Henry speaks in high terms of the various services that the clergy rendered Canada.

The special subscription workers are reporting progress all over the country and big applications for bonds are pouring in. Many sections have already obtained their objectives and are going ahead on the second lap. From the West comes word that the special subscriptions are coming in there as elsewhere. The following were reported: City of Calgary, $125,000; City of Regina, $100,000; City of Saskatoon, $455,000; Eugene Costa, Calgary, $35,000; P. Burns, Calgary, (Concluded on page 4.)

Foreign Officers Seek Training in French Schools

Paris, Nov. 1.—The French War Office has received through various diplomatic agents of foreign powers applications of 600 officers in foreign armies who are desirous of taking up courses in French military schools. Requests also have been received for training with different corps of the French army. This is the greatest number of applications for French military instruction ever recorded.

TROTSKY MAKES APPEAL TO BOLSHEVIK FORCES

London, Nov. 1.—A Bolshevik wireless from Moscow received here contains the text of the latest message of Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik minister of war, to the Red forces. It concludes as follows:

"Army men, commanders and commissaries: 'The soviet government expects from you the greatest concentration of your forces. 'Onward. Do not give the enemy time to rest. Drive him, strangle him, beat him mercilessly. The hour of rest will come when the offat has been destroyed.'"

The message says the first part of the task of the Reds has been completed with the flinging back of the foe from Petrograd.

Now comes the second half of the task. The annihilation of the enemy must be carried out with the same success. The position of Yudenitch's army is hopeless. Do not give him a breathing spell. Harry him, defeat him until he is completely destroyed.

Bolsheviks failed.
Stockholm, Nov. 1.—The Russian legation here yesterday received a report from the Northwest Army, dated Wednesday, which says: "The Bolsheviks attempt to surround our left wing west of Taarskoe-Selo misdirected. We resumed the offensive and occupied the important crossroads near the village of Vioetaskaya, close to Krasnoe-Selo, taking 2,500 prisoners and many machine guns. We are continuing to advance."

MUNICIPAL FIGHT WAGED IN ENGLAND

First Provincial Elections Held in Seven Years

London, Nov. 1.—Elections will be held to-day for the Town Councils in the Provinces and for Borough Councils in London. These Councils control municipal affairs, such as road building, sanitation and light. The election for these offices are usually held triennially, but have not been held since 1912, owing to the war.

The public generally takes small interest in these elections, but on this occasion two questions of outstanding importance are expected to induce greater activity. The first is the continuous rise in local rates during and since the war amounting in some poorer districts of London to as much as 12 shillings or a pound on the rental value of buildings. The second is the absence of housing accommodations.

Three parties are in the field—moderate, progressive and laborite. The laborites are waging an active campaign. They have one thousand candidates for the 1,300 London seats. Their programme demands measures to arrest profiteering, by extension of municipal trading in foodstuffs and coal, bringing public services under municipal control, an effective housing scheme and increased powers generally for Borough Councils. In common with the Progressives, they advocate taxation of local ground values as a means for reducing rates.

Another feature of the campaign is the great part taken by women, who have 250 candidates in the field. By the reform act of 1918, over 800,000 women are entitled to vote in the London area and their influence provokes lively interest.

EX-CHANCELLOR GETS GRILLING

Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg Loses Temper Before Examiners

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg, German Chancellor for the greater part of the war, underwent a grilling interrogation before the National Assembly sub-committee which is endeavoring to determine what possibilities for peace had presented themselves during the war.

Considerable time was devoted to the part played by Ambassador Gerard, von Bethmann-Hollweg repeatedly asserting that Germany was suspicious of President Wilson's sincerity in offering peace, because he (President Wilson) did not confide in Gerard, and the latter had to go to the President for information. The ex-Chancellor said Ambassador Gerard's observations in Germany generally coincided with his own.

Direct answers were frequently evaded by von Bethmann-Hollweg, who said he could not remember whether he gave Gerard the German peace terms, although they had often spoken of peace and he had told Gerard things he said in the Reichstag.

The questions of the examiners here became so insistent that van Bethmann-Hollweg bridled and asked time to study the archives which until a week ago he had not seen for two years. He said he told Gerard that Belgium must not be used as a military base for another attack on Germany and discussed with the ambassador various military and economic post-war relations.

The former Chancellor reiterated that Germany distrusted Wilson because he was known to be dilatory and that he (the ex-Chancellor) had told Gerard he was sceptical of the President's attitude.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg then described repeated efforts he had made to have the chief censor check Pan-German newspapers in their attacks on the United States, but asserted the people's will for the U-boats warfare was too strong and whether the press was quieted or not, the people retained their prejudices.

"I never saw a rosy future," declared von Bethmann-Hollweg, "but when the submarine warfare became inevitable I considered it my duty to assume a confident attitude toward the people, the army and the Reichstag and to speak hopefully."

DUE TO LEAVE HONOLULU TO-DAY FOR VICTORIA: ADMIRAL JELlicoe

EXCESS PROFITS TO BE RETURNED

French Government Plans to Recover 500,000,000 Francs

Paris, Nov. 1.—Commissions instituted by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies for the purpose of looking into war contracts between the State and private firms have concluded their investigations and deposited their findings. One of the first duties of the new chamber when it convenes will be to take legislative measures necessary to obtain from firms sums amounting to 500,000,000 francs which the commissions say would leave firms "a normal profit" on their war contracts.

The Senate report estimates that one firm alone would be called upon to return to the state over 2,500,000 francs. Aeroplane and motor manufacturers' concerns are among those mentioned in the report for summing tallies well into tens of millions of francs.

All the firms mentioned in the report have signified their intention of defending themselves against surrendering any of their profits.

German Officers Are Charged With Murder and Burglary

Paris, Nov. 1.—Charges of murder and burglary, based on articles 227 and 230 of the Versailles Peace Treaty, were lodged against German officers in the Paris courthouse yesterday by a firm of jewelers in the Rue de La Paix.

This firm had a branch at Ostend when the Germans occupied the town in October, 1914. The manager of the store and his wife were shot and three safes were blown up and their contents taken.

The names of the officers responsible are said to be Ignace and Aco. The Under-Secretary for Military Justice has been requested to apply for extradition of the officers.

GREATER VICTORIA NEARS TWO MILLION MARK ON FIFTH DAY

Yesterday's Investment $210,750; Total Exclusive of Provincial Government's Subscription, $925,400; Three More Island Centres Reach Objectives

With an investment of $210,750 yesterday, Greater Victoria is rapidly nearing the two million dollar mark in the present Victory Loan drive. The total invested up to the end of the fifth day of the campaign was $925,400. To this must be added the Provincial Government's $789,000 investment which Victoria is allowed to include as part of its $5,000,000 objective, making a total of $1,714,400. While yesterday's investment in the city was the largest during the drive, three Island points, Sidney, Qualicum and Sooke, achieved their quotas and qualified for honor flags.

Yesterday's canvass in the city spread out into the residential districts, where a most generous response to the loan met the efforts of the bond salesmen. Indeed, so far the large amount collected in Victoria has been invested almost entirely in small amounts. "The most noticeable feature of the drive so far," General Clark, Island Loan Chairman, observed this morning, "is the fact that the average man, the man with small income, is supporting the loan to the limit. The support from the ordinary citizen is astounding. Indeed, so far we have not tapped our big prospective investors at all. Their investments are a little slow coming in as yet, but after the first of the month, I have no doubt, they will 'back up.' I am more than satisfied with the way the Loan has gone so far."

PRINCE OF WALES EXPECTED TO VISIT SPAIN IN SPRING

Madrid, Nov. 1.—It is reported that the Prince of Wales will visit Spain next spring.

PREMIER HUGHES OPENS CAMPAIGN

Is Opposed by Labor in Appeal to Australian People

Melbourne, Nov. 1.—Premier Hughes opened the general election campaign with a speech at Bendigo. He reminded his hearers that he was expelled from the Labor party because in response to the Imperial Government's appeal in 1916 for more recruits he had submitted the question of compulsory service to the people. The people would now choose whether they wanted to be governed by men who denounced and vilified him and others in 1916 because they refused to be their tools and who had throughout the darkest days of the war hampered every effort to achieve victory, or by those who had kept their pledges and placed the honor of the country high above all party considerations.

Premier Hughes said that the Labor party not only opposed conscription but hampered voluntary enlistment and even when the foe was within striking distance of Paris and menaced the Channel ports they babbled about peace by negotiation.

SAYS GOVERNMENT HAS NOT KEPT FAITH

Vice-President of G. W. V. A. Declares Recommendations Are Incomplete

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—"The recommendations of the committee of soldiers' civil re-establishment are incomplete," said R. B. Maxwell, first vice-president of the G. W. V. A., when seen last night. "In place of the concrete plan submitted by the G. W. V. A. the committee has advised Parliament to perpetuate and enlarge a patchwork quilt of re-establishment, which though stretched to the tearing point, cannot cover more than 10 per cent. of the returned men. No question is settled until it is settled right. We anticipated that the Government had realized the futility and danger of half-conceived and half-carried out measures of re-establishment."

Mr. Maxwell continued, "but the report proves the Government's determination to continue a policy which has caused much dissatisfaction in the past, and which augurs ill for the future."

G. W. V. A. Plan.
"Had the G. W. V. A. plan been adopted, the following vital requirements would have been provided for: Housing, unemployment, insurance, life insurance for war-disabled men, widows and orphans' pensions, which were proved to be inadequate; under the committee's recommendations."

Victor Emmanuel Pays Visit to Ancient Basilica

Pisa, Italy, Nov. 1.—King Victor Emmanuel, at the invitation of Cardinal Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa, visited the ancient basilica of St. Peter, near here, where excavations are being made which seem to prove that the site was actually visited by St. Peter in whose memory the original church was erected.

The present basilica was built on the ruins of the early church built in the Fourth Century. Tradition says the church marks the landing place of St. Peter on his way to Rome, the church being near the shore.

With the sit up-island points "over the top" and qualified for honor flags, F. M. McDougall, Island Loan Chairman, observed this morning, "is the fact that the average man, the man with small income, is supporting the loan to the limit. The support from the ordinary citizen is astounding. Indeed, so far we have not tapped our big prospective investors at all. Their investments are a little slow coming in as yet, but after the first of the month, I have no doubt, they will 'back up.' I am more than satisfied with the way the Loan has gone so far."

island "Going Over."

Victory Loan Team Number One, commonly known as the "flying squad," consisting of John Mowat, Captain J. S. Murray, George Brown and Charley Brown, returned from a trip in the Sooke and Jordan River Districts. They were loaded to the guards with enthusiasm over the way in which they were received by the good residents of those districts. It consumed nearly four days to cover the ground, but John Mowat can always be depended upon to cover ground when he takes the trail. Upon arrival at Sooke, and before being allowed to start business the team was met by a delegation of residents who demanded that Sooke be given an opportunity of competing for the Prince of Wales' Honor Flag, and asking the Team Captain to name the quota.

Mr. Mowat felt that the weight of responsibility was tremendous, but gallantly rose to the occasion, and made the figure $7,000. This appeared to be somewhat high, but the delegation accepted it, and buckled upon the job, ending up with $3,950. General Clark has now confirmed Mr. Mowat's action and an Honor Flag will be sent to Sooke.

The Flying Squadron has covered the entire district west of Esquimalt, with the exception of Metochin, and they intend to go there during the final week, as Metochin can always be depended upon to come in with handsome subscriptions. The Sooke Honor Flag is to be sent to Mr. Murray, Justice of the Peace, Sooke Harbor.

Sidney, at its own request, will be invaded on Tuesday evening by a bond team under J. B. Warnicker and Publicity Chairman E. J. Down. The visitors are not going to sell bonds but merely to stir up enthusiasm over the Loan. Their major loads of local boosters will make the trip and, at a meeting will do their best to help the Sidney loan chiefs to "put over" the drive in the progressive town. Already Sidney has won her honor flag with a total investment of $46,000, which is $4,000 over her quota. $3,500 were received to-day from Sidney declare that she will invest $50,000 before the drive is over.

Island Totals
The total investments of up-island points as reported this morning were as follows, the centres which have achieved their objectives being marked with an asterisk:
*Cobble Hill, $20,000; Duncan, $34,850; Chemainus, $7,150; Ladysmith, $14,900; Nanaimo, 100,000; Alberni, $19,000; *Parksville, $14,700; *Qualicum, $5,300; Union Bay, $5,500; Cumberland, $40,000; Courtenay, $7,400; *Cassidy, $21,600; *Sidney, $46,000; *Sooke, $8,950.

FINAL VOTE ON PEACE TREATY

Proposed American Senate Consider Ratification November 12

Washington, Nov. 1.—Formal negotiations for an early final vote on ratification of the German peace treaty were launched yesterday in the Senate.

Proposal that a final roll call be taken Wednesday, November 12, was made by Chairman Lodge, of the Foreign Relations Committee, while Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, Administration leader, presented a counter-proposal to limit to fifteen minutes each Senator's speech in the debate on all questions, beginning next week, but without proposing a definite date for the ratification vote.

Both proposals went over without discussion until Monday, the Senate adjourning until Monday without reaching a vote on any of the pending amendments.

Limitation of the debate, the Administration forces feel, would secure a final vote early in November.

The proposals for ending the long-drawn-out contest on the treaty came at the close of another day of routine debate on the motion of Senator La Follette, to strike out the labor section of the treaty.

Senator Lodge's proposal for an unanimous consent agreement for a vote on November 12 provides that the Senate proceed at 5 o'clock on that date to vote on all pending questions and the resolution of ratification without further debate.

DENIES ELEVATOR COMBINE EXISTS

Isaac Pitblado Answers the Charge Laid Before Board of Commerce

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—The charge that a combine existed between certain terminal grain elevator concerns, and that these concerns refused to sell him grain screenings needed by the Canadian Feed Manufacturing Company for manufacturing purposes, made by R. K. Henderson, agent for the company, was vigorously denied by Isaac Pitblado, representing seven elevator companies before Judge Robson, chairman of the Board of Commerce yesterday. He declared that any time Mr. Henderson was prepared to pay the market price for screenings he could get them at any of the firms.

The case against the elevators as outlined by H. Whittle, K. C., counsel for the Board was that manufacturers of feed cannot get screenings because they are shipped out of the country to concerns in the United States in which the terminal elevators are interested; that the price of screenings is unfair and artificial, not governed by the law of supply and demand.

Judge Robson pointed out that the price of feed was a vital factor in the cost of living, and urged the men to consider the country's need in connection with the question. A promise of the representatives of all the elevators stated by Mr. Henderson to have refused to sell him screenings was written into the evidence in which they pledged themselves to sell him screenings at market price on application. The judge considers the question amicably settled.

Mr. Pitblado urged that the question of any possible embargo be deferred until after the conference of grain interests called by the Government to meet here November 4 and 5 had been held. It would throw further light on the subject from all angles, being composed of farmers, grain men and Government representatives.

HOLLWEG OPPOSED TO DIVER WARFARE

Former German Chancellor Testifies He Was Overruled by War-Lords

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Former Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg was a witness yesterday before the sub-committee of the National Assembly investigating what had been the possibilities of peace-making during the course of the war.

The committee requested answers from Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg, who was Chancellor when the war began and held office on July 14, 1917, to the following three questions: "1. Why did the Central Powers make their peace offer on December 12, 1916, when action by President Wilson for peace had been suggested by Germany and a certain prospect of such action was held out, at the latest, for the end of December?"

"2. Why were concrete peace conditions not communicated to President Wilson?"

"3. Why instead of pursuing the idea of action toward peace by President Wilson did Germany assent to ruthless submarine warfare if she knew it would lead to war with the United States?"

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg spent nearly two hours in the witness chair to-day before the sub-committee.

Was Overruled. The former Chancellor said he sharply condemned the submarine warfare, but admitted that the influence of Admiral von Tirpitz, General Ludendorff and Field Marshal von Hindenburg was strong that the German people were absolutely convinced of its justification and followed their generals blindly.

His voice almost broke with emotion as he told of his efforts to meet his responsibilities, both to the people at home and the soldiers in the trenches. When he tried to oppose the submarine warfare, he said, Generals Ludendorff and von Hindenburg wired the Foreign Office that Germany would lose the campaign on the West front and that she must have the submarine war.

It was considered finally, according to the former Chancellor, that even America, should she enter the war, could be handled, and the army authorities three days before the armistice to those who opposed the submarine campaign.

Warnings not to under-estimate America, which the former Chancellor said he issued, failed of their purpose, because, he declared, intense hatred of America ruled solidly in all political circles and the delivery of ammunition to the Entente by the United States. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg acknowledged that the facts established in the course of the proceedings were correct, and admitted that Germany's wish had been to enter a conference which President Wilson was willing to join.

Replying to the first of the three questions he had been asked to answer, the former Chancellor said: "If President Wilson was upset because the Central Powers did not wait for his peace step, he did not allow this to influence his action."

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg would not assert that the President was not in earnest in holding out a prospect of peace action, but said there was a long series of facts throwing doubt on whether and when he (President Wilson) would carry out his resolve, which led to the German Government to doubt whether his intervention could come soon enough.

Bernstorff's Advice. According to Count von Bernstorff's reports, the former Chancellor declared, the President was accustomed to show hesitancy and dilatoriness and appeared handicapped by his own and his country's relationship to the Entente. "We could not see into the President's soul," said von Bethmann-Hollweg. "However, he had no friendly feeling for Germany, as was recently declared by Premier Clemenceau in the French Senate. Moreover, the commercial relations of England and the United States for the supply of armaments were bound severely to restrain the President's peace action, and it would have been venturesome to take his peace action as a certain factor and otherwise remain inactive. For military reasons Germany could not wait indefinitely. We could not give the impression of weakness. The German peace offer had to come at a time when our military successes were at the highest. Moreover, it was necessary to show the German people that the Government desired peace and was only waging a defensive war. It was considered further that the peace offer would increase the Entente people's will for peace, and they would influence their governments in favor of negotiations. Unfortunately the Entente replied to the German offer with a flat refusal, and the war had to be continued."

WHEAT YIELD IN NORTHERN HEMISPHERE BELOW THE AVERAGE

Rome, Nov. 1.—The yield of wheat for 1919 amounts to 51,900,000 tons in the northern hemisphere countries, which produce about half the normal crop of the world, says a report issued by the International Institute of Agriculture.

It is added that this is about 4,500,000 tons below the yield of 1918 and more than 2,000,000 tons below the average crop of the four years preceding 1918, and that there is a greater shortage than last winter. The report says the yield of rye in the same countries amounts to 4,200,000 tons as against 4,400,000 tons in 1918.

TRAIN CARRYING SCOTTISH SOLDIERS WAS IN COLLISION

London, Nov. 1.—A crowded Great Northern Express traveling thirty miles an hour, carrying a regiment of the Black Watch, collided yesterday with another train at Selby, Yorkshire. It is pointed out that, providentially, only eight Scottish soldiers were injured, because if the accident had happened a few yards ahead it would have occurred on the Ouse railway bridge, with consequences similar to the Tay Bridge disaster.

USED HIGH EXPLOSIVE TO END LIVES AT CHATEAU THIERRY

Chateau Thierry, France, Nov. 1.—Thirty-five pounds of meltainte, set off by a detonator, was the method employed by Adm. Thumerel and his sweetheart to end their lives here yesterday. Thumerel, an employee of the explosive depot at Mezy, near here, was charged with the theft of bombs from stores destined for war prisoners and was to appear in court to-day to answer to the charge. He is said to have decided upon suicide. The explosive was made ready in a shack where Thumerel and his sweetheart met. The explosion which followed was heard for miles and destroyed property within a radius of 100 yards.

TORONTO GROUP WANTS TRADES UNION PARTY

Toronto, Nov. 1.—There was some feeling expressed at the Labor Temple yesterday that the Farmers had put it all over Labor.

One group suggested the formation of a trades union party to which no members should be admitted who did not subscribe to its policy. That policy is, however, still in the clouds. With regard to the rift in the Labor lute, that is the feeling between Mayor McBride of Brantford and James Simpson, there is some conflict of opinion. Some labor men think the Brantford man was right in looking for a showdown, while others think he should have stayed and fought the matter out.

GRATUITY REPORT FINALLY TABLED

Committee Finds All Re-establishment Grants Would Cost Country $50,000,000

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—That the recommendations made by the Parliamentary Committee appointed to inquire into all matters pertaining to the re-establishment of soldiers in civil life, as well as the question of providing increased gratuities, will cost the country $50,000,000 is the opinion expressed in the report of the committee, tabled in the Commons last night by Hon. J. A. Calder, chairman.

The general findings of the committee include its decision not to grant further gratuities to returned soldiers under the G.W.V.A., J. Harry Lynn or Margeson plans, already outlined in Canadian Press dispatches.

The committee's estimate of the cost of recommendations made is as follows:

To provide gratuities to Canadians enlisted in Imperial units, $3,000,000.

To provide refund of transportation expenses to dependents who returned to Canada prior to the armistice, $1,000,000.

To provide for carrying out all other recommendations, including the handling of the unemployment problems during the coming winter, $40,000,000.

Resolution by Liberals.

The report is unanimous, but the Liberal members of the committee, while concurring in its recommendations, moved a qualifying resolution, which was not adopted, setting forth their opinion that some of the Government's existing and contemplated commitments are wholly unwarranted.

An empty head contains a lot of useless information.

METHODISTS TO ARRANGE UNION

London, Oct. 31.—Two hundred delegates appointed by the conferences of the three Methodist churches of Great Britain, the Wesleyans, Primitive Methodists and United Methodists, are meeting at the Wesleyans' Hall, Westminster, to prepare a scheme for an organic union of British methodism. This is without question the most important Methodist assembly held since the death of Wesley in 1791.

NEW MEXICAN COINAGE.

Mexico City, Nov. 1.—A new silver coinage for Mexico of a peso containing twelve grams of silver is provided for in a decree signed October 29 by President Carranza. The amount of silver in the fifty and twenty-centavo pieces is reduced in equal proportions. The steps are taken to prevent the disappearance of Mexican silver coins as a result of the high price of silver.

"RE-CONSIDERATION PROMISED."

It will be admitted that every available source of employment must be taken into account during the coming winter. As much work as possible must be created in Victoria to counterbalance the effect of a cessation of wooden shipbuilding. At present there is hope of an early start on the dry-dock; but beyond that the Johnson Street bridge and the housing scheme are merely nebulous possibilities.

Moreover, we are not disposed merely to attach the argument of unemployment as the chief incentive for the City Council to participate in the national housing programme. Obviously, the very fact that 450 men would be provided with jobs for about three of the most critical months ahead is a substantial recommendation in itself. There is, however, another and equally important factor: vacant houses are few and far between, while practically every apartment establishment in the city has a waiting list of prospective tenants. In neither class of domicile is rental charge decreasing.

Nor does this phase of the question completely exhaust the reason why Victoria should have no difficulty in following the lead set by other municipalities. Whatever the shortcomings of the Federal Act, which determined the machinery for operating the plan, there is one salient fact which the Victoria City Council cannot evade with a parrot-like cry of "bad business." It is this: The housing scheme enables a returned soldier to purchase a home for himself at a monthly payment invariably several dollars less than he is required to pay in rent. The City merely acts as his banker, accepting the returned man's contract as part security for the repayment of money loaned by the Dominion Government through the Province. Naturally the City is privileged to satisfy itself as to each applicant's bona-fides and pay such regard to all the circumstances as each individual case may demand. This, after all, is merely a matter of ordinary business and each returned man undoubtedly is fully seized of the importance of his contract.

Alderman Sargent, however, is reported to have said at yesterday's meeting—when it was decided to reconsider the whole question in the "immediate future"—that the Government's agreement is such a bad one "that the returned soldier applicant would be discouraged by the heaviness of his obligation and be induced to let it go by the board." Why this gratuitous suggestion of the returned man's unreliability? He discharged a much more risky contract in France.

Nor will any amount of argument alter the fundamental advantages of the plan. As we have pointed out before the returned man can purchase a $3,225 house and lot under the scheme at the rate of $24 per month, plus local improvement taxes. If he owns his own lot the monthly obligation is reduced to $20.94. Where, we ask, is the property owner with a house of identical specification ready to rent it at less? Hence, how does the City Council persist in its argument against the scheme and label it "bad business?" Is Alderman Sargent really concerned about the "heaviness" of a burden which the returned soldier is eager, willing and capable to shoulder? If the City Council has a valid business reason for its extraordinary hesitancy we should like to know it. In the meantime good business for the city at large is lost sight of in a haze of civic burlesque.

THE WOMAN CANDIDATE.

It cannot be said that British politics are lacking either in interest or novelty. The peculiar division of forces and the gradual inclination to "square away" for position were to be expected as soon as the functions of a war-time Government as such became less important. Many-sided contests, however, have failed to shake the Lloyd George ministry to any appreciable extent and it may be some months yet before a practical cleavage defines the prominent parties which will constitute British political life in the immediate future.

While the party melting-pot is merely simmering, however, the new factor of the woman voter and the woman aspirant for parliamentary honors has obtruded a number of possibilities of which any "political rehabilitation" will have to take account. It is true that Mrs. Pethick Lawrence did not succeed in getting more than 3,000 votes in the general election last December; but it must be remembered that the armistice was but a month old and the country was scarcely in the mood to send women to Parliament to clean up the business of war. Her defeat, too, took place in the commercial Rusholme division of Manchester—since emerged from a by-election without a change of representation.

It may be, however, that Lady Astor—an American by birth—will succeed in demolishing what may be regarded still as an inviolable British parliamentary tradition and occupy the first petticoat seat in the House of Commons. Lady Astor has been chosen by the Plymouth Conservatives and intends to contest the division as a Coalition-Unionist. "Nancy Astor, M. P.," should suggest a host of possibilities to the feminine mind, while it may be taken for granted that the progressive modiste will rise to the occasion and create an entirely new set of "Westminster" fashions.

MR. DRURY'S PLATFORM.

After the Drury Government has assumed office in Ontario its members, like the members of all newly-chosen Governments, will have frequent reminders of its pre-election platform. Mr. Drury has announced his determination to put into effect all the planks of that platform, and as much is likely to be heard of it we reproduce it here:

- (1) To cut out all expenditures that are not absolutely essential.
- (2) To abolish the system of party patronage.
- (3) To limit Governmental activity respecting commercial co-operation to legislation facilitating co-operative effort, to the keeping of accurate records, and to general education along co-operative lines.
- (4) To provide equal educational opportunities for all the children of all the people by greatly extending and improving educational facilities in the rural districts.
- (5) To substitute for the policy of expensive Provincial highways a policy of organized continuous road maintenance, and of making good roads for all rather than high-grade roads for a few, the cost of road construction and maintenance being equitably distributed between city and country.
- (6) To promote a system of forestry which will maintain and increase the public revenues from this source, protect and perpetuate our forest resources, reforest the waste places of Old Ontario, and encourage municipalities to engage in forestation enterprises.
- (7) To encourage and cheapen Hydro-electric development and maintain effective public control over it.
- (8) To enact and enforce such prohibitory legislation against the liquor traffic as the people may sanction in the approaching referendum, and as lies within the power of the Province. Prohibition is an integral part of the Farmers' platform, and the United Farmers of Ontario will use its influence in that direction.
- (9) To extend the policy and practice of direct legislation through the initiative and the referendum.
- (10) To apply the principle of proportional representation to our electoral methods.

Mr. Drury has added to these undertakings a pledge that his Government will do everything within its power to reduce the cost of living by establishing more direct relations between the producers and consumers. This and other problems affecting the urban populations of the Province will have to be dealt with by the new Government, which must realize that while the United Farmers' party was chiefly concerned with the promotion of the welfare of the rural section of the Province, the Government which the United Farmer members will dominate must base its course upon what it considers to be best for the population of Ontario as a whole. It is as much the Government of the dwellers in the cities as of the people of the rural districts.

SPANISH INFLUENZA.

Happily, there are no indications of a recurrence of the Spanish influenza epidemic in this country. One or two isolated cases have been reported to the Provincial Board of Health, but in neither instance did serious consequences arise. However, prominent medical authorities in the United States and Great Britain are becoming converted to the principle of inoculation as the most effective preventive measure. To Dr. David Thomson is ascribed the credit of having discovered a detoxicated vaccine—a vaccine from which the poisonous and injurious properties are removed—which may be injected by the medico in large doses without danger. Even in the case of the ordinary cold this vaccine is now being used in the United Kingdom.

It should be noted that the United States, whose death toll from Spanish influenza last winter exceeded half a million persons, is preparing for an invasion, while reports from Great Britain indicate that a recurrence of the scourge there this winter is not regarded as improbable. In New Zealand it was held that only by adopting the inoculation preventive was it possible to curtail the ravages of the disease in that country. Hence it would appear that a primary function of the newly-organized Dominion Council of Health should be an investigation into the merits of this agency. Last year, it will be remembered, one or two discovered vaccines were regarded as of very little account.

COL. WARD AND BOLSEHEVISM.

More than usual interest attaches to a recent speech made in London on the occasion of the annual dinner of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union by Lieut.-Col. John Ward, known throughout the United Kingdom as the "navy's M. P." The Colonel presumably still retains his union card and remembers the knowledge gained in the school of experience. He declared that it was impossible to believe that humanity could become so insane as to bring about what had happened in Russia—the real democracy according to the tenets of Ramsay MacDonald. From his experience gained while leading British forces against the Bolshevik armies, Colonel Ward painted a harrowing mental picture of conditions under which a "re-awakened" Russia existed.

"The Labor movement is entitled to everything it can secure within the constitution by orderly means," declared the Colonel, "but it must not think I would sympathize with anything like that I have seen in Russia. And I would not be an idle spectator if such a thing showed itself in this country." Colonel Ward said that men could not see what he had seen and listen patiently to a disputation as to whether Bolshevism would be a good thing for England.

Colonel Ward cannot be called a snob or a convert to the "capitalistic class." John Ward denounced war and conscription on many a Labor platform before the war and warmly supported the policy that held detestation of both in the organized workers' creed. He had become convinced, however, that that entirely pacifist policy probably had produced the very effect it had hoped to avoid. As long as British Labor will listen to and heed the advice of such men as the "navy's" Colonel and member of Parliament it will not go far wrong.

Arkansas, 4,000; Colorado, 5,000; Illinois, 80,000; Indiana, 25,000; Iowa, 14,000; Kansas, 13,000; Kentucky, 10,000; Maryland, 4,000; Michigan, 2,400; Missouri, 4,000; Montana, 4,000; New Mexico, 4,000; Ohio, 10,000; Oklahoma, 7,000; Pennsylvania, 100,000; Tennessee, 2,000; Texas, 2,500; Utah, 1,000; Washington, 6,000; West Virginia, 42,500; Wyoming, 8,000; Alabama, 10,000.

Comments of the mining district presidents, upon being informed of issuance of the injunction at Indianapolis, ranged from mere acknowledgment of the information to statements that no judge in the country "was big enough to call off the strike and that the restraining order only makes us that much more determined to fight to the bitter end, let the consequences be what they may."

Next Move

Washington, Nov. 1.—Miners must make the next move in the soft coal strike, was the opinion to-day of Government officials.

The strike was a reality to-day even though directing heads of the United Mine Workers of America were restrained from activity by Federal court injunction. Government officials awaited reports as to the extent of the walk-out, for upon this information rested the future course of the Government.

Should reports show that any considerable number of miners desire to continue work the Government was prepared to furnish them protection. Should disorders occur the Government was ready with all the police powers at its disposal to put them down.

But the Government's activities were not alone in the coal fields. Maximum prices for bituminous coal, formulated to meet war's needs, were in effect. Priority, based on the part war schedule, was in operation.

Nothing more can be done by the Government, officials intimated, until a way was shown by the miners themselves. For that reason officials were not prepared to discuss the Government's course other than has been outlined.

Lethargic Headquarters.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—From the scene of most activity in connection with the strike of approximately 400,000 bituminous coal miners, headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here has been transported in the last 24 hours to, perhaps the most lethargic. The lack of activity, however, is not due to disinterest in the strike, but is the result of the sweeping provisions of the restraining order which went into effect yesterday by United States District Judge A. B. Anderson, compelling the miners' officials to refrain from taking any part in conducting or encouraging the strike of the miners, which, according to dispatches, has been carried out almost to a man among the union soft coal workers of the country.

Miners' leaders at headquarters thus far apparently have obeyed the restraining order to the letter. They not only decline to give out statements and reports concerning the strike, but will not discuss their plans for combatting the action of the Government in the courts, and unless the restraining order is violated by some of those against whom it is directed, miners' headquarters probably will remain quiet, at least until the Government's injunction proceedings again come up in the Federal Court November 8.

Enforcement of the restraining order secured yesterday is the first step in the Government's plan to render the strike effective on November 8, a temporary injunction will be asked. Government officials pointing out that the first order was merely an emergency measure intended not to prevent individual miners from quitting work, but to prevent organized direction of the strike. The order will leave the miners free to exercise their own judgment in quitting or remaining at work and also will give the miners' leaders time to prepare to present their side of the case to the court. If the temporary injunction is granted the Government later will ask that it be made permanent.

Enforcement of the restraining order has been left in the hands of L. Ert Slack, United States District Attorney of Indiana.

Government authorities do not contemplate the any attempt at violation of the court order will be made, but are taking no chances.

The only known step the miners have taken toward fighting the Government in the courts is the retention of Henry Warrum, an Indianapolis attorney. It was said that Alton B. Parker, of New York, probably would be engaged to assist with the mine workers' case.

The executive board of the union wound up its last batch of routine business this morning and the members started at once for their homes. John L. Lewis, acting president of the union, said he expected to leave for his home in Springfield to-night and hoped to remain there several days.

The silence policy imposed on union headquarters by the federal district court was rigidly followed, and as a result there was equal lack of activity at the office of L. Ert Slack, United States district attorney, in whose hands reposes the enforcement of the restraining order.

Farrington's Statement.
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—Bituminous coal miners of Illinois, 90,000 of them, are "one hundred per cent. idle" to-day, in response to the strike call effective at midnight last night, according to Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois district.

Farrington, who this morning had not yet been served with a copy of the restraining order issued at Indianapolis yesterday to prevent leaders from directing the strike said:

"Judge Anderson seems to have overlooked the fact that the men in the coal fields are not the officials dig the coal.

GOVERNMENT STREET.

OPPOSITE POST OFFICE

Evidently the Federal Government under-estimated the vigilance, courage and determination of the mine workers. Any hope the government had, that it was a strike of officials instead of the membership has been disillusioned.

Northern Wyoming.

Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 1.—Every union mine in Northern Wyoming is idle to-day while 10,000 miners are striking. Whistles were blown for work this morning, but no miners reported. Sufficient men to keep fans in operation are on duty.

Coal Seized.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 1.—Seizure of coal in transit has begun at many points in Michigan, under orders of the railroad administration.

GREATER VICTORIA NEARS TWO MILLION MARK ON FOURTH DAY

Gen. Clark Invests Gratitude
A number of returned soldiers have invested their war gratuity in Victory Bonds. General Clark, Island chairman of the loan drive, led this move by turning his whole gratuity over to the bond salesmen. The proceeds by which soldiers may invest their gratuity was thus explained by the General this morning:

"The machinery by which soldiers may turn their gratuities into the safest investment obtainable has now been established. Each bond canvasser has a form which has to be filled in by the soldier who intends to invest his gratuity. This form merely records his name, military number and the date of his discharge. With the canvasser the soldier visits Mr. Pike at the Parliament Buildings. Here a cheque for the gratuity due is handed to the soldier, who changes it for an application for bonds. In this way many soldiers who otherwise would be able to invest are enabled to put their money into something which will yield sure interest and which is absolutely safe. I cannot urge the returned men too strongly to adopt this plan."

Big Doings at Dug-out Trenches To-night.

The German trenches at the corner of Port and Government Streets will be the scene of some "lively doings" to-night. The newly-formed Victory choir, under J. B. Warnicker, will be on hand to render some of the Down Ditties and a large sale of bonds as a result is expected.

To Canvass Yarrowes.
Through the courtesy of Norman Yarrow, the big plant of Yarrowes, Ltd., at Esquimalt will be canvassed on Monday by a special team of bond-sellers. The Yarrowes boys, who invested so largely the Loan last year, will be told something about the present drive by R. W. Perry.

Raffles for Victory Bonds.
Raffles for Victory Bonds are becoming a popular feature of the drive. One of the Departments in the Government Buildings yesterday staged a form of sweep stake, the prize for which was a $50 bond. A lady employee drew the winning number. The loan organization, too, is staging a daily raffle at headquarters, tickets selling for twenty-five cents.

Sanich to Invest.

At a meeting of the Sanich Municipal Council last night it was decided to invest $5,000 of the municipal sinking fund in Victory Bonds. Sanich's investment this year will be limited to that amount because a large part of the available sinking fund has been used to retire debentures which matured during the year.

Chinatown Giving Support.

That the local Chinese are going the limit in bond investments is the report of Harry Hastings, who has charge of a special team operating in Chinatown. Mr. Hastings has a little surprise of a pleasant nature in store for his district.

DOMINION LOAN RAPIDLY MOUNTS

$100,000, and Dominion Loan & Security Company, $75,000.

J. P. Morgan & Co.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—Sir Frederick William Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, announces the subscription to the Victory Loan of $1,000,000 made by J. P. Morgan & Company, New York, through the Bank of Montreal, their representatives.

It is believed this is the first direct subscription by Morgan & Company to any of the public issues made by the allies.

Passengers Invest.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Passengers arriving in Halifax on ocean liners are subscribing so generously to the Victory Loan, 1919, that it has been found necessary to send an urgent appeal to the Dominion publicity committee for six additional honor flags.

Halifax is setting an objective for each of the liners reaching that port, the steamer Adriatic, which arrived a few days ago, found itself with an objective of $100,000. The passengers subscribed $275,000 and last night the lieutenant-governor of the province presented the captain of the ship with the Prince of Wales flag. The flag is highly prized by the passengers and crew.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—It was announced yesterday at the headquarters of the Montreal and Island Victory Loan Campaign that with the subscriptions officially announced, and those that had come in too late to be officially given out, the total for Montreal and the Island had grown to something over $34,000,000. This total includes several large subscriptions during the day, too late for classification in the official report.

NEW BRUNSWICK SEEKS RECOVERY OF MONEY ON RAILWAY CONTRACT

St. John, N.B., Nov. 1.—The sum of $200,000 is claimed by the Province of New Brunswick in an amended statement for which permission is sought in the case of the King vs. W. B. Tennant. The amount is based on evidence presented at the royal commission inquiry into the patriotic shipment of potatoes, and it is alleged that the amount mentioned is lost sustained by the Province by the award of the contract for the construction of the Valley Railway to the company represented by Mr. Tennant instead of to competing companies and the contract was so awarded as a result of Mr. Tennant's promise to pay the loss sustained on the potato transactions.

Labor Men Tell Aldermen
They Will Not Put Up
With Unemployment

Labor men who are thrown out of employment are not going to put up in the future with what they have suffered in the past, Robert Donachie, of the Carpenters' Union, told the aldermen yesterday afternoon at the City Hall. He declared there would be mobs of unemployed here during the winter.

"There are 1,600 men now, and in a few weeks there will be 2,000 thrown out of work here," he said. "In former periods of unemployment conditions we have gone through were enough to humiliate any individual; they were conditions under which men have to sell their homes and women even have to sell their own bodies."

"We only want something to divert the mob that will be in our city this winter."

"Remember that we will not put up with conditions that we have put up with in the past."

Mr. Donachie declared that the most effective way of warding off unemployment trouble that he could see at present was for the city to go ahead with the housing scheme for returned soldiers. One hundred thousand dollars put out in this work would give employment for 150 carpenters for ten weeks.

"It is best to pay five per cent. under the housing scheme than to open soup kitchens," he added.

James Dakers, President of the Metal Trades Council, declared that a number of men have gone from here to the American side to look for work, but they are all coming back because conditions there are no better than they are here. In Tacoma 6,000 to 7,000 men are walking the streets because of labor troubles. Thousands are walking the streets in Seattle.

"Unless something is done in the nature of local work we in this city are going to pass through conditions such as have never been seen in the city's history," Mr. Dakers said.

Alexander Watchman declared it absolutely necessary that some kind of employment be inaugurated.

Property Point of View.

"This housing question now before you shows it is one of the curses to get into this Council that it is necessary for you to own property," said Mr. Watchman. "This man on the street says that the attitude of this Council is determined by the fact that you men here have property to sell. As further houses erected cause a depreciation in rents, it depreciates your income."

"If we have property to sell, as you say, would this housing scheme not give us a chance to sell this property to returned soldiers?" asked Alderman Johns.

"We request that some work be inaugurated to take care of the citizens of Victoria. The only thing we can see at this time is the money offered to the city under the housing scheme and we request that you put this into operation. The Government voted this money to stabilize unrest as by giving these men their own homes they will have a stake in the country."

The unemployment situation will be brought before the full Council formally in the near future, the Aldermen informed the labor speakers.

BUSINESS ABILITY SHOWN BY WOMEN

Victory Loan 1919 Appeals to the Women of Canada as a Good Sure Investment.

The Victory Loan, 1919, will appeal to the business instincts of Canadian women. The twentieth century has been called the century of women. Into every phase of life—educational, commercial, artistic and social—women have penetrated and made a lasting impression. It has been found that the executive ability of women is equal to that of men. Many a business concern to-day feels the directing influence of a woman. Not a few women have branched out into business for themselves and be it noted that few of them have ever failed.

When a woman starts anything, it usually goes, and goes with a snap. Victory Bonds from an investment standpoint ought to be an attractive proposition to the business woman. They are guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada. They pay 5½ per cent. They are easily converted into cash. They are accepted as collateral any place. There is no wait for the interest, and there will be no delay when the time comes for repayment of the loan.

It is said that the savings deposits of the business women of Canada amount to several million dollars. It does not look like first class business to accept a lower rate of interest than 5½ per cent. when the larger sum can be obtained.

To-day is the opening day of the big campaign. It is urged that every true Canadian woman do her share to putting this Victory Loan, 1919, "over the top."

UNDECIDED.

The girl had been sent down to the brook to bring a pail of water, but stood gazing at the flowing stream, apparently lost in thought.

"What is she waiting for?" said her mistress, who was watching.

"Dunno," wearily replied hubby. "I'm afraid she hasn't seen a pailful she likes yet."

A BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND PUMPER SNICKLE.
Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

One morning, the day after Halloween, when Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, was hopping through the woods, he heard a sad voice saying:
"O dear! I wonder if I will ever get anything to eat? I wouldn't care what it was, as long as it's something I can chew."
"Dear me! I hope that isn't the Skeezicks or the blue-nosed baboon!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "They are always hungry and always want something to chew—mostly my mouse. I hope it isn't them!"
The bunny rabbit gentleman looked through the bushes and, sitting on an old stump, he saw a most curious chap. He was something like a dog, and yet partly like a cat, and he was also something like a turkey gobbler. And this chap, queer as he was, had on even stranger clothes. They seemed to be turned all inside out, every which way and what, and the creature looked very sad and lonely.
"I don't believe I need be afraid of him," thought Uncle Wiggily. "I'll just step out and speak to him."
So the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped over from behind a plum bush, from which all the apples, pears and peaches had been picked, and Uncle Wiggily said:
"Who are you, my good chap, and what is the matter?"
"Oh, I'm so hungry!" was the answer. "Have you anything to eat about you?"
"I'll look," said Uncle Wiggily.
The bunny rabbit gentleman put his paws in his pockets, and from one he pulled a nice piece of cherry pie that Nurse Jane had slipped in that very morning.
"Take this!" said kind Uncle Wiggily, to the queer chap. "And now tell me who you are."
"I am the Pumper Snickle," was the answer. "And, oh! You couldn't have given me anything I like better than cherry pie! Oh, thank you! Thank you!" and he began eating the pie, letting the red juice run down between his claws and on his clothes. But it didn't seem to matter much about the clothes, as they were wrong-side out.
"Pumper Snickle!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I think I have heard that name before."
"Yes," answered the odd chap. "I am one of the spirits and fairy elves of Halloween. I chase about with a false face on, and my clothes turn bells and ask for apples, cakes and pennies. But I have had bad luck."
"Well, I was coming along last night, to join in the Halloween fun," answered Pumper Snickle, "when my automobile broke down. There was a hole in one of the tires—or something. I didn't get here until this morning. Now it's too late for any Halloween fun until next year, and I haven't any other clothes to wear and, oh! I was nearly starved until you gave me that cherry pie."
"But why didn't you go to some of the houses of my animal friends in these woods and ask for something to eat?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know. "I'm sure they would have fed you."
"No," answered Pumper Snickle, with a sad shake of his head. "I tried that. It wouldn't work. When I knocked at a door, or rang the bell, no one would answer. They peeped out of the window, and when they saw me they wouldn't give me anything. You see last night, in the dark, they would have been all right. They would have known I was Pumper Snickle, one of the Halloween Spirits, and have given me cakes and apples. But in broad daylight they are afraid of me."
"That's silly of them," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "I'll take care of you, and Nurse Jane won't be afraid of you. Come to my bungalow, and after I give you a good meal I'll send you back where you live in my airship."
"I live at the end of the rainbow," answered Pumper Snickle. "If I can get back there I'll stay until next

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

Social Personal

Mrs. C. T. Hilton, of Port Alberni, is registered at the Empress Hotel.

During their stay in the city next week, Admiral and Lady Jellicoe will be the guests of the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Barnard at Government House.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Young, 808 Lampson Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bessie, to Mr. J. W. Allison, Kerrobert, Sask. The marriage will take place shortly.

Yesterday at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, the marriage was solemnized by the Rev. G. H. Andrews, of John H. Ross, of Victoria, and Mildred M. Smith, of Dover, England.

The Victoria Amateur Swimming Club is about to inaugurate a series of dances in order that the happy relations maintained during the swimming season may be cemented socially. The first will be held on Tuesday evening next at Carter's Hall, opposite the Alexandra Club. Perry's orchestra will furnish the dance music, and it is anticipated that there will be a big attendance of members and friends.

Mrs. F. W. Baylis entertained at an enjoyable Halloween party at her residence on Robertson Street last night, when appropriate decorations imparted the festive but "spooky" atmosphere associated with the occasion. Cards were a feature of the evening's entertainment, five tables being engaged in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. Inglis and Mr. Hyslop, while Mrs. Haugh and Mr. Hartley were awarded the consolation prizes. Delicious supper was served and the merry gathering broke up at an early hour this morning.

The electrical class of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment were hosts at a Halloween social and dance held at Semple's Hall last evening. Despite the weather conditions the hall was crowded with relatives and friends of the soldier-students. Splendid music was rendered by the Sons of England orchestra, and dancing continued until the small hours of the morning. The boys wish to express their hearty thanks to the many ladies who so kindly supplied the refreshments. Although this was the first dance held by any S. C. R. class in the city, it was a huge success, and all present expressed their desire to participate in many such events during the coming winter season.

A most enjoyable Halloween party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hudlin, 1153 Gladstone Avenue, last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Mosely, of Ganges, who have been spending the past Halloween, and I'll try not to be late. You are very kind, Uncle Wiggily.

"Pray do not mention it," spoke the bunny rabbit gentleman.

Going around by back paths, so no one would see him, the bunny led Pumper Snickle to the hollow stump bungalow.

"Goodness me sakes alive! Who's this?" cried Nurse Jane when she saw the odd chap.

"Now don't be frightened," Uncle Wiggily laughed. "This is only Pumper Snickle—left over from Halloween. We must be kind to him and feed him. Then I'll send him to the end of the rainbow in my airship."

So Nurse Jane set out a nice lunch for Pumper Snickle, and while he was eating it the muskrat lady went out to the garage to help Uncle Wiggily get the bunny's airship ready. While they were putting in the maple syrup, to make it go, the bad Pipselaw and the Skeezicks stole out of the woods and sneaked up to the hollow stump bungalow.

"We'll go in the back kitchen way," whispered the Skeez to the Pip. "We'll slide in, and get Uncle Wiggily's mouse."

Up to the kitchen they went, and when they opened the door the Pumper Snickle, who was just eating another piece of cherry pie, roared in his loudest voice:

"What do you want?" The Pip and Skeez gave one look at the fierce-appearing chap seated out of the window they jumped head over heels.

"What a queer policeman Nurse Jane has in her kitchen," said the Skeez.

"Yep!" said the Pip. "It's good he didn't catch us!"

Then, when the airship was ready, the Pumper Snickle, after thanking Uncle Wiggily, sailed to the end of the rainbow, there to stay until next Halloween.

But if it hadn't been that the funny chap scared away the Pip and Skeez I don't know what might have happened. And if the teacup doesn't slide out of the saucer when they're dancing at the coffee pot's lemonade party, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the sawdust.

DAUGHTERS OF PITTY

IN SPLENDID WORK

Miss L. Sylvester Elected President at Annual Meeting

Comparatively unknown to the general public, the Daughters of Pitt is an organization of women which has been carrying on a magnificent though non-spectacular work among the poor and suffering of the city. Glimpses of this work were afforded by the excellent reports read at the annual meeting, at which Miss K. Lovell, the president, was in the chair. Mrs. E. S. Hasell, the honorary president, was in attendance at the meeting.

Gifts to Hospital.

In her secretarial report Miss Cessford stated that the Daughters had given a Christmas party in the Children's Ward at the Jubilee Hospital, which ward is their especial care. Some years ago the organization opened a sinking fund for the building of a new hospital, and as a thanksgiving for peace, the Daughters made a donation of $100 to this fund. Other gifts to the Children's Ward included 4 couch covers, 26 yards of material for bedspreads, 4 beds, 4 cribs, 6 bed-side stands, 8 chairs, pillows, blankets, as well as sundry gifts of paint and enamel for renovation purposes, a gas stove for the diet kitchen and oilcloth for the floors. The Daughters also donated an invalid chair to the Red Cross for the use of soldier patients.

In addition to these material gifts the Daughters have helped to lighten the sufferings of many of the patients by their frequent visits, informal concerts and gifts of flowers from time to time. The treasurer's report showed that the fund for the new hospital amounted to $225.28.

Officers Elected.

The President's address giving a resume of the year's work, the aims of the society and its future hopes, was received with enthusiasm. Mrs. Hasell also briefly addressed the meeting.

SHIP'S OFFICERS TO ATTEND BIG BALL

The committee in charge of the arrangements for Admiral Jellicoe's ball at the Empress Hotel on November 16 announces that while this ball is being given in honor of Lord Jellicoe there will be present some sixty officers from H.M.S. New Zealand, who will give the occasion that breezy touch of the navy and sea which the general run of "landlubbers" enjoy so much. Admiral of the Fleet Viscount Jellicoe with his staff and Lady Jellicoe will be formally received in the ballroom. A guard of honor will be provided by the Boys' Naval Brigade with drums and bugles, and the "little boys in blue" will act as orderlies throughout the evening.

Tickets are going quickly, therefore early applications should be made to prevent disappointment to the ball secretary, Room 222 Pemberton Building or to H. H. Rowley, Union Bank.

SIR ARTHUR SPEAKS TO WOMEN'S CLUB

Women's Canadian Club Delightful Reception at the Empress Hotel

Of the numerous welcomes which have been tendered to General Sir Arthur and Lady Currie since their return to Canada, few perhaps have been of more genuine warmth than the one accorded them by the Women's Canadian Club at its reception yesterday afternoon. Held in the ball-room at the Empress Hotel the function assumed a delightful social character, and fully five hundred members of the Women's Canadian Club as well as representatives of its companion body—the Canadian Club—were in attendance to honor the distinguished guests.

With its flower-bedecked tea-tables over which the pink-shaded electric lights cast a soft radiance, the ball-room presented an animated scene. A striking note of color was furnished by the huge service flag presented by the Women's Club to the High School last year, and which yesterday held a position of honor on the wall of the north side of the ball room. On the dais with its decorations of palms and bronze-colored chrysanthemums was encoined the Empress Hotel orchestra, which rendered a programme of music during the afternoon.

Presentation to Lady Currie.

As the guests arrived they were received by Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, the president, Mrs. Gallier, Mrs. Hyndman, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Sarah Spencer and other members of the club executive. Before the serving of tea Mrs. Jenkins in a graceful little address introduced Sir Arthur and Lady Currie to the gathering, and formally presented Lady Currie with a life membership in the club. Miss Sarah Spencer on behalf of the club then handed to Lady Currie a beautiful bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Formal greeting to the distinguished guests was conveyed by Mrs. C. Spofford in an eloquent address in which she expressed Victoria's pride in the achievement of Sir Arthur Currie and the Canadian Corps. Although it had been definitely understood when Sir Arthur accepted the invitation that he would strictly observe his medical man's injunction to refrain from public speaking, the meeting was obviously delighted when the distinguished soldier spoke at some length in response to the greeting.

Sir Arthur Speaks.

In thanking the club for its kind welcome, Sir Arthur paid eloquent tribute to the men of the Canadian Corps who had achieved for Canada such an undying reputation for bravery and devotion to duty. He appealed to the women to show to the returned soldier the same spirit of understanding and sympathy which had marked their support of the armies throughout the war. General Currie cited one or two moving incidents relative to the earning of the Victoria Cross by Canadians. At the conclusion of the formal part of the proceedings, tea was served, Sir Arthur and Lady Currie sitting at the table presided over by Mrs. Jenkins. Other guests at this table were Lady Barnard, Mrs. John Oliver, the Hon. S. F. and Mrs. Tolmie, General Leslie, Lady McBride, Mrs. Gallier, H. J. S. Musket, Mrs. R. F. Clark, Mrs. Hyndman and Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane.

Much pleasure was imparted to the occasion by the delightful vocal solos rendered by Mrs. Harry Briggs, Mrs. Jesse Longfield and Miss Wright, Mrs. A. J. Gibson officiating at the piano in her own inimitable way.

GIRLS' HALLOWE'EN

St. George's School Makes Merry at Alexandra Club.

About three hundred guests attended the dance and general Halloween celebrations held by the girls of St. George's School at the Alexandra Club last evening, and parents and children enjoyed a very merry time.

The party began at 6.30 o'clock with kindergarten dances under the supervision of Mrs. Suttle and other teachers of St. George's. Miss Thain's orchestra provided the music. Supper time proved a very welcome event for the children of all sizes, including the grown-ups who were present. Later on, the older children began to arrive and the merry-making became general. The costume dance was very pretty, and everyone entered heartily into the spirit of Halloween. The little children were taken home between 8 and 9 o'clock, but the older folks kept up the festivities until nearly midnight.

The Golden Rule to avoid Influenza.

The Public Health Authorities of Great Britain, in an official document upon influenza, say "the Golden Rule is to keep fit and avoid infection."

An excellent way to keep fit is to take Bovril. Bovril enables you to extract more nourishment from your food. It thus does much to prevent the accumulation of non-assimilated food in the body. It stimulates and strengthens the vital processes. You are sure of being nourished if you take Bovril.

The Body-building powers of Bovril have been proved equal to 10 to 20 times the amount of Bovril taken.

WINTER PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

Herbert Cuthbert, of Northwest Tourist Association, Going East

The winter publicity campaign throughout the East for 1920 tourists has already begun, and Herbert Cuthbert, secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, is leaving immediately for a tour of the East for the purpose of getting the tourist agencies to launch a campaign aiming at inducing the tourists this year to spend a more lengthy period on the Pacific Coast.

The Victoria and Island Development Association has just been notified of this, and will at the same time send out large quantities of publicity matter from Victoria, giving definite information about the city and Vancouver Island.

Correspondence is coming in from all parts of Canada and the United States asking for information about Victoria, and the volume of visitors to the city continues. The inquiries relate not only to the facilities for visiting tourists but there are a large number of people who have heard of this district, and its advantages from an agricultural standpoint and are anxious to settle here. Inquiries from these people are always promptly attended to by the Development Association.

Among recent visitors to the offices of the Association were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Peters, of Flushing, Long Island, who are touring Canada and the United States. Mr. Peters was greatly pleased with his visit to Victoria and was loud in his praise of the city's attractions. He is an official of one of the largest zinc producing concerns in the world.

In Police Court—David Haylin was remanded until Monday on the charge of being drunk and a similar charge against Frank Chevaly was dismissed by Magistrate Jay in the Police Court this morning.

Motorists Fined—In the Police Court this morning T. Sumner was fined $5 for failing to light the rear lamp on his automobile after sundown. A. P. Slade & Company and Mrs. W. T. Wardale were fined $5 for the same oversight. E. Davey was fined $10 for exceeding the speed limit.

TALENTED CAST FOR "OUR BOYS"

World-famous Comedy to Aid Local Charities; at "Royal"

Victoria theatre-goers have a rare treat in store, according to present indications, to be given by an amateur dramatic company which is producing the world famous comedy "Our Boys" at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, November 12 and 13. When this amusing play was produced at the Vaudeville Theatre, London, England, it had a run of over 1,500 nights. Rich in delightful humor, amusing scenes and occasional thrills, it has enjoyed a success which has seldom been surpassed, if equalled.

Messrs. S. T. Hankey and Richard Day, who are producing the play here, have spared no pains in selecting a caste to fill the exacting requirements of the play demands. "Types," coupled with dramatic ability, have been aimed at, and the managers are confident that they have collected a caste so well balanced that it will equal if not surpass anything that has been seen in amateur theatricals in this city. The net proceeds of the play are to go to the Friendly Help Society and the Voluntary Aid Detachment, two well deserving organizations which have done and are doing so much for soldiers and sailors and their dependents.

T. Edward Clark takes the part of Sir Geoffrey Champneys, a county magnate. Mr. Clark needs no introduction to Victoria audiences, and as Sir Geoffrey, the pompous old baronet, he has a part to which he is entirely suited. Richard Day is cast as Talbot Champneys, Sir Geoffrey's son. Mr. Day, who has lately returned from overseas, did much in the way of theatricals in France. On being appointed an instructor at the Canadian Corps School he organized in his spare time a theatrical company entirely composed of instructors and produced several musical plays which he wrote himself and in which he took part.

The part of Percy Middlewick (a retired butler) is taken by E. T. Ward. This is the chief comedy part of the play and Mr. Ward takes full advantage of it. As the old "H-less" butlerman who has made a fortune out of butter and bacon and who is now accepted, or perhaps one should say tolerated, in polite society, he brings a laugh into every line he speaks. S. T. Hankey takes the part of Charles Middlewick, Percy Middlewick's son. Mr. Hankey besides being a most efficient stage manager is an actor of no mean ability. The play is new to him, as he has many times taken this part and that of Percy Middlewick in England.

The part of Violet Melrose (an heiress) is taken by Miss Ora Pearson. Miss Pearson has had considerable theatrical experience, having studied under the late Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree. In the difficult part assigned to her this young actress excels herself. Mrs. F. W. Booth is cast as Mary Melrose (Violet Melrose's poor cousin). Mrs. Booth has had from Yokohama, where she is prominent in theatrical circles.

To Mrs. Horace Hamlet is allotted the part of Clarissa Champneys, Sir Geoffrey's sister. Mrs. Hamlet took this part in a local production of this same play some years ago, when she made a great success of the part.

Miss Bobbie Stevens, a popular and well known young actress who will long be remembered by her acting in some recent productions such as "What Happened to Jones" and "Slaves," is the kind of part "Slaves." This is the kind of part which she has made her own, and as Belinda she has a big comedy part which she takes full advantage of.

NEVER GIVE IN.

Don't give in, downhearted, nor carelessly slur.

The job that is awkward and tough.

The conqueror's motto is not "As you were."

"Get a move on," is far better stuff. No coveted object can ever be gained.

By evasive longings and sighs; By resolute work one's desires are attained; Success will reward him who tries.

So never give in when your task is half-done.

You're courting defeat—it is so! Hard tasks are completed and conquests are won.

By steadfastness, courage, and "go." If you give in to troubles and whimper and moan.

You'll surely be piling up more! But if you determinedly tackle them, soon

You'll be able all troubles to floor.

Remember, when trials like dark clouds o'er you rush.

At the darkest hour dawn is nigh; Your troubles and worries you'll finally crush.

If you honestly, manfully try! 'Tis little by little that hard tasks are done.

So stick it, and "take heart of grace!" Who shows a brave front to his trouble's the one

To give it the "right about face!"

On Suspended Sentence—Magistrate Jay in the Police Court this morning informed Belba Blaney that he would allow her to go on suspended sentence in connection with the charge of stealing a fur coat, the property of a Mrs. Mounce. He stated that the Attorney-General had concurred in this decision and a warning was given the accused that she should be very careful in future. "You are a young woman having the best part of your life before you, and I hope you will appreciate the leniency shown you, and that this will be a lesson to you which will teach you never to get yourself into trouble again," said the magistrate.

FORCED TO CANCEL BIG STREET DANCE

The following statement, cancelling the Victory Loan street dance which was to have been held on Yates Street to-night, was issued this morning by E. J. Down, chairman of the Loan Publicity Committee:

"It will be disappointing to many to learn that to-night's street dance has been unavoidably cancelled owing to the apparently unexplained action of the City Council, or certain members thereof, in refusing to grant the minor requests of the Victory Loan Publicity Committee to rope off the streets and supply the band platform."

"Everything else, including the band, was being supplied, acting on the assumption that the co-operation of the city could be relied upon in connection with this publicity and bond-selling feature of the Victory Loan Campaign, and accepting the assurance of same given by a prominent member of the Aldermanic Board arrangements were well under way to repeat the function that was so greatly enjoyed by thousands of Victorians a short time ago."

"At 5 o'clock last evening I was informed over the phone that the city could not see its way to incur one dollar of expense in connection with the proposed dance, consequently the Publicity Committee have no recourse but regretfully to cancel the affair."

MR. THRIFT WILL TALK IN SCHOOLS

Will Carry Message of Loan Among Kiddies Next Week

George G. Bushby, one of the most energetic of the business men who are spending most of their time "putting over" the Victory Loan in Victoria, will start to wage the Loan campaign in the public schools next week.

Mr. Bushby, it will be remembered, has managed the Thrift Stamp campaign among Victoria kiddies, and his genial personality has made him widely known and popular with the children. Most of them do not know his name, so he has been christened Mr. Thrift.

It will be under the guise of Mr. Thrift that he will bring the loan message to the children during the remainder of the present drive, urging them to invest in Victory Bonds the money saved by the purchase of Thrift Stamps.

The main object of the campaign in the schools, of course, is to influence the parents through the children to whom Mr. Bushby will explain every detail of the Loan.

Mr. Bushby has a way with him in dealing with the young people of the community.

WHY HE WANTED GAS.

Wid and dishevelled, watery of eye and trembling of limb, he burst into the dentist's consulting room and addressed the molar merchant in gasping tones:

"Do you give gas here?"
"Yes," replied the dentist.
"Does it put a man to sleep?"
"Of course."

"Nothing would wake him?"
"Nothing, But—"

"Wait a bit! You could break his jaw or black his eye without him feeling it?"

"Yes, dear sir! Of course I—"

"It lasts about half a minute, doesn't it?"

"Yes."

With a wild whoop of joy and relief the excited man threw off his coat and waistcoat.

"Now," he yelled, as he tugged at his shirt, "get your gas engine ready. I want you to pull a porous plaster off my back!"—Tit-Bits.

He clasped her in a passionate embrace. The very sofa thrilled with emotion.

"And one day, light of my life," he cried, "you will be mine—all mine! Those silken tresses, those sky-blue eyes, that rosebud mouth, those dear, darling, pearly teeth, that show like seashore shells, and are more precious to me than the world's wealth! Let me gaze on them my beloved!"

Again the sofa thrilled, and a shrill voice from beneath startled the air.

"Why don't you take 'em out and show him, sis?"

FROM MOUNTAIN TRAIL TO CITY STREET

IT is hardly conceivable of any greater test of endurance than that which the LECKIE Prospector's Boot has to withstand. So, when we tell you, that in the evolution of this shoe we have embodied the same principles of sturdiness and thoroughness, you'll know that for wear and comfort there's none to equal.

The Leckie Dress Boot.

In this shoe you are getting more than all leather. You are getting the close fibre, fine grained, water-tested sole as against ordinary open-fibre leather. And, uppers that have been selected by expert workmen of 20 years' training; or more, for balance, color, weight and quality; something, which in these days of leather scarcity, is worth considering. As for style, you have only to ask to see "The Haig" at your dealer.

THE KING'S WARDROBE.

The late King Edward was credited with being the best dressed man in the kingdom, and to maintain that enviable position it was necessary for him to keep a wardrobe consisting of some three hundred different suits and uniforms.

King George, however, appears to have no such aspirations, and where his august father would don a suit only once or twice before finally discarding it, King George often wears his throughout the whole of a season. In fact, when the writer saw him in comparative privacy not long ago, His Majesty was dressed in a quiet lounge suit, with no pretence whatever at what is termed "style."

The headquarters of the Royal wardrobe are at Buckingham Palace, where certain rooms are devoted solely to the storage of suits and uniforms. The uniforms considerably outnumber the suits, for the reason that the King, as well as being a high officer in both Navy and Army, also holds rank in a large number of foreign regiments.

The rooms themselves are divided into many sections, each of which is sub-divided into variously labelled drawers and shelves.

The management of the Royal wardrobe is quite an organization in itself. The Royal movements are at all times uncertain; they depend largely upon the trend of events, and every item in the wardrobe must necessarily be ready to hand for whatever purpose unforeseen circumstances may demand. One day, for instance, the King may be attending a ceremony in the City or, maybe, merely an investiture at the Palace. The next day may see him compelled to hurry off to Windsor or Sandringham, or to some naval or military function. A staff of well-trained valets is therefore needed to attend to this part of the Royal Household and it is a fact that there is more than enough work to keep each valet fully employed.—Tit-Bits.

WOMAN'S WAY.

He emerged from the dining room window and slunk stealthily toward the shadows. "Uilo, 'Enery!" remarked the shadows. "Got 'er jools?" "No," replied 'Enery. "Where 'd you look?" "In 'er jewel case and 'in 'er heavy drawer 'in 'er bureau." "Lord, man, yer don't no nifink about the ways of wimmen. Why didn't yer look in the barf room? You'd a found the 'ole bloomin' lot where she left 'em on the wash basin!"

World Brotherhood the Ideal to Aim At

Recent Congress and Organisation of Federation—Next Congress in America in 1920.
Hamilton (October 11, by Mail).

When the Canadian Pacific Steamship, Empress of France, ended her first trans-Atlantic trip at Quebec this week there stepped off the majestic ship the Canadian and American delegates to the first World Brotherhood Congress—the men who had been instrumental in organizing the first World Brotherhood Federation, and who had attended one of the most unique and potential meetings ever held in Old London. The Canadian delegation was by far the largest from overseas, and was exceeded only by the British representatives. It numbered about fifty-seven, which included the wives of some half dozen of the delegates. The Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Robert L. Borden, gave the movement his unqualified endorsement and message sent by him and read at the opening session by Rev. R. B. Whyte, of Ottawa. Premier Gen. J. C. Smuts, of South Africa; President Woodrow Wilson, of the United States, and other distinguished world men, also sent their messages and congratulations. The Canadian delegates were given quite a leading place in the public and business meetings, in fact, it was conceded by all that it was the world vision, the energy and ability of the Canadian Secretary, Thomas Howell, of Toronto, who made the world congress possible, and with Mr. Howell was associated Mr. J. O. McCarthy and other Canadian enthusiasts. Rev. J. G. Shearer, of Toronto, spoke for the Canadian delegates at the opening; Rev. J. W. Southam, of Winnipeg, spoke on "Brotherhood and Religion;" Bishop Brewster, of Toronto, and Rev. T. W. Davidson, of Montreal, led the discussion on "The Press and the Brotherhood;" Rev. J. T. Cooby, Morris, of London, spoke at the Lord Mayor's reception in Mansion House; Rev. E. B. Lancelley, of Toronto, took part in the great service in the City Temple at which Premier Lloyd George gave his wonderful address; Rev. J. W. Williamson, of St. John, was leader of the congress music; Rev. C. L. McIrvine, Hamilton; Rev. W. H. Harvey, Hespeler; Rev. M. C. Platt, Winnipeg; Rev. John Coburn, of Midland; E. B. Terryberry, of Woodstock; Ross Smith, of London; F. B. Yule, of Montreal; Dr. R. C. Manly, of Saskatchewan; J. R. Sayre, of Calgary; Rev. A. F. MacKenzie, of Toronto; Rev. A. P. Latter, of Winnipeg, and other Canadians were heard either in public meetings or in council.

The labor leader, Peter Wright, became one of the party coming home and was foremost Brotherhood speaker on the Empress. When the World Brotherhood Federation elected its officers the following Canadians were chosen: Thomas Howell, associate secretary for North America; J. O. McCarthy, Cal. Davis, Dr. J. G. Shearer, Rev. J. Coburn and Rev. J. W. Southam, executive.

The World Congress and the formation of the World Brotherhood Federation show that "Humanity has struck its tent," as says General J. C. Smuts, "and once more is on the march." Many signs indicate that humanity is trying to find its way into a better world order. And the Brotherhood Congress which met in the City Temple, London, September 13, 1919, is one of the significant signs of promise.

From the inside this Congress means that the Brotherhood movement now claims a definite status and place as a great force in the main current of the world's life. From the outside it provides evidence in the presence of delegates from twenty different countries that there is a widespread response to the Brotherhood message throughout the world. These two aspects of the movement find concrete expression in the creation of a permanent international organization to be known as the World Brotherhood Federation.

In a real sense the Congress had its inception in the feeling of a few men on both sides of the Atlantic that the time had come for Brotherhood men to get together and take counsel. The actual beginning of the Congress is found in the visit during last spring to Canada and the United States of Mr. William Ward and Mr. William Heal, of London. The call issued by the British National Brotherhood Council invited Brotherhood men of all lands to meet and consider what the spirit is saying unto men, and to ask what we can do to create the brotherly spirit among the nations. Large credit for the development of the plans must be given to the Christian Men's Brotherhood Federation of Canada, and especially to its secretary, Thomas Howell, of Toronto.

Saturday afternoon, September 13, was named as the first gathering of the Congress. An enrollment showed that twenty countries were represented by 276 delegates. Of these 57 were from Canada and 15 from the United States.

It is impossible here to give any detail of the proceedings. A volume is to be published at an early date giving the addresses and discussions in full. This will be a valuable encyclopedia of Brotherhood information.

Several noteworthy things may be mentioned. First is the large space given to the Brotherhood by the London papers. Some men have said that this congress won a larger recognition from the press than any other religious gathering for thirty years.

Another is found in the personnel of the congress. Sunday morning the Lord Bishop of London preached in St. Paul's a remarkable sermon on "Brotherhood," which in a real sense sounded the keynote to the congress. On the same day in Westminster Abbey Canon de Candolle spoke on the religion of brotherhood, and Dr. J. Fort Newton, in the City Temple, spoke on the brotherhood of man-

Our Master Instrument— The Organola

THE test of the control Pipes of the Organola is a Band Record or a Quartette.

The ordinary talking machine will reproduce a record of band instruments or quartette as one coordinated sound and in doing so loses the beauty and character of the individual instruments or voices. The tone control pipes of the Organola are so tuned that each individual sound—instrumental or voice—is distinctly reproduced because the pipes embrace every note in the scale and vibrate in sympathy as their notes are given forth by the record which happens to be playing.

Our magnificent "Organola" model is the only phonograph equipped with a full set of tone control pipes. The aid of these pipes in the true and harmonious reproduction of tones has made the Organola the master instrument of the phonograph world and a triumph to the true lovers of music.

If you have not heard the "Organola" an artistic treat is awaiting you.

In all these conditions of ill health—

Every woman who is Weak, Anaemic, Nervous, or Run-Down needs

WINGARNIS

THOUSANDS of women in Canada to-day are suffering from Weakness, Anaemia, Nervousness, and are in a run-down condition. Some are perhaps bravely bearing the strain of responsibility put upon them—others have so far lost the buoyancy of good health and spirits that they have almost forgotten the joy of real good health. Others are not aware of how different they would be if they could really get well.

All are suffering needlessly, and if you who are weak, anaemic, nervous and run down could realize what a short course of Wingarnis would mean to you—you would not continue to suffer needlessly. You would get a bottle of Wingarnis at once, and, from to-day, begin to derive the new health and new life that Wingarnis promises. Remember that your health is your most valuable possession.

Wingarnis is a tonic, a restorative, a blood-builder and a nerve food—all in one. Therefore it promotes new strength, new blood, new nerve force and new vitality. That is why over 10,000 Doctors recommend Wingarnis. Wingarnis has been famous in Europe for more than a third of a century. Thousands have testified that it has restored them to health and strength. Don't confuse it with the many inferior preparations of apparently similar nature. Accept no substitutes. Buy Wingarnis itself. Lease Discovery Street End.—The leasing of the end of Discovery Street to the Puget Sound Lumber Company to store lumber on and as a site for a garage was recommended to the City Council yesterday by the streets committee. The rent was fixed at $5 a month.

Sanction Subdivision.—Subdivision of a plot of land at Bay Street and Richmond Road belonging to the M. M. Hedges estate was authorized by the streets committee of the City Council yesterday on the application of Crease & Crease. Five houses on lots 30x80 have been built on the property for some time.

Not Liable For Basement Flood.—The city is not responsible under law for basements that become flooded when these basements are below the street level and constitute a natural gathering place for water. The aldermen learned this yesterday afternoon when the Empire Realty Co., asked what was going to be done about their house at 900 Fort Street, which had become flooded through the leakage from one of the city's hydrants. The hydrant has been fixed.

A Dangerous Creek.—Because there is a creek at Doncaster Drive and Oakland Avenue that floods to such an extent in the winter that there is danger of pedestrians being submerged and even little children drowned if they get off the regular path, the city has decided to place a street light at this corner. The matter was brought up at the City Hall by William C. Cave, of 1619 Oakland Avenue, supported by eight other residents of that district.

The Hotel Douglas was to-day transferred by the Credit Foncier Company (who are the owners of the building) to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. La-Belle, formerly of Field, B. C., who took possession this morning, November 1. Mr. and Mrs. La-Belle have operated hotels and dining rooms in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway system for many years, and are widely known as expert caterers, their hotel at Field having been for several years a popular rendezvous for tourist and commercial travelers. The magnificent dining room, which is forty feet by thirty feet, will be splendidly furnished within the next fourteen days, and the new proprietors then propose to put up the best meal in Victoria—probably a very excellent merchants' lunch will be available for half a dollar—and the kitchen is now being overhauled by a very competent culinary expert, in which Mrs. La-Belle intends to employ white help only, she having brought with her an old country cook whose fame has long been a household word amongst the railway employees and other regular travelers through the Rockies. The Douglas was splendidly refurbished two months ago by the Credit Foncier Company, who are just adding a large number of beautiful wardrobe cupboards, and most substantial lobby furniture. A splendid auto will meet all trains and boats, and the new proprietors will be glad to welcome their numerous friends from all parts of the country at their new hostelry.

WILL DELAY START ON PUBLIC WORKS

Saanich Council Learns Postponement Is Inevitable on Waters and Sewers

There is no hope that the important by-laws for waterworks extension and sewerage, which the Saanich Council had so confidently expected to lay before the ratepayers in January, can be submitted to the people at that time.

This announcement, which will cause consternation, not only in the district of the people to be served, but in the city of Victoria, which is entitled to be paid for sewer construction, was made by Municipal Clerk Cowper to the Saanich Council shortly before midnight yesterday, during a thorough discussion of the whole question.

Legal opinion is adverse to use of the powers of the municipality under the Saanich Light, Water and Sewers Act of 1914, upon which the Council was dependent to avoid the pitfalls of the ordinary municipal legislation.

The opinion of the solicitors is opposed to the council proceeding with its plans for the Gordon Head water scheme, and for a sewerage district in the suburban part of the municipality under protection of the special act, which was promulgated in the legislature for such purposes.

All the ratepayers could do in January, according to Mr. Cowper, would be to vote a by-law to raise the necessary funds, but he did not expect the Council would submit that without the whole scheme being in order, and legally authenticated prior to the submission of the by-laws. He pointed out that the insertion of Clause 13 in the special act had largely wrecked the usefulness of the statute for the objects sought. This clause couples up the Local Improvement Act with the private legislation. Councillor Henderson took an active hand in trying to suggest procedure by which the work could be started through district improvement schemes, contemplated under the private act.

Councillor Watson admitted his disappointment, and expressed hope that a start could be made early in the year. It was declared that the supply could not be anticipated for next year's crop, as by the time legislation was passed, and the scheme put in hand, it would be June or July.

Regret was expressed by the Reeve and Councillors that the Council is up against a barrier, and that a special election will be entailed early in the new year, to give authority to the schemes subsequent to the passage of additional legislation. The Council will take the subject up again shortly, to devise the best method of meeting the situation which has arisen.

Barbers Want Earlier Closing.—Master barbers of Victoria, twenty-seven of them in all, want barber shops of the city closed at 6 instead of 7 o'clock in the evening, according to what their counsel W. C. Moreby told the aldermen yesterday afternoon at the City Hall. He explained that all these barbers now close at 6 o'clock, but Chinese barbers do not. It is these Chinese barbers that they are after. Mr. Moreby presented a petition signed by all the master barbers with the exception of two hotel proprietors. "Has Mr. Shanks of the Five Points signed this?" asked Alderman Patrick. Mr. Moreby informed him that Mr. Shanks was one of the leaders in the movement.

Foundation Dances Popular.—The pronounced success of the waiting competition of last Wednesday's Foundation dance is borne out by the fact of much comment amongst lovers of this amusement, and has been a source of much gratification to the committee in charge of these weekly events. That the floor of the Foundation club room is becoming increasingly crowded is borne out by the splendid attendance which these functions are bringing out. The committee in charge of the social activities of the Foundation family wish to announce that the dances will continue through the winter, and that another masquerade ball will take place in the near future. On Wednesday evening next Ozard's orchestra will again be in attendance and a splendid evening's entertainment is assured all those who make the journey to the club rooms.

Must Not Plough Streets.—Aldermen were angry yesterday when they learned that F. W. Townsend had taken to testing out his plough and exercising his team by ploughing up the westerly part of Myrtle Street near Shelbourne Street, and also the easterly part of Myrtle Street. City Engineer Preston informed the aldermen that Mr. Townsend had turned up a great part of these thoroughfares. The aldermen said that no matter what the excuse was, they could not stand for persons taking their ploughs, and that their own pleasure routing up the streets of the city, especially when they are so many vacant lots in the outer parts of the city that no one would object to seeing ploughed up. The aldermen after discussion decided to notify Mr. Townsend that if he can find no other place to plough he must confine his activities to his own back yard. They instructed the city engineer to see that Mr. Townsend in future keeps his plough off the streets.

Emergency.—Central W.C.T.U. in Y.W.C.A. November 3, 2 p.m. sharp. Collectors will kindly make returns.

SEATTLE TALENT FOR CABARET WEDNESDAY

"J" Unit Chapter Preparing For Big Crowds at Dual Event

Miss Nettie Austin, a well known operatic soprano of Seattle, will assist in the musical programme at the cabaret to be given at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday evening next, under the auspices of "J" Unit Chapter, I. O. D. E. Mrs. Harry Pooley is in charge of the programme—a fact which ensures its success—and she is assembling a bewildering galaxy of local and "imported" talent. Professor Lou Turner's orchestra will furnish the dance music.

The following have kindly consented to act as patrons of the undertaking: His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Barnard, Major-General R. G. E. Leckie, C. M. G., G. O. C.; Brigadier-General and Mrs. R. P. Clark, Captain E. H. Martin, C. M. G., R. N.; Major and Mrs. O'Hagan, and the Hon. Dr. and Mrs. S. F. Tolmie.

In the afternoon the chapter will hold a bazaar in the ballroom—a novel departure at the hotel—and all kinds of lovely wares have been prepared for sale. The bazaar will be opened by Lady Barnard at 3 o'clock. Reservations for tables for the cabaret must be made on Monday and Tuesday at Wilkerson's store, when those who have already reserved by telephone must claim their tables.

RETURNED MEN WANTED

To Attend Monday Night's Meeting of City Council Over Housing Scheme.

All returned soldiers in this city are requested to attend Monday night's meeting of the city council, at which it is expected a report will be made by the special aldermanic committee on the Housing Scheme. The champions of the returned soldiers are directly interested in the scheme, and wish to build, but all ex-soldiers who are anxious to see something done to assist their comrades, attend to help press home the demands to be made by their representatives.

The returned soldiers think that the question had been hanging fire long enough and want the council to take action. They consider that weight was added to their demands by the logical addresses made before the Streets Committee yesterday afternoon by a labor delegation.

MAY DANCE, BUT MUST PAY ALL THE BILLS

If E. J. Down and other members of the Victory Loan Committee want to hold a street dance to-night on Yates Street they can do so, but they will have to stand all the expenses themselves, the aldermen decided yesterday. Mr. Down asked the aldermen to provide a cordon of police to keep the crowds in order and supervise the style of dancing, the erection of a band stand, electric lighting, powder to spread on the pavement to make it slippery and ropes to keep the crowd back.

The aldermen started to investigate and found that the band stand used at a recent street dance had been made into sidewalks for residents in outlying districts.

Alderman Patrick thought that the weather to-night would be too cold for dancing on the street, but Alderman Sangster declared that people who danced on the street did not care about the weather.

The whole question was turned over to Mayor Porter to deal with, but just before the committee disbanded it was discovered that Mayor Porter had left the city on a fishing trip. As responsibility for the arrangements could not be placed on the Mayor, the aldermen decided they could only allow the use of the street. The Mayor's secretary informed the aldermen that His Worship had already arranged for the police to supervise the styles of dancing and the actions of the crowd if the dance is held.

CONSTIPATION or COSTIVENESS

Constipation, although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver.

There is nothing more productive of general ill health than constipation of the bowels, and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills the whole system will be poisoned and many different complications of diseases arise, so if you would be well, keep your bowels regular.

Mr. A. Roder, Hastings St. E., Vancouver, B. C., writes: "I desire to express my thanks for what Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have done for me. I had been suffering from constipation for two years, and also had a bad cough and headaches. I tried all sorts of cures and remedies, but got no relief until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after the first few doses."

Get Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills when you ask for them or send 25c and they will be sent by return of mail by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

VICTORIA THE NORTHWEST AND THE WORLD

James Bay Club Ready to Stage One of Greatest Coast Events

Possessing Fine Fleet of Shells, Expects to Carry Honors at North Pacific Association Regatta

What promises to be one of the largest athletic events to be contested on the Pacific Coast during the summer of 1920 has been allotted to the James Bay Athletic Association in the form of the annual regatta of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

It will be the first international championship regatta of this association to be held since 1914, when the Portland Rowing Club held the regatta on the Willamette River just previous to the commencement of the war.

More Competition.

In the past the J. B. A. A. Vancouver Rowing Club and the Portland Rowing Club have yearly battled for the premier honors of the North Pacific Coast, but, at the annual meeting of the association held this year at Vancouver, the Coeur d'Alene Rowing Club from Idaho were admitted to the association and next year the four clubs will strive against each other in an endeavor to secure the club championship and possession of a handsome challenge cup at present held by the Portland Rowing Club, who won it in 1919 by a narrow margin from the J. B. A. A. It is also thought possible that the Nelson Rowing Club may become members of the association, but as yet nothing definite has been done towards this end.

James Bay Honors.

The following championships were secured by the J. B. A. A. in the 1919 regatta:

Senior singles—W. N. Kennedy and H. Sinclair.

Junior fours—A. L. C. Chalk, stroke; B. E. Scott, 3; W. S. Day, 2; H. Sinclair, bow.

The regatta divided into senior and junior championships, takes place during two days, owing to the number of events to be contested.

The programme consists of senior and junior singles, senior and junior doubles, senior and junior fours, special race for 140 pound crews.

In addition to the above canoe races and lapstreak races for club members are decided.

Feature Canoe Races.

During the season just ended canoe races were found to be so popular amongst the members that it is intended to make a special feature of these next year in all the regattas, and also to try and introduce inter-club championships between the J. B. A. A., V. R. C., P. R. C., and Coeur d'Alene Rowing Club.

The local club possesses the finest fleet of shells on the coast, among them being four four-oared shells, four double shells, several singles in addition to four four-oared lapstreaks, numerous single lapstreaks, and a coaching boat which is always used by new members.

Since the acquisition of the speed boat "Blue Bird" this year, altogether new methods of training will be introduced and Coach Dan O'Sullivan looks forward with great optimism as to the chances of the local crews carrying off the major honors in the forthcoming regatta.

Excellent material is in sight for the coming season next year and with the best of training facilities now available the J. B. A. A. are looking forward to a most successful season.

Just where the regatta will be held is not yet decided. Shawnigan Lake, where one of the best courses on the coast is surveyed has for some time past been the scene of it when the

DAN O'SULLIVAN.

J. B. A. A. has staged the regatta, but Brentwood and Esquimalt Harbor have also been mentioned as likely places. The choice of place rests with the local club and will be decided at a preliminary meeting to be held during November.

As an advertising feature for the city of Victoria and Vancouver Island it is one of the best, as between eighty and one hundred oarsmen and their friends will visit the city and are sure to take back many pleasant memories.

Rugby Football.

Rugby football, one of the chief sports taken up by the J. B. A. A. is due for a great boom this year at the club. Most encouraging practices have been held during the last few weeks, many members turning out and showing great enthusiasm. Although the team has yet to play its first game, optimism prevails, and each and every man on the team can be depended upon to do his best to bring the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the city championship to a safe resting place during the following year in the J. B. A. A. clubrooms.

The team is captained by "Boss" Johnson, who is well known to all local sportsmen. Charlie Vincent, recently returned from overseas is vice-captain, and Bob McInnis, Bob Travis and W. B. Monteith complete the committee entrusted with the carrying on of the Rugby football interests of the club.

The Vancouver Rowing Club have been written to with regard to home and home games and an answer should be forthcoming in a day or so. Games between these two clubs should be good drawing cards as natural rivalry has existed between the clubs for a long time through rowing.

Indoor Sports.

When the necessary repairs have been completed, the club will have an excellent gymnasium, where basketball, handball and badminton may be played. Even at present the games are frequently indulged in by members, but it is the aim of the management committee to modernize the gymnasium as much as possible, for the comfort of the members. Large and powerful electric lights are to be put in place, so as to give an excellent lighting system.

A number of members are practicing several times a week at basketball and hope to arrange games with other clubs in the near future.

Club House.

During the war with so few members left behind, no improvements could be made to the clubrooms, but now, with many former members returning and new ones joining, it is felt that more comfort must be provided and at once. With this end in view it is proposed to redecorate the interior of the club, make alterations to provide an additional reading and writing room, and increase the number of weekly and monthly periodicals already subscribed for by the club.

At present contractors are at work strengthening the building and pulling it back into place again, and as soon as this is completed and the building repainted work will be started on the interior.

Membership.

Most satisfactory results have been obtained by a committee at present canvassing the city for new members. A large number of prominent citizens who were members in the past have renewed their membership. In addition to this the younger element in the club are doing their utmost to bring in at least five new members apiece.

In March of this year there were only fifty members on the roll of the club, but since then with the sporting activities of the club revived once more after the long period of war the number has increased to well over two hundred, and it is the aim of the members to continue canvassing and offering proper sporting inducements to new members until at least another five hundred names have been added to the already fast growing roll.

CHARLEY MULLEN IS AGAIN IN RUNNING

One of Six Applicants to Manage Seattle Coast League Club

Charley Mullen, who, after leaving the Victoria Tyees last season, took the managerial reins of the Seattle club in the Coast League for the last few games of the season, is again in running for the billet. Five others have applied for the position.

The list is made up of John Gansel, manager of Kansas City in the American Association last year; Eddie Herr, Salt Lake skipper during the past season; Clyde Wares, second baseman of the Seattle club; Chick Gandil, first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, and Bill Leard, second sacker of the Beaumont, Texas, League, former manager of the Seattle Northwestern League squad.

Wade Killefer, 1919 Los Angeles leader, is being mentioned in baseball circles as the 1920 Seattle pilot. The new manager will be named at a meeting of the club directors to be held next week.

RULING PASSION.

"But is your uncle so very mean, Gus?"
"Mean! Why, dash it all, he's left orders that when he dies his door plate is to be taken off his front door and screwed on the coffin to save buying one from the undertaker!"

Picking 'em Up Around the Sport Camps

Here is a little question some of the baseball fans would like answered.

When the home town fans presented Pat Moran with a thousand in gold on a silver platter did he take the silver platter too?

A friend states he often has a silver platter with a few nickels, dimes, and quarters placed in front of him but unless things have been going particularly bad with him he seldom takes a thing off the plate even.

Some of the boys in the K. of C. were talking about leave in London when they were overseas.

"I was on leave with a Scotsman and told him we could go twenty miles on the tube for twopenny. Not now," he told me. "We have ten day's leave. Maybe there will be an excursion before we have to go back to camp."

Bob Lawson of San Francisco has just completed his seventh trip across the continent by bicycle. It took him thirty-nine days to make the ride from New York to San Francisco on his last jaunt.

Willie Ritchie, whose work has been limited to golf and handball

GAMES PLAYED IN SCHOOL COMPETITIONS

Hockey May Be Abandoned
Owing to Scarcity of Sticks

Good progress is being made with the sports arranged for the students of the city by the Schools Athletic Association, all the league being in full swing with the exception of the girls' hockey league. Only one game has been played in this competition, owing to the difficulty in securing hockey sticks, and although the application for sticks has been in with the sporting good stores of the city for several weeks nothing has materialized. It is probably that this league will have to be abandoned.

George Jay School is the only school that has been able to muster enough equipment to stage a game and in the only match played—with North Ward School—they had to lend their competitors sticks.

The senior and junior football league and both the boys' and girls' basketball leagues have provided some good games, results having been sent in to Secretary Anstey to date as follows:

Senior Football.

South Park, 4; Sir James Douglas, 0.
Lampson Street, 3; Burnside, 0.
Boys' Central, 5; Margaret Jenkins, 0.

George Jay, 1; Margaret Jenkins, 1.

Boys' Basketball.

South Park, 11; Lampson Street, 9.
George Jay, 7; Lampson Street, 20.
North Ward, 6; Victoria West, 4.
Quadra, 8; North Ward, 44.

Senior Girls' Basketball.

(North Section.)
Toimie, 0; Lampson Street, 6.
Victoria West, 28; Burnside, 4.
(South Section.)
South Park, 22; Oaklands, 2.
Girls' Central George Jay, 6.

Junior Girls.

Girls' Hockey.
George Jay, 2; North Ward, 0.

Not being in possession of sticks the North Ward team had no opportunity of practicing, with the result that a one-sided game followed. Although it is probable that the league will be abandoned, it is hoped to play several hockey friendlies during the year.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

The James Bay Club.

Reference to the ambitious plans of the James Bay Athletic Association is made in another column, and it will be noticed that the James Bay athletes are making a bold bid to get back to the same standing they held before the war. The spectacular North Pacific Association gala with the extra entries this season should go a long way in helping the club build itself up again to its pre-war prosperity. One particularly pleasing sign of the club's revival is its entry into the rugby competition with a team that should give a good account of itself. Before another twelve months have passed the James Bay Club will undoubtedly be represented as strongly as ever in every line of sport, and no association has stood for good, clean sport more than the James Bay Association.

An Announcement Re Dempsey.

At last there is definite announcement, although it only comes from one camp, that Dempsey will be seen in action again pretty soon. Willie Meahan and the titleholder will go eight rounds in the dope handed out from the California boy's camp, although, of course, nothing is at stake except a nice little purse for the champ and a none too mean amount for Willie. Fight fans are still trying to reconcile Dempsey's bid for more popularity when he won the crown by the statement that he would be a fighting champion with his subsequent performance and the news that he will go eight rounds in what is practically an exhibition bout gives little reason for satisfaction. It would be an interesting situation if the Californian should get another decision over the champion.

Against the Freak Balls.

President Ban Johnson, of the American League, requested August Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission, and John A. Heydler, president of the National League, to call a joint meeting of the Rules Committee of the two leagues to take action in regard to the abolition of "spit ball" and the "shine ball" and other freak pitching deliveries. These deliveries should be legislated out of the major leagues, President Johnson said.

Stable Boys Join In.

The strike fever has now spread to the stable boys of England. Word comes from across the pond that operations at the Epsom racecourse, London, have practically ceased owing to the strike of the exercise riders. They are demanding a minimum pay of 50 shillings weekly with daily expenses of 10 shillings when attending race meets at distant tracks.

Dave Leith's Suggestion.

Feeling that something should be done to prevent professional players such as Mickey Mackay and Barney Stanley obtaining amateur status, Dave Leith, chairman of the local board of the B. C. A. A. U. and vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, this week wired Dr. Bruce Macdonald, of Toronto, president of the Dominion body, suggesting that all professional reinstatements be subject to ratification by the national registration board.

SAYS EAST MUST RECOGNIZE AMATEURS

Cup Will Replace Allan Cup If Easterners Are Obdurate

Edmonton, Nov. 1.—At an informal meeting between Brigadier-General Macdonald, president of the Alberta branch of the A. A. U. of C., and the Governors, held here last night, the policy to be followed by the Alberta union in regard to reinstating professionals as suggested by an informal meeting in Calgary last week, was confirmed. So decided was the stand taken by the governors not only on the reinstatement question, but on the importation of hockey players that it was decided that the Big Four hockey league will be asked to have every player, whether local or otherwise, make affidavit not only that he has been an amateur since October 1, 1913, but that he intends to remain an amateur and that he intends to make the Province of Alberta his residence hereafter. General Macdonald assured the governors that he believes he could promise that when the time comes for Dominion competition, western teams would not be debarred from competing for the Allan cup but that if the East refused to recognize the Western teams, he would put up for competition a trophy which he would guarantee would supplant the Allan cup inside of three years.

"The East must in time recognize our point of view," said General Macdonald. "The policy of reinstatement of professionals which we have adopted is the only method of placing sport on a satisfactory basis in Western Canada."

WANT GOLF TAXATION SIMILAR TO VICTORIA

Shaughnessy Heights Club Cites Oak Bay Assessment as Mainland Requirement.

The taxation of the Victoria Golf Club links as a model to be followed in the taxation of the Shaughnessy Heights Club was submitted by Knox Walkem for the last mentioned club at a public meeting of Point Grey taxpayers.

Mr. Walkem, on behalf of the Golf Club, stated that the present taxes amounted to $4,000 a year on the ninety acres comprising the golf links. In comparison with that amount he quoted the following: Spokane golf links, 190 acres, taxes $690 per year; Seattle golf links, 150 acres, $3,000; Jericho Golf Club, 76 acres, $1,077; Oak Bay Golf Club, Victoria, 100 acres, $4,392. In regard to the Oak Bay Club, Mr. Walkem said, the assessment was fixed by a similar by-law to the one now being submitted to Point Grey taxpayers. Burnaby golf links, comprising 240 acres, he said, was taxed at $650 in 1917, the latest figures he had obtained.

Highest on the Coast.

In conclusion Mr. Walkem contended that even at $1,500 per acre the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club's taxes would be the highest on the Pacific Coast.

In reply to question, Mr. Walkem said that the membership of the club was 519, of whom 311 were male members whose annual subscription was $64 per man, and 138 female members whose subscription was $32. He also stated that about $1,100 was received in $1 a day fees from visitors to the city who wished to play golf. From one-third to one-half of the members were residents in Point Grey, Mr. Walkem said, and over one-half were taxpayers. The rent, payable to the C. P. R., he said, should be $8,900 per year, but the club was only able to pay $3,600.

AUSTRALIAN RUGBY TEAM WANTS TO COME

Some Good Players in California Anxious For Trip, Says Writer

There are a lot of clever rugby players in California anxious to test their ability against Victoria players, according to a letter received by W. H. Davies, a writer from Davis, California, states "there are about 100 Australians taking a course here and among them are some rugby players. Those interested in rugby have been practicing for two weeks, and have, considering the time they have practiced, a good team. Up to the present time they have arranged games with Stanford and other universities nearby."

The writer goes on to ask if it is possible to arrange a game with Victoria or any other team on the Island or Mainland during the Christmas holidays.

"The Australians are sure being treated white down here," the letter concludes.

JAP BEATS SOLDIER IN JIU JITSU MATCH

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Taro Miyake, Jiu Jitsu expert, won his match last night with J. Payton by default, the latter finding the going too strenuous in the third stanza and retiring. Payton was "gassed" over in France and claims that he has not altogether recovered, this condition necessitating retirement from the mat. It was an interesting bout while it lasted, with the Japanese showing more speed than his opponent. After the bout the wrestlers handed bouquets to each other, Miyake declaring Payton to be one of the best he had ever met, while the white man replied in kind. And now along comes the report that the men will probably be matched for a return match. Two preliminaries were staged in which Japanese mat experts participated.

FRACTURED SKULL AS RESULT OF BOXING

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 1.—Tommy Perry, a light boxer, who last night was knocked out by Sammy Marino, New York, in the last round of a 10-round, no-decision contest, was taken to the Emergency Hospital to be in a serious condition this morning. Physicians said his injuries consisted of a skull fracture and were preparing to operate on him. In the meantime, Marino was still held at Central Station. The blow that stopped Perry appeared to go to the chin following one of the chest. Perry was carried from the ring to the dressing room.

EIGHT MAINLAND PROS. AFTER RE-INSTATEMENT

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—At the meeting of the local board of the B. C. Amateur Athletic Association held here this evening the cases of eight former professional athletes came up for consideration. With the exception of one, all these were held over until the meeting of the provincial body next Thursday night. The lone case was that of Bill Brand, local ball player, who had a trial with Bob Brown's Beavers.

Italy Becomes a Great Power

By Harold Howland, Associate Editor New York Independent.

It is a keen disappointment to find on my return from Italy that so many in America do not sympathize with the Italian position at the Peace Conference. In seven months of work in Florence with the Italian army I have come to have a great admiration and a real affection for the Italian people. But, what is more to the point, I have learned to understand their point of view, to comprehend their aspirations, to realize the justice of their claims. The lack of sympathy which I find widespread in America, among individuals as well as in the press, is due, I am convinced, to imperfect information in most cases, and in some to an erroneous conception of the principle to be followed in determining the readjustment of national boundaries in Europe in these days of reconstruction.

Italy is one of the five great powers which have conquered Germany militarily. I am glad to see that in the past few days, since the Italian delegation announced that they could not continue to take part in the Conference unless the Italian right to Fiume was recognized in the Treaty of Peace, there is more of an inclination to speak of the Big Four as the controlling element in the Peace Conference. Of course, Japan is also one of the partners in the enterprise completed with such astonishing thoroughness, but Japan's position is quite separate and apart, and no one recognizes it more completely than the Japanese. But Italy's relation to the alliance which defeated Germany is precisely that of Great Britain, France and the United States. Italy is one of the Big Four. There is absolutely no reason to consider Italy in these pregnant days in any different light. There has been too much tendency to speak of the "Italian-Jugoslav controversy" as though both parties to it were outsiders, who must present their claims before the other Allies like litigants before a court. Italy is not a suitor at the bar of the Peace Conference; she is a member of the court—if there is a court. Rather, she is a full and equal member of the partnership that defeated Germany. Italy is one of the great powers, not only nominally but in fact; because in the great war Italy bore the burdens and accomplished the deeds of a great power. The ambition to be recognized as a great power has possessed Italians for many years. It need possess them no longer. They have reached their goal. For in the great war Italy became a great power by the only possible road, that of action and achievement. Italians are prone in these days to believe—and not without evidence—that one of their Allies is loath to have Italy recognized as a great power. It is lamentable if it is true. But no matter who would have it otherwise, recognition cannot be withheld.

It would be well to recall the things that Italy has achieved in the great war.

When the war broke out Italy was a member of the Triple Alliance with Germany and Austria as partners. The line of logic and of least resistance—in those days and for many months thereafter one could easily have said, the line of worldly wisdom—would have been to cast in her lot with the Teutonic powers. But Italy instantly notified France that she would maintain neutrality. The notice permitted France to withdraw her troops from the Italian frontier—where they must inevitably have stayed if there had been any uncertainty as to Italy's course—and to use them in the fateful battle of the Marne. It is hardly too much to say that Italy saved France in those first black days. Incidentally it was the word communicated to the British Government by the Italian Ambassador which led Winston Churchill to hold together the British fleet—about to be dispersed after the great review at Portsmouth—until England's declaration of war, to the intense discomfiture of Germany.

Italy entered the war after nine months of neutrality, just at the moment when the great German offensive against the Russians in Galicia was sweeping all before it. Allied stock was not high in those days, and again worldly wisdom would have seemed to dictate to Italy another course.

For two years and a half Italy did well against the enemy, although she entered the war in a state of unpreparedness comparable only to that of the United States when our time came. But Italy's great moment came in her blackest hour.

Caporetto was a tragic moment for Italy. But it became a prelude for an achievement of amazing valor. It further brought the Italian people to themselves. That stand upon the Piave was the beginning of the utter defeat of Austria. It was the beginning and the end of the defeat of the internal enemies of Italy herself.

Half a year later the Italian army met another Austrian offensive on the Piave and turned it into an Austrian defeat. It was the first of the Allied victories that ended with the crushing of the two Teutonic partners in crime. Of this brilliant action General Cavan said:

"The defense of the Piave at the end of 1917 is an imperishable page in the military annals of Italy; but not less glorious was the victory of June 1918, when the Italian army, attacked by the entire army of Austria-Hungary, which possessed a numerical superiority of eleven divisions, not only paralyzed the attack and recaptured the few positions lost during the first day, but reconquered an important tract of territory, and rendered Venice entirely safe."

Lastly, just as Italy was the first to begin the final and decisive series of victories over the common enemy, so she was the first to administer ultimate defeat. For weeks in the early fall of 1918 we were all asking in Italy as well as in America, Where is the Italian offensive? The Italians, we said, must take the offensive or suffer heavily in prestige if not in honor. When the moment came, the offensive came with it—and the prestige and honor of the Austrians crumbled away before it. With fifty-one divisions of Italian troops, three of British, two of French, one of Czechoslovak, and one American regiment, General Caviglia attacked the Austrian army of sixty-three and one-half divisions, split it in two in the middle, drove it back all along the line, utterly routed it, and captured 500,000 prisoners. The defeat was complete; the Italian advance did not stop until the Italian flag was flying over Trent and Trieste, the sacred cities of Italia Irredenta. Then Austria sued for an armistice and Italy had the honor of experiencing first along her front the cessation of hostilities. It was accomplished by the force of Italian arms and the power of the Italian spirit.

Italy has won her spurs. She has conquered by her own magnificent achievements the right to be one of the great powers. She is a small country compared to the British Empire or the United States or even to France. She is a poor country, lacking in natural resources and with a population tightly packed within her narrow borders. But she has a great heart and an unconquerable spirit. In the contribution which she has made to the defeat of the Teutonic powers—suffering privations and making sacrifices worthy to be set alongside those of France and Belgium—she has deserved well of the world, she has made civilization her debtor.

We cannot do otherwise than recognize Italy as an equal partner in the achievement that has been wrought, and to welcome her to an equal voice in the determination of the questions which confront the five great powers—more specifically the Big Four—in the peace yet to be imposed upon Germany.

This is what the Italian people want above all. They know they are worthy to be ranked as a great power; they want the recognition of the fact by the world, more especially by the peoples with whom they have fought side by side in the great war. There can be no question about the fact. The only question is whether American and Englishmen and Frenchmen will permit blindness, or self-interest, or pride, or any other unworthy motive or circumstance to hold them back from awarding to the Italian people their rightful due.

This leads to the practical question. How shall the boundaries of Italy be redrawn in the great readjustment of the map of Europe. On this question I believe that American opinion, as I have seen it reflected in the press and in conversation, is in danger of making a serious mistake. The American people rightly have a fine sympathy with oppressed nationalities, with peoples aspiring to national self-expression. But we must not permit that admirable sentiment blind us to facts. It must not make us Quixotic—especially when it is at the expense of others and not of ourselves.

ROMANCE IN FRAMES.

Old Masters in Strange Places.

The recent discovery of a long-lost Raphael in an old curiosity shop in a Paris slum recalls many a story, no less dramatic, of treasure-trove in art. It is not long since a stolen canvas by Raphael of the "Holy Family" was found in the cottage of an Italian peasant, where it was serving the sordid purpose of stopping a broken window; a Correggio which had vanished from the walls of the Dresden Gallery, had been lost to sight for generations, was recovered from the recesses of a Saxon hayloft; and priceless tapestries, designed by Raphael for Pope Leo X., were rescued from the hands of a Paris Jew after he had burnt two of the pieces in order to extract the gold and silver contained in their texture. Raphael's pictures, indeed, seem to be picked up at a second-hand shop in Paris for forty-four francs. His Vatican "Adam and Eve" was found—flung peculiarly ill-fated. Only a few years ago his "La Belle Jardiniere" was aside in the corner of a picture-dealer's shop in the Rue St. Lazare, by an artist who paid a hundred francs for it, and sold it a few days later for eighty thousand; and for a modest fifty centimes a Parisian art-amateur purchased Raphael's original design for his great picture, "La Disputa del Sacramento," for which he would willingly have paid twenty thousand times as much.

More romantic still is the story of the great master's famous picture, "The Massacre of the Innocents," which was recently discovered in the cottage of a poor widow of Como. Originally owned by Cardinal Luigi d'Este, it had somehow come into the possession of a priest, who had paid the equivalent of a sovereign for it, and who gave it to the Duke Alfonso d'Este more than three centuries ago. After the Duke's death the canvas vanished utterly until it came so dramatically to light again in the Como cottage.

Rubens' famous masterpiece, "The Visitation," was a few years ago, exchanged by a Paris curiosity-dealer for two Louis XV. arm-chairs and a sixteenth century coffer; and a fortunate collector recovered, among a number of canvases exhibited for sale by a second-hand dealer at Montmartre, one of Teniers' finest canvases, which he was able to purchase for thirty francs.

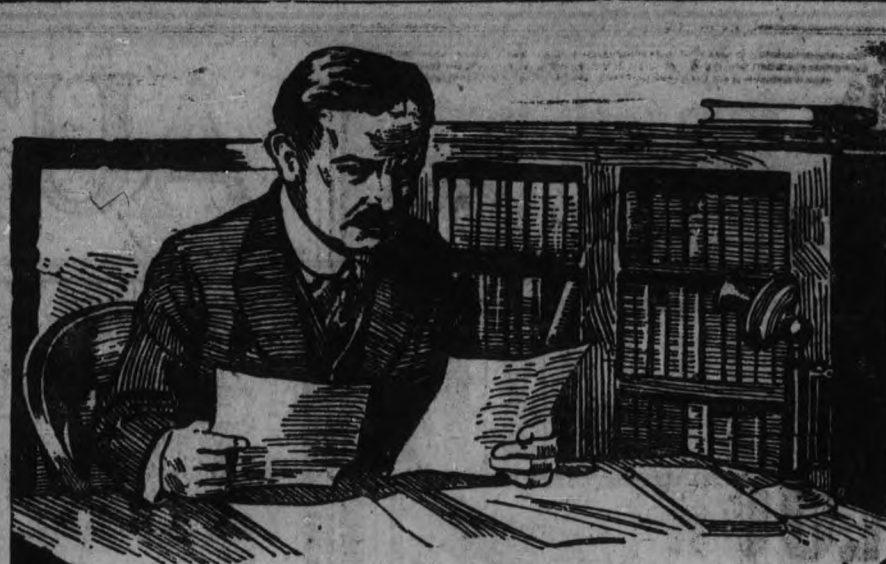

A portrait of Nell Gwynn by Sir Peter Lely was discovered in singular circumstances at Birmingham by a medical man. While attending a patient in a small tenement, he noticed on the wall of the living room a tattered piece of the head and bust of a woman. The frame was worn-out with age, but despite its torn condition, the picture seemed a good one, and it was purchased by the doctor for a trifle. He took it away, and ultimately sent it to be cleaned.

There was nothing on the canvas to indicate the artist's name, but the eyes of the subject bore that peculiar expression of tender languishment, blended sweetness and drowsiness, attempted by no other painter than Lely.—Tit-Bits.

SHE SURE WAS.

A man was defending himself in a divorce suit.

"She's unreasonable," he contended, adding, "The other day she called me 'the laziest man in the world' just because I threw a kiss at her."

Potatoes or Bread—Which?

Are You Neglecting the "Staff of Life"?

MORE or less as a matter of habit, we have been eating our meat with potatoes and forgetting bread. Yet bread is twice as nourishing, twice as energizing, and therefore very much cheaper. Bread builds muscle and energy; potatoes, fat and heat. Bread, rich in gluten and phosphates, should be the principal item on the menu of the brain-worker. Eat more bread.

Royal Standard Flour

is "oven-tested in our laboratory," the richest in gluten—therefore the most nourishing and best bread-making flour to be had. You'll know it the minute you taste bread baked from it. The "homey" flavor and hunger-satisfying something making a big difference. It is milled in British Columbia and any grocer has it.

AMPLIFIER GIVES CAR MORE POWER

Expert Gives Demonstration of Valuable Equipment,
Which Improves Spark

C. C. Daniels, electrical expert, of Bellingham, spent a few days in Victoria this week in the interests of the D. & K. Accessories Company of this city. While in Victoria Mr. Daniels demonstrated the D. & K. Ignition amplifier and gave some practical suggestions regarding the electrical equipment on local cars. P. F. Hoyte is manager of the local company which handles the sales of these amplifiers and the offices are located on the seventh floor of the B. C. Permanent Block.

The great feature which the promoters claim for this new accessory is the great increase of the ignition spark, increase of power and quicker pick-up of the motor using an amplifier.

The demonstrations here showed that when the amplifier was connected to the ignition system the motor would speed up and run smoothly, the increase in speed was caused entirely by the increase of spark at spark plugs.

To further prove the amplifier qualities it was disconnected and the motor would slow down to half the speed and missed fire badly.

Sales have reached well over the 500 mark on the island and some excellent reports are coming in to the local office of the Motor Accessories Co.

Mr. Daniels was requested to explain the working principles of the amplifier and stated that the amplifier causes more current to flow in the secondary winding of the coil without using any more battery current in the primary winding.

The amplifier also acts as a reservoir for the spark in such a way that the spark is increased 200 per cent. The ordinary spark takes about one hundredth of a second to jump over the spark plug gap, but with the amplifier attached the speed is increased to a quarter of a million. This tremendous speed of the spark will ignite a very lean mixture and also eliminates the burning of the spark plugs by 50 per cent. by reason of the alternating character of the spark.

A very good saving of gas is possible with such good spark and the motor will have a quicker pick up and better running qualities.

If the sliding member of the clutch is rusty, it will give the effect of a grabbing member. The rusted portion will prevent the clutch's engaging gradually holding for a fraction of a second, and thus forcing a quick engagement. The operator often believes that the trouble is due to poor facing or worn engaging member.

Practical use of the motor truck was demonstrated in a striking way recently when a farmer hauled more than a ton of hay from his farm on a truck temporarily equipped with rigging. It required only 40 minutes to cover the distance of eight miles over an unimproved road. The hay was brought direct from the field, and, though hay is retailing at $40 a ton, the price in this instance was $26, owing to the fact that extra work in stacking and storing was saved.

INSTRUCTION SCHOOL IN TIRE REPAIRING

Goodyear Company Maintains Institution at New Toronto Factory

The fact that car owners are fast becoming alive to the saving possibilities of having their old tires repaired, has proven by the demand for tire repairmen in this country.

To help encourage tire conservation and economy, a school of instruction in tire repairing and vulcanizing is conducted by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., in their large and specially equipped factory at New Toronto.

Here, anyone desirous of obtaining free instruction in tire repairing and vulcanizing, and the free use of tools and material, may do so at the expense of the Goodyear Company.

The instruction is given by experts, men who have served years at the trade. The student does actual repairing for customers, this enabling the school to work on a self-supporting basis.

J. A. Webster, foreman in charge of instruction says: "Since the school opened in November, 1918, its progress has been very satisfying. Over a hundred and ten men have passed through the training, thirty of whom were returned soldiers. Some of these men, frequently prefer this course to the vocational courses offered by the government."

"The course is continuous, and does not last any stated length of time. The student may remain as long as he chooses."

"First, he is taught to familiarize himself with the manufacture of the tire, by learning the 'cutting down' and 'building up' processes. This accomplished, he is taught the various other stages of the business, until finally he becomes an expert vulcanizer, able to undertake any kind of repair."

He also states cases have been known where inexperienced men after two or three weeks' training have been placed in charge of vulcanizing and repair shops. Requests frequently come in from employers for just such reliable men.

Many young men are to-day holding responsible and lucrative positions as a result of the training received from the Goodyear School of Tire Repairing.

RULES FOR SAVING TIRES IN WINTER

The Central Vulcanizing Station, corner Douglas and Broughton Streets, offers the following recommendations to the motorists who want to put their tires away and find them in good shape in the spring:

1. Wash tires carefully on outside and remove oil and other harmful substances.
2. Remove tires from wheels and wrap in paper or old carpet.
3. Store in a cool, dry place, away from light. Heat, light and moisture are enemies of rubber.
4. Cold has no bad effect on tires, but they should be properly housed.
5. If tires are left on car, jack up the car, deflate the tires and wrap them in covers.
6. Don't let car stand on tires all winter. To do so means weakening them in the parts that rest on the floor.

MOTOR TRUCK MADE ITS PURCHASE PRICE

Walter Revercomb Tells of Business Policy That More Than Paid

"What is the price?" "This is often the first question a business man asks when approached on the matter of motor trucks—or most any other commodity," says Walter Revercomb, of the Revercomb Motor Company, local agents for Federal trucks.

This is not a far-sighted policy, for at least two reasons. First, it is not the cost of a haulage unit that counts, but the work that unit will do for the purchaser and the saving it will effect. Second, that unit if properly handled will pay for itself.

If a $500 team makes six three-mile trips daily, delivering twelve tons, and a $2,500 truck will make ten six-mile trips, delivering twenty tons, the truck will thus double the delivery radius, make nearly twice as many trips and haul more tons per day. Should the business man hesitate to increase his investment $2,000, when thereby he will double the area wherein he can make quick deliveries, thus greatly increasing his business territory and prospects?

A certain foundry put a two-ton Federal in service, total cost $2,541.14. Here are the costs, covering eighty-two days actual operations:

Interest on Investment	$ 41.00
Insurance (yearly $99.66)	27.06
Driver and Helper	$35.84
Repairs and Misc. Expenses	12.22
Registration Fees	8.84
Gasoline and Oil	$4.51
Tires (.084 per mile)	$6.92
Depreciation	77.90

Total ..... $1144.99

Formerly the foundry haulage was taken care of by a local haulage man who charged $2.50 per hour. The truck during this time actually worked 492 hours for the foundry, which would have cost them $1,230 at the hourly rate. Thus the truck on this basis handled the haulage work of the foundry at an actual saving of $85 over the former method. However, the truck actually worked 719.3 hours, the balance of 227.3 hours being devoted to haulage for other companies. This work was charged at regular cartage rate—$2.60 per hour—thus permitting the truck to earn $568.25 after caring for the foundry requirements. Thus during the period of 82 days the truck actually brought in $653.26 over and above the cost of deliveries.

The investment in the truck was $2,541.14 and at the above rate of earning it will pay for itself in 320 days—less than a year. Thus they have made the truck pay for itself.

Beware of Clutch Slipping.—If the clutch is allowed to slip very long it will burn the leather, which will necessitate a relining.

Sound Your Horn.—In passing a car from the rear always sound your horn, as the driver of the car may unintentionally cut in ahead of you.

Loose Rivets.—Few owners examine the frame for loose rivets, yet these often shake loose and fall out. A car owner recently found that two rivets which had held a cross member of the frame in place had slipped out and the side rail had cracked a little as a result.

Cause of Noisy Gears.—Noise in driving bevels of the rear axle is commonly caused by poor adjustment, allowing too little or too much backlash. Bevel gears in use to-day have a method of adjusting the depth of the mesh obtained either by moving the whole differential unit sideways or by movement of the driving pinion.

Socket Wrench Aids.—A valuable addition to the socket wrench set is an elbow extension to be used in horizontal work on the bench when only one hand is free. Another similar aid is a bench holder with a flattened end, drilled so that it may be screwed to the edge of the bench or held in the vise as necessity dictates.

Rubber Tubing Stops Shorting.—There is frequently danger of short circuits in the battery because of the fact that one of the terminals is located near the metal handle used for lifting the battery. To obviate this danger it is only necessary to slip a short length of rubber tubing over the wire at the point where the contact might be made. To do this the tubing should be slit lengthwise, slipped over the wire and taped firmly in place. It is a good plan to follow this practice wherever there is danger of the wires rubbing off their insulation and so establishing a short circuit.

That Irregular Knock.—Irregular knocking in an engine may come from loose electrical connections in the primary circuit, a commutator pole that grounds occasionally when in a certain position, a loose fly wheel or premature ignition.

MINISTER ADVISES PURCHASE OF CARS

Hon. Duncan Marshall Says
Women on Farms Should Learn to Drive

Edmonton, Oct. 25.—That women on the farm should be taught to drive the automobile, is the opinion of Alberta's Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Duncan Marshall. He was one of the chief speakers at the banquet which marked the conclusion of the two days' convention of Overland dealers, and he was in splendid form in his response to the toast of the province.

The banquet was a large one, a dealer, enthusiastic over the new Overland Four, contributed to its success. T. A. Russell, of Toronto, President of Willys-Overland Limited, spoke of the progress of the automobile industry, and it was following Mr. Russell's optimistic picture of the industry's future, that the Minister of Agriculture referred to the use of automobiles by farm women.

The great improvement in living conditions on the farm, said Hon. Mr. Marshall, had been brought about by the introduction of the motor car and by its addition to the modern farm equipment. He stated that at every meeting of the farmers at which he spoke he advised his hearers to buy an automobile as soon as they could afford it and to teach the women on the farm to drive it.

To School By Motor Bus.—To encourage consolidation of rural schools, so as to provide better educational facilities than is possible at present, the New Castle County board of education in Delaware has ordered four motor busses, each with a capacity of from twenty-five to thirty children, to carry the pupils to and from distant schools. One of each of the following makes has been ordered: Maxwell, Reo, Oldsmobile and Ford. It is expected to have the cars ready for use some time next month.

Propeller Shaft Play.—The play between the propeller shaft and clutch is caused by a combination of things. The universal joint coupling shaft pins and blocks are often worn, and it is also possible the yoke of the propeller shaft may be loose. Some of this play may be in the transmission gears themselves. From previous cases that most of the looseness seems to be caused by a worn universal joint. In this event a new set of bushings on the cross of the universal joint will remedy the trouble.

THE NEW OVERLAND FOUR

Above is shown the new, made-in-Canada Overland 4. It is being manufactured at Toronto by Willys-Overland Limited, who announce that production on a quantity basis has now been reached.

The chassis is illustrated along with the finished touring car model because of its radical departure in spring suspension. It will be seen from the drawing that the "spring-base" exceeds the wheelbase by 30 inches. This exclusive "three-point" principle is the basis of the manufacturer's claim that the springs of the Overland 4 give it a riding comfort hitherto not realized in a light car of the economical short wheelbase. Willys-Overland Limited claim that this new spring suspension has been subjected to the most rigorous mechanical, laboratory, and road tests that engineers have ever devised, including 250,000 miles of road testing. The hill-climbing scene above was taken in Hell Canyon, near Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Thomas Plimley is the local distributor for these new Overland Fours and he reports that the demand for the car has exceeded all expectations.

BATTERY SECTION IS NOW EXTENDED

Jameson, Rolfe & Willis Have Splendid Facilities For Battery Work

A new addition to the offices of Jameson, Rolfe & Willis, local agents for Studebaker and Gray Dort passenger cars and Willard Batteries, has been completed solely for the purpose of looking after the Willard Battery Station, under the direction of Mr. Rolfe.

"Our business has increased along this line to such an extent that it has become necessary for us to make this change and we have also enlarged our battery repair department," said Mr. Jameson this morning.

"This will now make a complete sales and repair department devoted exclusively to the handling of Willard batteries and automobile electrical repairs of all kinds. We employ a staff of the most competent auto electricians and storage battery repair men."

"We carry in stock, too, at all times renewal batteries for every car marketed on Vancouver Island, in both wooden separator and the famous Willard threaded rubber separator. This battery is guaranteed throughout its entire life without needing repairs. In other words, re-installation will never be necessary, as the separator used and patented by the Willard Company will last longer than the plates themselves."

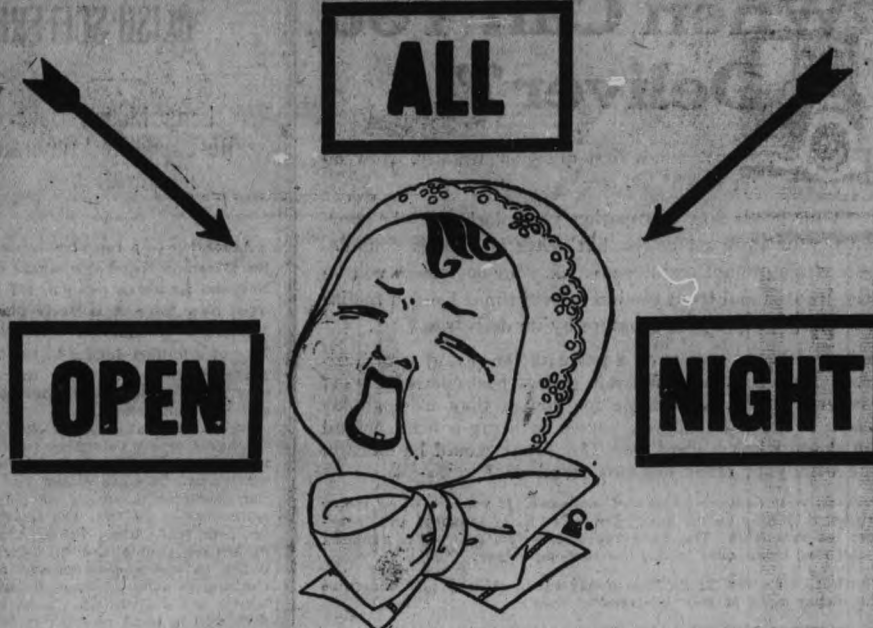

"Further, if any of these threaded rubber batteries give trouble, the work necessary will be carried out free of charge. Over $5,000 worth of batteries and parts are always on hand in our department for the convenience of our customers. Intricate electrical troubles of any nature are easily handled by our competent automobile electricians and mechanics."

"We operate a well-equipped machine shop to look after the mechanical work and where new parts cannot be readily be purchased they can be made by this staff. In short, we are in a position to look after all the needs of our patrons in the way of battery and electrical repairs," concluded Mr. Jameson.

Keep Clutch Leather Soft.—Contrary to very frequent advice, the leather of the clutch should be kept soft by liberal applications of neat-soil oil so that it will engage slowly instead of with a jerk.

Motor Taxes Make Big Sum.—Excise taxes paid by manufacturers on the sale of cars and motorcycles in the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled $17,915,510.81, according to a report made public by the Internal Revenue Collector. Commercial car taxes total for the same period and the revenue derived from taxes on tires, parts and accessories amounted to $4,908,276.18. Taxes received in the four months March 1 to June 30, 1913, from passenger cars for hire totaled $507,721.01. Excise taxes received by the Department of Internal Revenue for the four months ended June 30, 1913, including all taxes paid on the revenue laws of 1917, 1918 and 1919 totaled $29,262,864.79.

To Remove Play.—In removing play from rod bearings by reducing shim thickness, great care should be exercised to get each rod bearing as free as every other bearing. To make one bearing tight and another rather free in movement is courting trouble, for in most cases it will be found that a knock will result.

Wet Sponge Tires.—Drivers or the men in charge should be compelled to give their tires a daily cleansing. Mud should be scraped off and the tires should be washed with a little water, a sponge not too wet being used. Not only is this good for the tires, but it enables easy detection of small cuts and abrasions, which should be repaired at once before they have a chance to become larger.

Stops Rim-Driving.—Buffalo has begun a campaign against rim-drivers. Asphalt pavements are suffering heavy damage from trucks and cars driven for long distances with punctured tires removed, according to reports submitted to the Department of Public Works. Co-operation of the police in stopping the practice has been asked by the Department.

A very simple way of cleaning valve stems which are under suspicion of harboring carbon deposits is to inject a little kerosene in the air valve of a carburetor while the engine is running. In this way a little of the kerosene finds its way down the valve stem and softens and washes off the carbon. It is no bad idea to do this once a month or so.

Avoid ruts and save the side walls of your tires.

DUNLOP "CORD" TIRES

Another Milestone

In Greater Tire Mileage

If you could see the painstaking activities necessary to the construction of Dunlop Cord Tires, you would readily believe they could not possibly be better.

True, we were not the first to announce a Cord Tire, but we were the first to announce a Cord Tire that we know—by the kind of service it is rendering to motor car owners—is absolutely right.

More rubber goes into Dunlop Cord—more miles come out of it.

"Extra" thoroughness in the making accounts for "extra" staunchness in the using.

Less gasoline is consumed per mile.

Dunlop Cord Tires have a greater air chamber, as the cross section is  $\frac{1}{2}$ " over the listed size. When you purchase a Dunlop 34 x 4 Cord, we really give you a 35 x 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ , and so on. This means utmost economy.

Dunlop Cord Tires, "Traction" or "Ribbed"—with Dunlop Extra Heavy Service Tubes, or British Dunlop Red Tubes—make a striking appeal to your sense of tire values.

All sizes—30 x 3 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 37 x 5.

NEW EMBLEMS HAVE SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE

Island Automobile Association Now Making Distribution to Members

The new issue of emblems of the Victoria and Island Automobile Club are being distributed by the organization through the secretary, Charles L. Harris. They are identical in style and color with the emblems issued here a few years ago.

The number of motor cars in the city carrying the attractive emblem on the front of the radiator is increasing daily, as applications for the emblems come in to Secretary Harris.

Just what the emblem is and what it stands for, and what it means to the owner was explained to-day by Mr. Harris.

"The radiator emblem is issued to all members of the Island Automobile Association, and shows that you are a member of your local club and affiliated with all motor clubs on the continent," said Mr. Harris.

"Your radiator emblem emphasizes the fact that you have contributed your share towards bettering road and motoring conditions in your locality—towards fighting unfair class legislation, and that you are willing and ready to continue the good work, instead of allowing others to do it for you."

"And last, but not least, your radiator emblem ensures you a fair and courteous treatment wherever your car may be."

If Strength Declines As Age Advances Follow This Suggestion

So many women grow old before their time, perhaps your wife or sister. A little while ago, buoyant, full of vigor and activity—she enjoyed life and imparted pleasure to the whole family; but now in a few short years she has faded and lost color and strength. She is just ready to develop some disease that will further weaken and debilitate. You remember how it began, failure of appetite, tired in the morning, found housework burdensome, always nervous and a little irritable. It's a shame to let her go down hill further when you can build her up so quickly with Ferrozone.

The change this nourishing tonic makes in a weak woman is surprising. It gives great zest for food, increases appetite and digestion enormously. The blood gets richer and stronger and adds new life to every organ in the body. A rebuilding process works through the entire system. The first week will show an improvement, and a month or two will fatten up the thinnest, most run-down woman you can think of. Take Ferrozone for lost color, for nervousness, for weakness—use it when run-down and feeling poorly—it will do you more lasting good; keep you in better health, than anything else. Just as good for men and children, too, because Ferrozone is harmless and safe, 50c per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Catarthosone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Reviving Dry Cells.—It is possible to get increased amperage from partly run down dry cells by crowding down the material near the carbon element with a small piece of wood and a hammer. This lessens the obstructing material from around the carbon and permits free chemical action. The asphaltum on top of the cell may be sealed again by application of a little heat.

That Fierce Clutch.—The car owner should remember that when the clutch is fierce in taking hold and does not have a slight slip, the mechanism that transmits the power from the engine to the drive wheels, particularly as regards pinions, universals and gear-teeth, receives destructive strains.

It is possible to make a very satisfactory electric light bulb replacer by fastening four stiff wires on the end of a broom handle in such a way that they form a sort of hand, which slips over the bulb without injuring it. There should be enough spring in the wires to enable the operator to turn the bulb in either direction in the socket.

The average motorist can test the connecting rod bearing caps lightly with a hammer to see if there is any play. The crankshaft should run snugly, but not too tightly, so that it can be rocked by hand when the compression is relieved by opening the petcocks.

The brake mechanism seldom gets the lubrication it deserves. Oil is required on the pins supporting the brake shoes and upon the bearing points of the cams or toggle mechanism which actuates the brakes. These parts usually depend for lubrication on the hand oil can. Beginning at the operating lever, every joint in the brake rod needs occasional oiling, as do the bearings of the compensating shaft.

It is possible to enlarge a bushing without the help of a reamer, by cutting down a stick to fit the bushing, putting some grinding compound in and rolling the bushing back and forth on the bench, bearing down on the stick and keeping it from turning. The resulting hole is practically as true as if done with a reamer.

The average motorist can test the connecting rod bearings of his engine by tapping the bearing caps lightly with a hammer to see if there is any play. The crank shaft should run snugly, but not too tightly, so that it can be rocked by hand when the compression is relieved by opening the petcocks.

Linseed oil mixed with a small amount of graphite is recommended as a lubricant for door hinges and latches, which seldom receive attention in this way. Ordinary cylinder oil has a tendency to run, which is not desirable if this location because the clothes of passengers are likely to come in contact with it.

Difficult grades can be made with greater speed and less fuel in intermediate than if the engine is permitted to labor in high to the point of stalling. Contrary to popular supposition, the engine will cool better if it is not obliged to labor excessively.

The car owner should remember that when the clutch is fierce in taking hold and does not have a slight slip, the mechanism that transmits the power from the engine to the drive wheels, particularly as regards pinions, universals and gear teeth, receives destructive strains.

Don't coast in mountains where there is not a clear view for at least a distance of 100 yards.

Very often in cleaning the spark plugs by hand the point of the plug is broken. A good way to avoid this is to stick the plug in the ground upside down fill it with gasoline and touch a match to it. After the gasoline has burned out the plug will be found entirely clean of soot.

STORAGE BATTERY

What Keeps a Battery Young

To be reliable, a storage battery must have well-made plates.

Battery solution must be proper strength and required purity.

Battery jars must be mechanically strong and must allow no leakage of current or battery solution.

But it's the insulation between the plates that keeps that battery full of life and adds months to its term of useful service.

"When Can You Deliver?"

THAT'S the customer's first question, usually. How do you answer him?

Your goods may be superior, your clerks may be courteous, your store attractive, but, after all, unless your deliveries are prompt and dependable, your customers will be disappointed and trade elsewhere next time. Do you realize how many people judge a store by its deliveries?

Is your delivery system on a par with the rest of your business? Does it draw new trade or lose customers for you? Are your horses as suitable for you as they were at one time? If not, why do you persist in being a little behind the times, when a Ford One Ton Truck would be more in line with your other business standards?

Perhaps your deliveries cost you too much. If you are using motor trucks, they may be too heavy for your line of business and therefore too expensive. The Ford Truck uses less fuel when handling a full load than some trucks use running empty.

The Ford One Ton Truck is a money saver, so why not modernize this department of your business at once?

LUTHERANS TO AID POLISH SUFFERERS

Will Loan Million Dollars to Re-habilitate Lutheran Farmers

According to a report published by the European Relief Committee of the National Lutheran Council, 437 Fifth Ave., New York, it is likely that the Lutherans of America will make a loan of a million dollars to the Lutherans of Poland in order that they may be re-established on their farms and in their occupations.

Rev. O. H. Pannkoke of New York, in charge of the campaign for clothing and money, made the following statement: "We are facing two vexing problems in trying to help the Lutherans of Poland. The immediate problem is to bring relief. A group of 600,000 people are in danger of dying by tens of thousands unless clothing is supplied them before the winter is far advanced. We have that task well in hand now. From practically every state clothing is on the way in carload lots. Much is already crossing the sea to Danzig.

"While this means much to the people over there it seems to us it is only a temporary palliative. It is not a cure. Next year will find them where they are this year, again a charge on our charity.

"Their need is credit. They cannot get it in Europe. They are asked to pay 25 per cent. interest on insignificant sums. It is a pity the Paris Conference did nothing to make credits available to rehabilitate life in Europe.

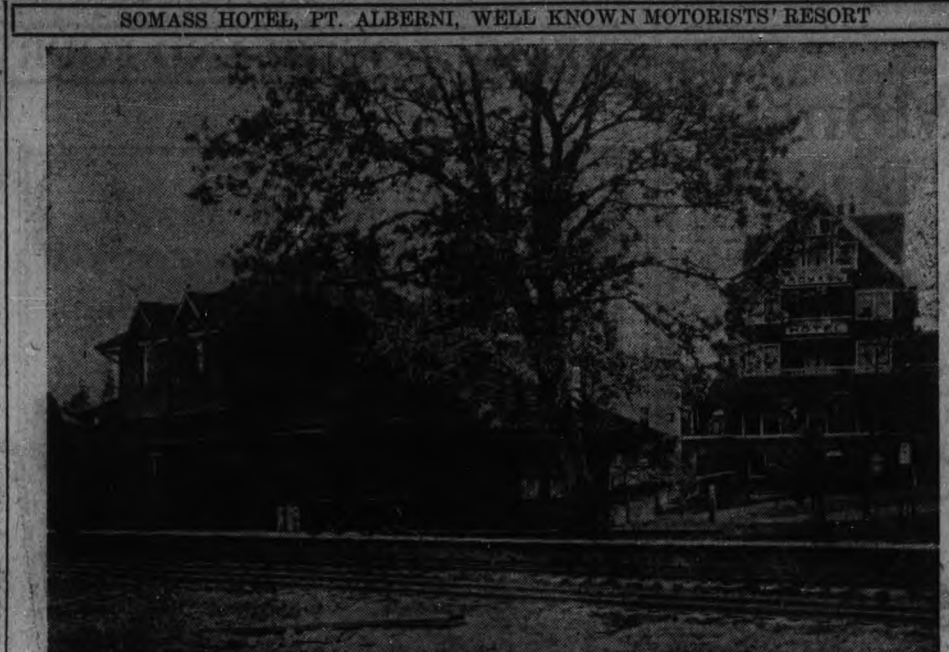

"It seems our duty to do what the Peace Conference failed to do, viz., to see that those people are supplied with sufficient funds to get on to their feet by their own industry. That will be real charity. The matter has been placed before groups of influential Lutherans in various parts of the country, notably North Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin and New York. They agreed to do it and promised to back it.

"The money is to be given to the National Lutheran Council as a gift. It will administer the fund, making such arrangements as are necessary. Land mortgages will secure the loans. "To my knowledge this is the largest charitable loan contemplated in the history of Christian charity. It is the only worth while thing to do in the situation, however. It means a permanent cure and not a temporary relief."

Tommy," Mrs. Chinchin faintly murmured. "Why? Isn't he any better?" asked Chinchin.

"Oh, yes; but I think the tonic must be too invigorating. Why, he has slid down the banisters six times this morning, broken the hall-lamp, two vases, a water-jug, and a looking-glass, tied a tin can to the cat's tail, and scribbled his name on the drawing-room paper. Of course, it's very gratifying, but I don't feel I could stand much more, so I think I'll stop the tonic."—Tit-Bits.

AERIAL LEAGUE PLAN AMBITIOUS EVENT

Seattle "Jazz" Band and Artists to Appear at Cabaret Nov. 26

Plans for the Aerial League Cabaret have been materially altered, instead of being given on November 26 the date has been changed to Wednesday evening, November 19. This action was taken after an interview with Capt. Martin, R.N., S.N.O., one of the patrons of the affair, who states Admiral Jellicoe's ship will not remain in Victoria until that date, and consequently as the captain and officers of the ship are to be guests of the evening it was necessary for this change of date.

Oscar Steyn, of the Western Cabaret Review, arrived in the city Friday afternoon and met the committee in charge of the arrangements. He was greatly impressed with the Empress and the possibilities of staging an immense cabaret. Mr. Steyn is managing director of the Western Cabaret Review and will personally stage the cabaret to be given on November 19. He announces that he will bring thirty performers, including seven members of their own jazz band. The jazz band, he says, is the sort that one reads about and sees in movies and occasionally on the stage—"a real jazz band" as he calls it. Among his performers are Lillian Bowers, dancer; Neva Latham, musical comedy prima donna; Babe Turner, con shouter, and Blanche Hall, a popular soprano. The complete programme will be announced later.

Patrons of the event are His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Barnard, Major-General R. G. B. Leckie, C.M.G., G.O.C., and Capt. E. H. Martin, C.M.G., R.N. Arrangements are in the hands of the same committee as the cabaret given last spring and which was an unequalled success. The committee includes Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Mrs. Dr. A. J. Gibson, W. H. Wilkerson and Gordon A. Cameron.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back Hurts or Bladder bothers.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and shake a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

CANADIAN NATIONAL STATION VANCOUVER OPENED TO-DAY

Here is a station that reflects much credit on the part of the railway and one which Vancouver and the Pacific Coast should be proud of. This new station recently erected by the Canadian National Railways on Main Street, in the centre of Vancouver, opened to-day. It is fireproof and up-to-date in every respect, and if the travelers and visitors to the Coast were asked wherein lay one of the many supreme attractions of Vancouver they would one and all include the new Canadian National Station. Designed along dignified classic lines the station has 321 feet frontage, with a depth of 105 feet at the head of a group of sixteen station tracks. There is a basement and three storeys above street grade. Externally the front and both side walls are constructed of granite up to the base and above in stone, both of which materials were procured in Vancouver. This new depot involved an expenditure of approximately $1,000,000. The arrival of the special train to-day is regarded in railway circles as the beginning of the formal use of the depot.

MEN.

We don't talk enough about men—when it is all we should be talking about.

We talk about policies when we should be talking about men, for they are responsible for the policies.

We talk about methods, when we should be talking about men—for men make the methods.

We talk about systems, when we should be talking about men—for men make systems.

And so, let's talk more about men. When you are not satisfied with policies, methods, or systems, look to your men.

The human element is responsible. Go to the source, then, that needs remedying.

Go to the source responsible for the action. Man is responsible.—Tit-Bits.

"IT'S BAD BUSINESS"

To the Editor:—One cannot help smiling when reading the serious deliberations of the city council in respect to the Housing Scheme. Scores of arguments have been advanced by the champions of the returned soldiers, to all of which the city fathers parrotically reply, "It's bad business."

At the present time I am paying $40 a month for a double apartment. Each month I pay that amount and all I receive is the privilege to live in those two rooms. By the housing scheme I could borrow $2,500 and pay it back at the rate of $25 per month. By this I would have a monetary saving of $15 a month as well as knowing that every cent I paid out was going to pay for my house. Where I am at present I cannot cultivate a garden and consequently I have to buy all my vegetables as well as fail to derive any physical benefits from tilling the soil.

Had I not gone overseas I could have saved several thousand dollars and would have been able to build my own house. I do not ask the city council to give me the money. I am simply looking for a share of the amount which the Dominion Government has allocated to assist me in re-establishing myself.

And these aldermen, who will seek re-election at the next polls, have the audacity to stand between that money and me. They say it's bad business. No matter where I live I will have to pay rent, so why will I not be able to pay $25 on my agreement with the city, which not only pays my rent, but also helps me to buy my own home?

The returned soldier is not looking for charity. He is simply trying to avail himself of assistance which the Dominion Government has offered him. I hope that the aldermen will get their suppositions and talk straight business. They cannot, as intelligent men, carry on with these "bad business" mutterings.

WATCHFUL WAITING.

OUR CHURCHES.

To the Editor:—May I crave the indulgence of a little space in your columns, Mr. Editor, in an attempt to bring to the attention of those responsible the absolute lack of any systematic scheme of ventilation that prevails, without an exception, in our places of public worship?

Our churches are the most poorly ventilated public buildings in the city. In fact, in the construction of most of them the matter of ventilation has either been entirely ignored or else forgotten. Week after week the same foul vitiated air is heated and reheated, breathed and breathed again. Is it any wonder that there are almost invariably a few who fall asleep during the sermon, while the majority of those remaining feel drowsy and take but half an interest in what they hear? Might not the fact, as apparent to-day, that ministers fail to awaken the proper interest in the church-going public, be very largely attributable to the depressing influence of impure air?

To my mind the place in which we worship God should be bright and cheery and filled with an abundance of His pure air. During my six years residence in the city I have attended at one time or another almost every place of worship and have yet to find such a condition prevailing in any one of them. Proper ventilation of the churches would, beyond a doubt, make many more regular attendants.

The Prospect of Live-stock Development in Canada

From a Times Special Correspondent in London.

On being interviewed at the Canadian Mission in London, Mr. Henry B. Thomson, late Food Controller for Canada, gave the following interesting particulars.

Canadian Bacon:—The year prior to the war Canada exported to England—1913—£230,000 worth of bacon. This was increased from year to year during the great struggle until in 1918 the exports of bacon from Canada to Great Britain amounted to approximately £15,000,000 but the total imports into Great Britain during that year were over £20,000,000.

On interviewing the largest importers into this country the consensus of opinion was that the outlook for Canadian bacon was most encouraging and the only thing that was required was for the people of Canada to increase their production and their exports to Great Britain.

Canadian bacon at the present time is highly esteemed on this market and owing to the fact that countries who formerly exported to Great Britain will take some considerable time to rehabilitate their production and in any event if Canadians seize the opportunity there will not be much for any keen competition for a long time to come, providing Canada can ship in sufficient quantities.

The Ministry of Food officially state that Canadian mild cured bacon has been a much better product than any received from elsewhere.

Eggs:—There is virtually an unlimited market for Canadian eggs. In the year 1913 Great Britain imported over 21½ million (great hundreds) of eggs. Of this amount Canada supplied about 2,000 (great hundreds). In the year 1918 owing to the falling off of European shipments principally Russia, the imports of eggs into Great Britain dropped to about 2½ million (great hundreds), of which amount Canada contributed 300,000 (great hundreds).

Now that the shipping facilities are improving the importation of eggs into Great Britain would in all probability get back to the standard of 1913, so that Canada virtually has this enormous market before it and the Canadian hens, if they seize their opportunity, can fill Great Britain's wants by producing for shipment over 2½ billion eggs for the coming year, 1920, and as the most they have done in the past amounted to 45,000,000 eggs it will be admitted they will have their work cut out.

On interviewing the importers relative to Canadian eggs, the general opinion is that those that are coming over are giving great satisfaction, and there is no reason why the quantity cannot safely be enormously increased. The only complaint that can be made relative to the export shipments of eggs is bad packing and the greatest care should be taken to see that the packing of all Canadian export eggs should be brought up to the highest possible standard so that they can arrive in an unbroken condition on the market.

Beef:—The exportation of frozen beef from Canada fluctuates considerably in the years preceding the war and in 1914 dropped down as low as 8 cwts. but in 1917 it came up to 28,510 cwts. The approximate importation of frozen beef into the United Kingdom runs about 5 million cwts., therefore, it will readily be seen that Canada can multiply her exportation of frozen beef by 20 times before she can fill the import requirements of Great Britain alone, to say nothing of her possibilities of other markets in Europe.

Care should be taken as to the improvement in the quality, size, and weight of the cattle in Canada, and arrangements for the steady and regular refrigerated shipping would improve the situation.

Honey:—The increased importations of honey into the United Kingdom have been very great and there should be an opportunity for the Canadian farmer to increase his production in this direction. In the year 1913 Great Britain imported approximately 31,000 cwts. In the year 1917 this amounted to over 200,000 cwts. and although there is a large local market to fill, the Canadian bee keeper has a very prosperous outlook ahead of him for the domestic and export trade.

A man was brought up before a magistrate for stealing a cheese from a grocer's doorway. The principal witness, a carter, told how he had seen the man take the cheese, and had run up and held him. "Then you caught him in the nefarious act?" said the magistrate. "The what sir?" said the witness. "You caught him in the nefarious act, I say," repeated the magistrate. "Not me," was the reply: "I caught him by the scruff of the neck."

The New Motor Car

The Greatest Improvement In Riding Comfort Since The Introduction of Pneumatic Tires

HERE is a brand new type of car, built in Canada, by Canadians, for Canadians. It solves the problem which has baffled automotive engineers—how to combine riding comfort with light weight and economy.

Our new Three-Point Suspension Springs make this possible.

These are the first springs of their kind and they are made of chrome vanadium steel. They are exclusive with Overland.

Because of these springs, Overland 4 combines the riding qualities of large heavy, expensive, long wheelbase cars, together with the advantages and economy of small light cars.

With 100-inch wheelbase, Overland 4 has the luxurious riding ease of 130-inch Springbase.

The exclusive Three-Point Suspension Springs cushion the car so that it rides well on all roads: they reduce choppy rebounds and side swaying, protect the car from road shocks and prolong its life, minimize twisting or racking of frame and body, enable the car to hold the road better.

The car and passengers ride smoothly as though floating, free from road shocks.

But this new riding comfort, possible only with these Three-Point Suspension Springs, is but one of the advantages of Overland 4.

Its light weight makes possible great economy of gasoline and tires.

High quality materials insure durability. All vital parts of the front axle and steering gear and all highly stressed gears and shafts for driving the car are made of alloy steel.

The equipment list of Overland 4 is like that of expensive cars: Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System—Electric Horn—Specially Resilient Upholstery Springs—Demountable Rims—Three Speed Transmission—Slanting Rain Vision Windshield—Tillotson Carburetor—and many other high quality conveniences.

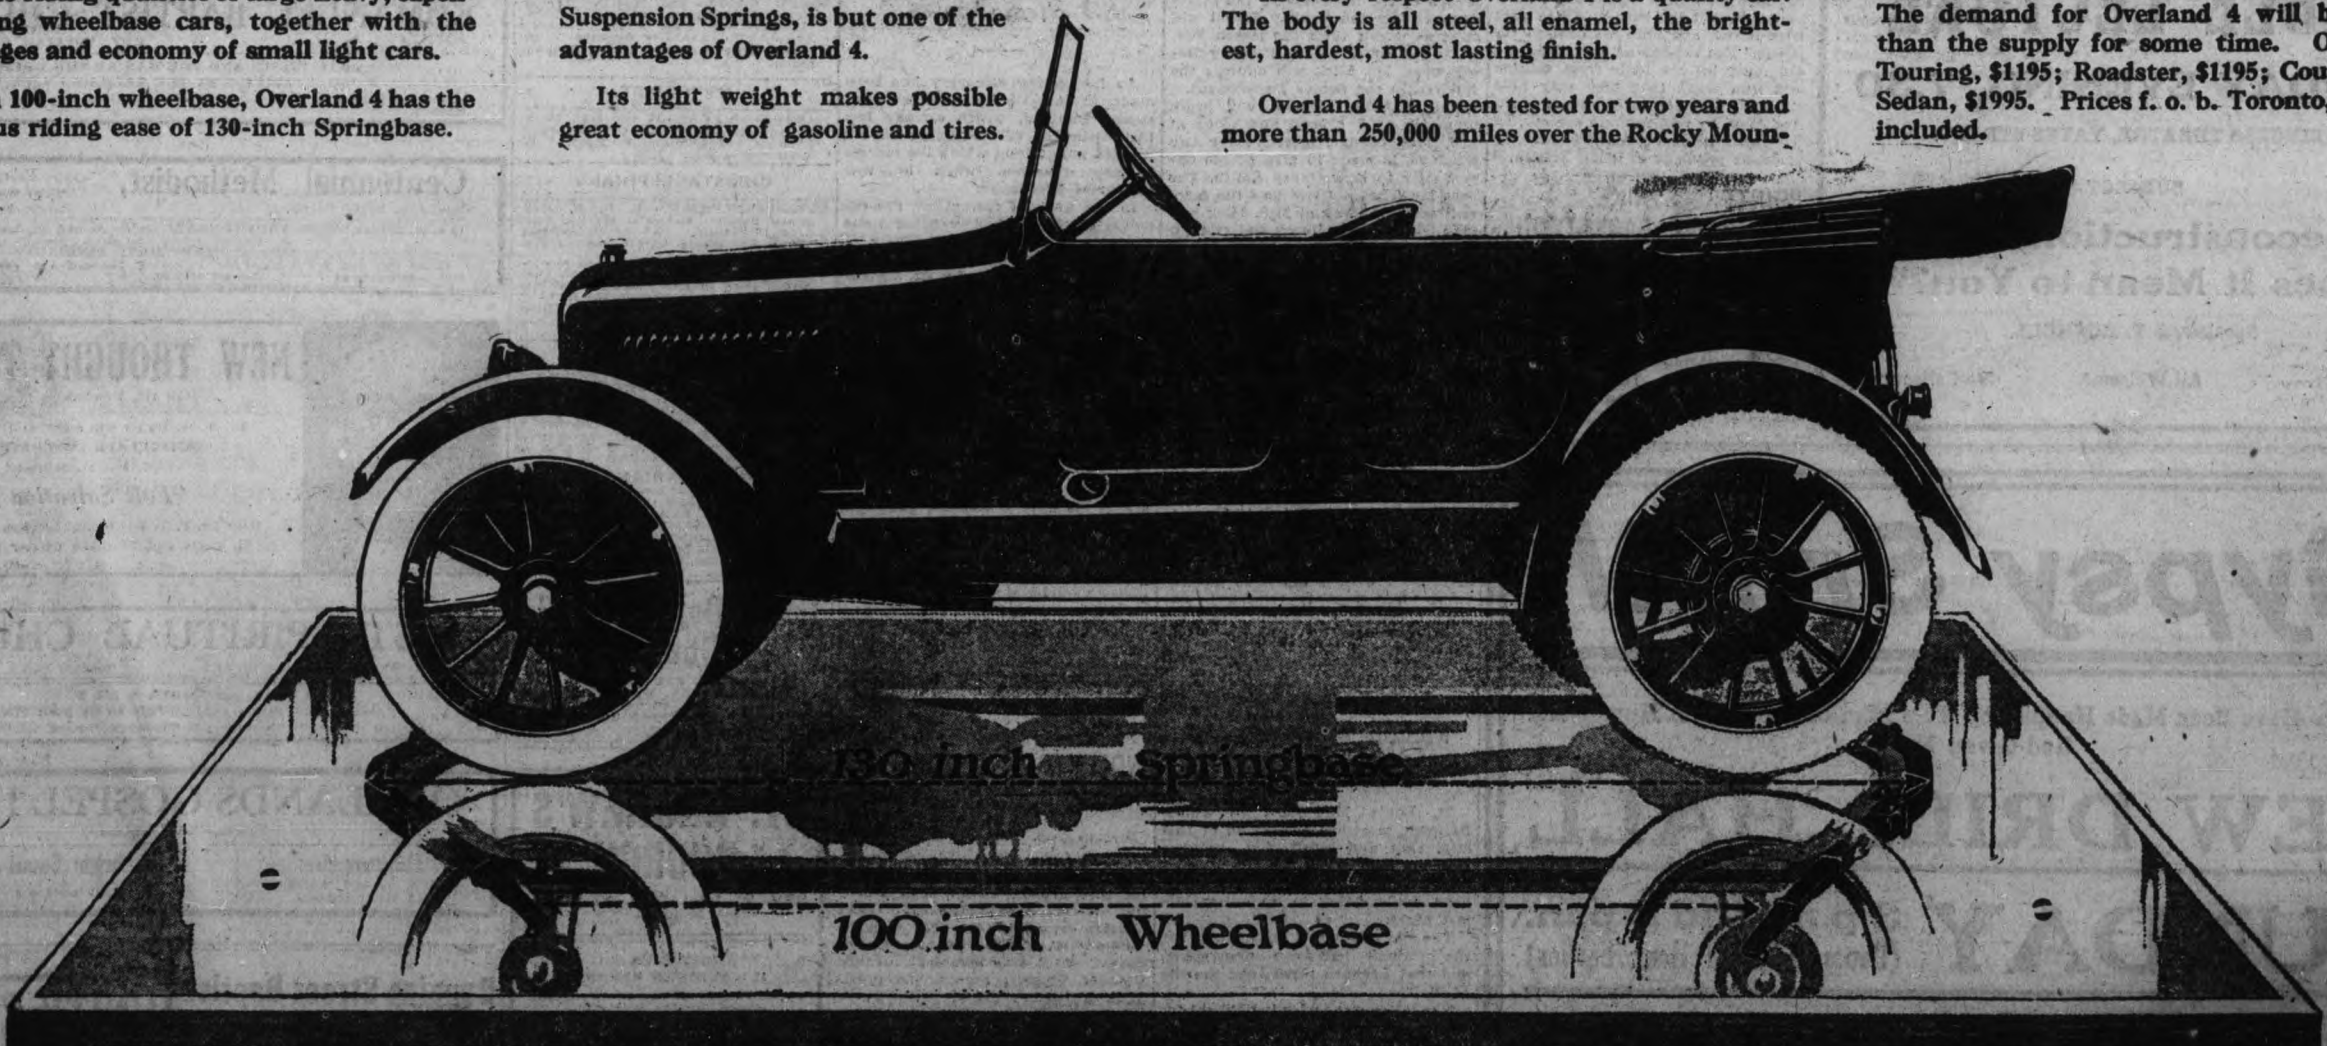

In every respect Overland 4 is a quality car. The body is all steel, all enamel, the brightest, hardest, most lasting finish.

Overland 4 has been tested for two years and more than 250,000 miles over the Rocky Mountains, prairies, through deep mud and scorching deserts—through quick, sharp climatic changes. As a result of these tests we were able to judge the car's performance under every condition and to perfect it before offering it to the public.

There is no previous car of any size or price to adequately compare with the character of service Overland 4 introduces.

The farther you ride in it the more you will appreciate it. Come in and get a Booklet. The demand for Overland 4 will be greater than the supply for some time. Overland 4 Touring, $1195; Roadster, $1195; Coupe, $1345; Sedan, $1995. Prices f. o. b. Toronto, War Tar included.

The Cult of Courage

The National Heroes as the School-boys' Inspiration.
By Charles Dawbarn in The London Daily Chronicle.

There is no more pitiable sight than the brave man looking for work. That such should be possible stigmatizes our civilization and casts a blight on courage.

It would seem as if a man's superiority in the field implied, in some strange minds, inferiority in civilian life. Upon what is based so monstrous an assumption? May be valor is not on all fours with capacity to earn a livelihood. The two call for different energies. And yet why should valor be manacled with disability? Is its unearliness a bar to earthly progress?

The hero showed himself above the ordinary, yet is he below the ordinary in gaining bread. His outstanding merit has no place in business. Yet, apart from the ingratitude involved, this prejudice is as grievously unjust as it is gratuitous.

And yet how otherwise must we read the continual cases of V.C.'s and others, with honors thick upon them, walking wearily the streets seeking employment and finding none. Those who have saved others cannot save themselves from semi-starvation. Such mournful facts, indeed, have gained the protests as well as the aid of high quarters; but still they exist in numbers greater than is commonly imagined.

The V.C. in the School.
For this reason am I moved to indicate a way by which these men might serve their generation and themselves with vast appropriateness. Thereby might they renew their strength like the eagle and live in the sunlight of national service.

Let them be schoolmasters teaching the young the whole duty of heroism. For I judge that the soul's armament is self-forged, and does not grow without the subtle processes of preparation. Consider how noble is their example, how great their influence! Their young charges would be fired to act as they, to risk, if need be, all for country, to learn the undying creed of heroism at the most impressive moment in their lives.

Let the bright legion of bravery, then, find employment, if need be, in our elementary schools. Here would courage flourish and other virtues glow with the fires of youth.

I can imagine its rapt eyes fixed upon Dominie V.C. as he recounts some episode of the great war. Even his common sayings would be treasured in boyish memories as if they were immortal. The superman would bring, also, the older generation to the level of youth's demands. They would be Olympians, indeed—not mere tyrants in the guise of men. And schoolmasters, in the person of their new conferees, would possess unexpected glamour, a halo of glory.

A New Idolatry.
Even if he were judged a beast by his young critics for some act of discipline, the soldier teacher would always be "a glorious beast" by virtue of his heroism. Thus the whole race of elders of the school would benefit by the new idolatry.

How eagerly would the lads listen when he spoke; no need to capture their errant imagination; it would be chained upon the man. And upon their malleable minds would be written the glowing legend of his deeds, and of others who had won imperishable glory in the annals of the war. Like the parched earth drinking greedily the showers, they would absorb with wide-open readiness his stories of the Empire, his terse and vivid comments on the pioneers of progress.

His personal prowess would create a golden path across the desert of the school curriculum. To them he would be a king in khaki, clothed in a magic panoply. Young eyes would fasten upon the aureole which, romantically, is placed about his head. And in their ardent thoughts the crusader, with lance in rest, would be ever charging some legendary Hun. He would be the perfect knight.

Vision in the Slums.
And, thus, into the unlovely slums, into the dull grey of mean streets, lying east of elegance and west of the sweet country, would come a new note of astounding exploit, an atmosphere of glory, a vision splendid.

The Court of King Arthur would be established in their midst, and Knights of the Round Table would step from their fabulous place in story into the grey light of every day. Through the doors of the common school, red-bricked and lavishly windowed, would enter, gloriously arrayed and blowing a loud blast, the horsed figure of chivalry. And the dun walls would shimmer with his blazon. Thus into tender and receptive minds would fall the precious seeds of valor.

Rotherhine and Bermondsey would blossom with prideful patriotism. The commonest asphalt court would become a garden of brave deeds, where chivalry and courage would flourish as in the traditional atmosphere of Eton and Harrow.

In its yield of "brave and brilliant sons of Empire" it would rival the playing fields with their immemorial oaks and elms. And there would be communicated to countless boys the secret of a dauntless heart, the spirit of self-sacrifice. Each school would become a nursery of military merit, a forcing ground for heroes. Each scholar would grow unconsciously in those virtues of grit and temper which have made our name what it is the world over.

Nor would such virtue be confined to London; it would spread to rural England. Village would vie with village in the possession of a titled teacher, member of the Aristocracy of Courage. He would rank high in the neighborhood, taking precedence, perhaps, of local magnates who kick off at football matches.

Dominie V.C., installed in our common schools, would remove the reproach that we had left unorganized our patriotic resources, that we had left untaught the infant mind in the meaning of the flag and kindred symbolism. Often have we heard how America initiates the alien as well as the native child into the mysteries of State servitudes and grandeur. This new cult of courage would give us perennially a crop as splendid in its growth and promise as that which has gone these days to make glorious the name of Empire. And that badge of courage gleaming on the V.C.'s breast would inspire to daily heroisms, which might rival, in their ultimate effect, the deeds done in the face of deadly peril.

The V.C. pedagogue could learn his difficult and delicate trade by the intensive system of the universities devised in days of war. Experts would teach him how to bring home to youthful minds the facts of history and the other things that matter. Moreover the teaching science lends itself to part time employment such as would suit the hero who has paid with health and limb his debt to "la patrie." But schools as well as scholars must bend a little from routine in the ways that they may help the man of valor to learn the craft. And then, by practice and precept, he will inculcate into young England the priceless privilege of being British.

VICTORIA COUPLE FOR CHINA MISSION

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hick to Leave Next Week; Farewell Services.

Two well known young people of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hick, have been accepted by the China Inland Mission Board and will sail for the Orient on November 6 to take up their new duties. Mr. Hick is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hick of 934 North Park Street and was for some time engaged in the meat business with his father before he decided to take up mission work. With his wife he left for the Bible Institute at Los Angeles from which they recently graduated and have now been accepted for duty in China. St. Paul's Presbyterian Church has made arrangements for a public farewell service, in order that the friends of the mission, and of the missionaries might have opportunity to come together.

Rev. Charles Thomson of Vancouver, Pacific Coast representative for the China Inland Mission, arrived in the city this morning to take part in the special services to be held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church tomorrow. Mr. Thomson, with his wife who was also a missionary, spent nearly twenty years in China. He gave two sons to the Empire in the great world war. His eldest son was killed in action at Vimy.

The Rev. Charles Thomson assisted by Mr. Hick and the pastor will preach in the forenoon. In the afternoon at 2.30 the Sunday school will meet as usual; after the lesson Mrs. Hick will speak to the Primary Department. Mr. Hick will address the children in the Senior Department.

The evening service will begin promptly at 7 o'clock and close at 7.50. This change, effective for two Sundays, is made to give people opportunity to hear Gypsy Smith. The Rev. Mr. Thomson will lead the farewell service. Mr. and Mrs. Hick will leave for the Orient tomorrow morning. A new order of service will be introduced at this meeting.

BOY IS VICTIM OF HALLOWE'EN PRANK

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—"Dick" Tietjen, of 738 Fifteenth Avenue, East, lies dead in the city morgue to-day, the victim of a foolish Halloween prank. His lifeless body was found last night on the pavement huddled beneath a lowered arc lamp. The police have ascertained that a number of youths lowered the lamp and left it. Apparently the little victim came in contact with it and was electrocuted. His identity remained unknown until this morning when the father identified the body as that of his young son, who he thought had gone to spend the night with a friend.

WEALTHY LUMBERMAN KILLED BROTHER AND ENDED HIS OWN LIFE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—Walter Ballman, wealthy lumberman of this city, shot and killed his brother, Leonard, a salesman, and then ended his own life by firing a bullet into his head while riding in an automobile last night.

The chauffeur told the police that the brothers had been quarrelling, and that Leonard threatened the life of Walter.

GREAT ANTIQUITY OF LATIMER'S CHURCH

Interesting Discovery Shows That Edifice Erected 1,200 Years Ago

An interesting discovery has been made in St. Alban's church, Worcester, England, which already has the distinction of containing an old wooden pulpit from which the martyr Latimer preached when he was Bishop of Worcester.

In the work of restoration the removal of plaster has revealed stone work which archaeologists believe to be the remains of the original church, built 1,200 years ago by St. Erwin, who was Bishop of Worcester from 695 to 717, when he formed the parish.

These discoveries entitle the church to rank as one of the earliest monuments of English Christianity. A massive Norman font and the ruined piers of arches had remained witness of the great age of the building, and historical records proved that as long ago as 1092 St. Wulstan, then Bishop, had to call in the antiquarians of his time to consider the claim of the church to be the oldest in the city.

The present discoveries carry back the origin of the church to four centuries before his time. They consist of slanting jambs over a blocked-up window, headed by a lintel of a single stone instead of an arch, a very narrow priest's door headed in the same manner, and several layers of early tilework (commonly called Roman bricks) over a doorway.

TO SING IN SEATTLE NEXT MONTH

MRS. DOUGLAS B. MCCONNAN

The popular Victoria soprano, has been engaged by Professor Claude Madden, the well-known impresario of Seattle, to be the soloist at a big choral concert to be given in the Sound city about the middle of next month. Mrs. McConnan has been studying under Madame Bennett-Brock for the past year and has made rapid strides in her art. Her many friends in this city will be pleased to learn of the recognition accorded her by Professor Madden, who was so impressed by her capabilities that he engaged her for the choral concert after hearing her sing in private in the Sound city recently.

ROMANTIC HISTORY OF PIANO INDUSTRY

Instrument Invented in 1700
by Cristofori; Great Composer's Tribute

If you go back far enough in the history of a great firm you nearly always find that its success is due to one outstanding genius, and that man not necessarily the founder of the business, says a writer in Tit-Bits.

The firm of John Broadwood & Sons, of pianoforte fame, is an instance in point. The actual founder was a Swiss named Tschudi, a maker of harpsichords, who came from his native mountains to London in the year 1732, and established himself at the sign of the Plume of Feathers in Great Pulteney Street, Golden Square.

He had learnt his business from Tabel, of Flanders, who was in his day celebrated as a manufacturer of harpsichords. This instrument was the immediate forerunner of the piano. It had keys and wires like a piano; they were plucked by points of quill, making a sound like that of a harp.

His Employer's Daughter.

It may be mentioned that the real pianoforte was invented by an Italian named Cristofori somewhere about the year 1700. Two of his pianos, made in 1720 and 1726, are still in existence and in good working order.

In the same year that Tschudi came to England there was born in Scotland a boy named John Broadwood. He was the son of a cabinet-maker and was brought up to the same trade. But John had music in his soul and from his earliest youth was keen on musical instruments of every description.

In 1769, when he was twenty-eight years old he had saved enough money to branch out on his own account, and at once made up his mind to go to London. How he first got into touch with Tschudi history does not relate, but at the end of 1766 he was busy in the workshop at the Plume of Feathers.

Soon his master found that his new hand was something more than a clever cabinetmaker. He realized that he was a natural judge of tone of harpsichords and similar instruments and soon promoted him to be his right-hand man.

Tschudi had a daughter, Barbara. It was the old story. She and John Broadwood fell in love and in 1769 were married. Tschudi then took John into partnership, and in 1773 retired and left the whole business to his son-in-law.

Where Musicians Met.

The firm had already acquired a considerable reputation as makers of harpsichords. One of these instruments, bought by George II., is still to be seen in Windsor Castle, while Mozart, the elder, was in the habit of bringing his son, afterwards the great composer, to Great Pulteney Street in order to rehearse on one of Tschudi's instruments. But John Broadwood had always been keen on the pianoforte rather than the harpsichord, and now that he had a free hand he threw himself heart and soul into making pianos.

By this time he had made many friends among the great musicians of the day. Haydn often visited him, and wrote some of his best known compositions at the Plume of Feathers. Chopin, too, went to the house, and there gave his last recital in England.

Soon the Broadwood piano began to acquire fame and in 1767 we hear for the first time of a public performance on the instrument. The old bill states that on May 16th, at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden, "Miss Buckley will sing a favorite song from 'Judith,' accompanied by Mr. Dibdin on a new instrument called the pianoforte."

John Broadwood had a son named James who was as deeply interested in pianos as his father. In 1795 he joined the business, which, though still small, was then very well known. It was James who started the custom of giving dinners every Saturday night at Great Pulteney Street, and so drew together many musicians. After the dinners these musicians would test the newest pianos and give their opinions of them.

Many purchased Broadwood pianos, among them the great Beethoven. He was so attached to this instrument that until the day of his death he would permit only one person beside himself—his tuner—to touch it. Mozart, Handel and Haydn were patrons of the house; and later, Cramer, Weber and Mendelssohn.

Chopin used a Broadwood in all his tours in England and Scotland, while of his Broadwood piano the Abbe Liszt wrote, "This excellent grand I played on with delight."

The big organ now being installed in the Capital Theatre, New York, costs a fortune, and it is estimated will be equal in volume and tone color to an orchestra of 200 pieces.

"The Musicals" is out with this timely "tip." "When guests come into your home always have the piano open to it in volume and tone color to an orchestra of 200 pieces."

NEW YORK PAPER GIVES SERIES OF FREE CONCERTS

Well-known Artists Engaged For Wonderful Educational Scheme

A splendid record of public service through music and of material aid to the spread of the art itself, is that of Charles D. Isaacson, noted equally as editor of The New York Globe's "Family Music Page" and as manager for his paper of a unique series of first class free concerts in schools, camps and factories. The close of the third season of the work has just been celebrated by a gala concert, the 800th since the establishment of the series.

Well-Known Artists.

Nearly a thousand musicians have contributed their services to these concerts without remuneration, their assistance making the whole undertaking possible. The list includes artists of the first rank, artists of the second rank, and artists of no rank at all but of proven ability.

Among the well-known names that have appeared on the programme are Rosa Raisa, Rimini, Florence Macbeth, Paul Althouse and Michael Elman. Had the artists been paid at their regular engagement rates, the expense of the concerts together with rent of halls, printing, etc., would have been over a million dollars.

Pro Bono Publico.

Asked to explain why this great body of gifted people have given so liberally of their time and strength to promote the movement, Mr. Isaacson pointed out that the artists appreciate the importance of getting the highest type of music to the masses of the people and of cutting away all expensive barriers, so that it would be impossible for the world and his wife to refuse to come.

As musicians, they realize that music can do to advance individual and social well-being. They also know that once the desire is awakened and the taste cultivated, a lifelong loyalty to music is the inevitable result. In this way the ranks of the regular concert-goers are augmented, the artists build up those precious "followings," and the whole cause of music is advanced.

The chief centre of the Globe's free concerts is the New York City's largest High School auditorium. Admission is open to members of the Globe Music Club, which requires no dues and which numbers at present some 13,000 signed adherents. Not only do the members have the privilege of the Globe's free concerts, but their identification cards are honored at many of the paid concerts at Carnegie Hall and other places.

Musical Big Factor.

The Globe's enterprise is a significant commentary on the place of music as a factor in present-day life. A newspaper working at high pressure and with endless calls upon its time and attention, can afford to give space only to matters indisputably in the public eye. When it not only devotes a weekly page to music in its democratic aspect, but goes out to the beaten track of its work to engage in activities of the kind described, it means there is something tremendously important about music and that the paper wants to spread a realization of the fact.

The far-reaching effect of The Globe's Special Music Page and Music Club activities and the deep impression these have made on the general public will undoubtedly lead to the undertaking of similar work probably on a somewhat smaller scale by papers in many other cities.

Too Much "Pizzicato."—The best story told by Major Mackenzie Rogan the veteran bandmaster of the British army, who is relinquishing his office as Director of Music in the Coldstream Guards, concerns a music hall manager of the late school who once entered the place during a band rehearsal. Soft music was being played, and the trombone player was not required.

"Why ain't that chimp playing?" demanded the manager. "Well, they are playing pizzicato, you see," was the explanation volunteered.

"I don't care a hang what they're playing," roared the irate one. "Tell him if he can't play pizzicato or any other dashed tune that is put in front of him, he's to get out of my band."

Grocer's Boy to Famous Tenor.—Singer of unrivaled success, Ben Davies, the famous tenor, who recently made a welcome reappearance at the London Coliseum, delights to recall the days when as a simple village lad he learned the tonic sol-fa system at Pontardawe, near Swansea. He began life as a grocer's boy in a little shop in the village. Then he discovered he had a voice, won the first prize out of sixteen tenors who competed at the Elstedford, and ultimately joined the Carl Rosa Opera Company, with which he first made his name.

A special sale of "gram" records was recently advertised by a well known New York business house, and read thus: "Caruso Cut in Half! Also Melba and Tetrazzini."

IS AGAIN HONORED

DAME NELLIE MELBA, M.B.E. has been decorated by the King of the Belgians with the Medaille de la Reine Elizabeth in recognition of her services to Belgium. The prima donna gave a number of concerts in Australia during the war, raising many thousands of dollars on behalf of Belgian war funds.

Musical Notes

By George J. Dyke.

Many local singers will be interested to know that the Royal Choral Society, London, opened its season with a performance of "Elijah." Later on it will give Handel's "Messiah," twice; Coleridge Taylor's "Hiawatha," and Sir Edward Elgar's "Dream of Gerontius." All the first three works have been given in this city many times, the mentioning of which will recall enjoyable old-time practices.

Martin Mills has had a great welcome back in "dear old London" and elsewhere. The ever-young and popular baritone is engaged for many concerts in England.

Pictarmatburg, Natal, South Africa, possesses a music library of its own, and the library is maintained by the municipal rates. The sum of $500 is granted each year out of the library grants and is devoted to the acquisition of music. This music is hired out, performed and studied by great numbers of the community.

Of the very many of the tens of thousands who revel in the delights of the "rag" and the "jazz" there are probably very few who ever gave it a thought as to how the names of these dances came into use—contending themselves with mastering the intricacies of the steps. It appears that the great "March King" and conductor, Lieut. Sousa, is also an etymologist and has given out in the "Musical Leader" the results of his researches in the direction of the derivation of the names of some of the most familiar words. Lieut. Sousa says that the first time that he ever heard the word "ragtime" was after the World's Fair at Chicago, when a band of East Indian musicians played a number of their own weird native dances of which the "Raga" proved an especial favorite. He thinks that the people there and then, seized on the word and applied it to any music with a syncopated rhythm similar to that of these dances. He holds also, that the term "jazz" originated in some of the performances of the darkie minstrels of the south, who, like many of the European race found irresistible merriment in what may be described as knock-about humor, such as a good sound whack with a stick on the head of the musician, or a playful squirt of water in his face, so as to provoke the dancers to a state of hysteria, thus considering, no doubt, that by so doing they added to the charms of music. These adventitious aids were known as "hokum" or "jazzho" and it was, Lieut. Sousa thinks, the second of these that gave its name to the dance "jazz."

The new opera, "The Three Musketeers" by Isidore de Lara, will be produced in London this season, in English. It is also rumored that the revival of Delmo's "A Village Romeo," and of "Hovana's China" will also be given in English. If a fact it is of considerable interest in opera circles.

In order to get a famous singer here a big guarantee is necessary. Now I have never quite understood why a singer should demand so much more than an instrumentalist, both at the top of their profession, and both "recorded" for gramophones, and each individual record selling for nearly identically the same figure. Of course, it is readily seen that the gift of voice is always the biggest "draw" and perhaps the most interesting, but why such a wide divergence in concert fees?

No secret is given away when it is stated that during the past week a noted singer, (now in London) was offered here for a guarantee of $4,000, whilst there is booked to come one of the greatest pianists of the cen-

NEW SINGER MAKES GOOD IMPRESSION

Congregational Church Recital Featured Mme.
Meakin-Mahoney

So popular a feature of the winter season have the monthly choir recitals at the First Congregational Church become that at the recital on Sunday evening last there was scarcely a vacant seat in the auditorium, testifying to the public appreciation of the efforts of Frederick King and his choir to provide programmes of a high order.

Victorians heard for the first time Madame Meakin-Mahoney, gold medal soloist, who has just come from England and is taking up the teaching of her art in this city. In her first number, Louis Carey's "Nearer My God To Thee," Madame Mahoney revealed the wonderful sweetness of her voice, with a mellowness of tone and sincerity of feeling that immediately captivated her hearers. The same was true of her second number, Handel's "Come Unto Him," which was sung with passionate pleading, marking the singer as a thorough master in the art of song interpretation.

Alfred Quan Lee, the Chinese baritone and pupil of Miss McGregor, delighted the congregation with his singing of "O Loving Father," Teresa Del Riego, a piece demanding sympathetic feeling and careful enunciation. Mr. Lee is the possessor of a most pleasing voice, which, though not of the robust order, has wonderful carrying power.

A quartet, "Abide With Me" (Wolcott), sung by Miss Hadfield, Miss W. Scowcroft, Mr. E. R. Lock and Mr. King, and two well-sung anthems by the full choir rounded out a delightful evening of song.

In "Surely He Hath Borne Our Grief," the performance by the choir was remarkably fine, while in "The Silent Land" (Gual) there was evidence of great skill in choral interpretation and a marked degree of careful shading in expression.

Miss Louise A. de W. Moore presided at the organ with her customary grace, playing throughout the evening "Virgin's Prayer" (Massenet), "Cantilene" (Rheomberger), and Wely's "Offertoire." Miss Moore ranks as an accompanist of great merit, her skill at the organ being in evidence in all numbers.

Mr. King, the choirmaster, is joining, in addition to his regular duties, so that future recitals may reach a still higher plane because of a more perfectly balanced choir.

One of the chief reasons why the Italians sing so well is that articulating either in speaking or singing in Italian is imperative. The vowels cannot be slurred and enunciation properly applied produces a clearness and freedom of sound, an open throat and flexible tongue, all combined with a well supported breath, producing that warmth and penetration so peculiar in the Italian voice.

The good offices of Uncle Sam made possible the filming of many of the striking and beautiful water scenes in "By the World Forgot," the Vitaphone Blue Ribbon Feature, which will be seen at the Columbia for the last time to-day.

Director David Smith had completed the first two reels without encountering any of the ordinary troubles. Then came the demand for a sailing vessel, and there wasn't any to be had along the California coast until the Government kindly helped out. And then, after the hero had made his trip on the sailing ship, it was up to the heroine to follow on her yacht. More trouble for Director Smith, for pleasure yachts were taboo in war time. But from somewhere the yacht materialized and the picture was completed.

PANTAGES

With variety, skill and humor in abundance, the bill of Pantages vaudeville scheduled for next week should be a winner. There are no less than three "top of the bill" numbers and the remaining three acts as well as the new chapter of "The Carter Case" for the Pantages screen, are on a par with the best in entertainment.

"On the Golf Links" is a nifty comedy and music headliner, and is presented with a particularly attractive setting. Two music numbers of charming interest are to be found in the classification of added attractions. These are Camille Rejans, one of the most talented cello artists ever appearing in vaudeville, and the Kilkenny Four, real Irish people with songs and dances from the Old Sod.

Ross-Wyke & Company are right at the top with the comedy, and present a midget that will surely drive away the blues. "Number Please" is a musical sketch swinging around the circumstance of a hotel clerk, stenographer and drummer plotting together. It is bubbling over with laugh lines. The Cycling Brunettes are two men introducing unusual trick cycling comedy.

THE NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILD

Needs Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength.

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded schoolrooms cause their blood to become weak and thin, their nerves overwrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a great mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, out-door exercise and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay strict attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep this rich and red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills according to directions and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Pearl G. Harrington, Kingsville, Ont., who says:—"I have often felt that I should write you and let you know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me. At the age of thirteen I was afflicted with St. Vitus dance. The trouble became so severe that I had to be taken from school. I was given medical treatment but it did not help me. In fact I was steadily growing worse. Then a friend advised my mother to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she did, with the happiest results, as the pills completely cured me and I was again able to take up my studies and attend school. Again about three years ago I was attacked with nervous prostration and once more took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using five boxes was fully restored. I cannot praise these pills too highly as I believe they will cure any case of St. Vitus dance, or restore anyone who is weak, nervous or run down.

You can safely give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the most delicate child, or take them yourself with equally good results when you need a blood tonic. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Samaroff and Sonia show how the Russians spent their Sunday afternoons before the Bolsheviks upset things. It is rather a strenuous manner of celebrating the Sabbath. These well-trained dogs are used in the turn.

The vicissitudes of young artists attempting to make their names in the world are well acted by Franker Wood and Bunee Wyde. There is an abundance of good humor and a few new steps are introduced.

The Casting Wards do a few turns on the high bars and Sam Green and Helen Myra provide a few merry moments.

Worn out, tired in the morning, you lack the energy and ambition to work as of old. This means nerve decay—nerves that are starved for the want of good, rich blood.

It's blood nourishment that vitalizes the nerves. Your blood is thin, weak, watery. It's filled with poisons that hang on because your kidneys don't filter properly.

To do this, you must use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they make life long bright and pleasant because they restore harmony and vigor to the organs that need repair.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills warm the blood and fill it with nutriment that's bound to build you up, that's sure to lift your weakness, that invariably does make joyous, robust Good Health.

Think of it, youthful strength, lots of nerve force, plenty of red blood surging through your veins— isn't this reason enough for your using Dr. Hamilton's Pills? Sold in 25c. boxes by all dealers.

CLEVER COMEDY AT PRINCESS THEATRE

"Billy's Little Love Affair" Delightfully Presented by Talented Company

So accustomed is the theatre-going public to seeing successful productions by the Princess Theatre Company, that it is mere reiteration of an already assured fact to state that "Billy's Little Love Affair" adds another to its list of successes. The comedy centres around the love affair of "Billy" (christened Wilhelmus) Marr and Jack Freer, whose intentions to enter the ministry and become the rector of a little country church dissolve into thin air upon his succeeding to a baronetcy and ten thousand a year. Misunderstanding created by Billy's former love affairs with Jim Greaves, the young and foolish husband of an elderly and suspicious but wealthy wife makes the course of true love anything but smooth, but matters are finally straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Miss Eva Hart in the title role again revealed her talent as a comedienne, playing with much charm and vivacity. She was ably supported by Capt. Hendy as Jack Freer, a role which he filled with ease and distinction. One of the most cleverly sustained characters was that of the unscrupulous society adventurer, Lady Duncan, in which Mrs. Legge-Willis showed considerable talent and an almost professional ease. Mrs. Taylor gave an excellent interpretation of the elderly wife of a young husband, and her little lapses in which she forgot the words will doubtless be remedied at to-night's performance.

A Legge-Willis as Sir Henry Harmon, a confirmed old bachelor, acted with a smoothness which added much to the success of the comedy, while A. M. D. Fairbairn as the foolish and indiscreet husband, proved as popular a member of the company as ever. R. N. Hincks filled the small but important role of Hagon, an ex-valet with his usual skill. Smaller roles were ably carried by Mrs. Thornborough, Miss Taylor, Mrs. Prudeaux and Messrs. W. Taylor, S. G. Clark and W. Reade.

AN INTERESTING WAR RECORD

The latest addition to the great fleet of C. P. O. S. Steamships which ply between Canada and practically all the important ports of call in the world is the "Empress of France," before the war popularly known as the S.S. "Alsatian" and one of the ocean grey hounds between Canada and Liverpool. The vessel has been reconditioned since the war ceased and recently completed her maiden trip to Quebec under her new name. The photographs here reproduced give an adequate description of her interior arrangements and fittings, and will compare favorably with the great Leviathans in this respect. The "Empress of France" has a length of 600 ft.; beam 72 ft.; depth (to D. deck) 54 ft. 6 in.; and a tonnage of 18,000 gross. A striking peculiarity is the cruiser's stern, which imparts a warlike appearance to the vessel. Her war record is one to be proud of.

The "Empress of France" as the S.S. "Alsatian" was requisitioned for war purposes under Royal Proclamation immediately on her arrival at the Port of Liverpool, midnight on the 6th August 1914. After completion of discharge, the entire removal of all passenger accommodation and other woodwork, she was armed with 8-6 in. guns, commissioned and manned by a naval crew under the command of Captain V. Phillimore, D.S.O., and was attached to the 10th Cruiser Squadron on northern patrol duty, sailing from Liverpool on August 15th, at which port she has been based during the entire period of her Commission.

From August to December 1914, she remained as above stated, but in December she was made Flag Ship of the Squadron to which she was attached, and Vice-Admiral Sir Dudley R. S. De Chair, K.C.B., M.V.O., hoisted his flag, which flew up to March 1915, when he was succeeded by Admiral Sir Reginald G. Tupper, K.C.B., C.V.O., who was succeeded in November 1915 by Rear-Admiral C. W. Keighley Peach, under whose flag she terminated her commission as an Armed Cruiser.

The Squadron to which she was attached, and later became Flagship of, consisted of 24 vessels, the majority of which were Armed Merchant Cruisers. The duties of the Squadron consisted of the stopping of vessels, boarding them and examining their papers, and should on examination they proved to be at all of a suspicious nature, a Naval Officer was placed in charge and they were taken into a United Kingdom port for closer examination. This similarly applied to any members of the passengers or crew, as each and everyone had to give a satisfactory explanation as to their nationality and business. Available records show that in all the Squadron intercepted some 16,000 vessels, but it is impossible to state how many of these proved to be engaged in work hostile to the Allies interests.

In the early part of 1915, circumstances permitted of the 10th Cruiser Squadron being considerably reduced in numbers, and vessels so engaged being allocated to Convoy Protection Duty, the "Alsatian" figuring amongst the number and being stationed on the North Atlantic route in such capacity. While so engaged she escorted nine convoys of about 20 vessels each, carrying an estimated number of troops per convoy of 30,000, principally Americans.

While engaged on Convoy Escort duties the "Alsatian" also carried troops and cargo, the number of former per voyage being about 600, and the weight of cargo per voyage between 2,000 and 3,000 tons. She made her last voyage on Government Service in November 1918, sailing from Liverpool on the 14th, and redocked at that port on December 11th 1918, having steamed a total distance on Government Service of 266,741 miles and consumed 170,571 tons of coal.

On January 17th 1919, she left for Glasgow, having been placed in the hands of her Builders—Messrs. I. & Co.—by the Admiralty for reconditioning, being redelivered to the C. P. O. S. at the Port of Liverpool on Thursday, September 25th, and sailed for Quebec on Friday, September 26th. Captain Outram, her Captain when War broke out, was given the rank of Commander R.N.R., and acted in that capacity, which was of an advisory nature, under both Vice-Admiral Sir Dudley R. S. De Chair, K.C.B., M.V.O., and Admiral Sir Reginald G. Tupper, K.C.B., C.V.O., and was granted the D.S.O. for services rendered, being succeeded by Captain Cook at the same time as Admiral Tupper was succeeded by Rear-Admiral C. W. Keighley Peach. Captain Cook, was appointed Flag Captain, and granted a commission as Captain R.N.R., and now commands the vessel.

THE ANNOYANCE CAUSED BY SUBSTITUTES!

OVERWHELMING evidence from all over Canada proved how acutely the war shortage of Eno's Fruit Salt was felt by the general public.

It is doubtful if the shortage in supplies of any other proprietary article ever has caused such inconvenience and genuine disappointment—amounting almost to irritation—as did the war-time famine in Eno's Fruit Salt.

The Canadian supply was reduced to almost nothing. Druggists were helpless, but in an honest endeavor to satisfy their customers sometimes suggested supposedly similar products. Unfortunate and annoying as this proved to both buyer and seller it undoubtedly served to establish more firmly than ever in the public mind their preference for ENO'S.

Shylock in Arcady

High Ideals and Higher Prices.
By Mary Morley in The London Daily Chronicle.

The cottage stands on a spur of the down, looking out across the marshes where the larks sing all day, to a sea that is seldom angry; deep woods settle under the shelter of the hills, the little lanes are hung with honeysuckle and water lilies grow on every pond.

Arcady is a green and pleasant place, a dear corner of the land that Shakespeare loved, and where you may come upon his people behind every hedge. You will meet Jessica, soft-eyed and sentimental, holding hands with a silent Lorenzo, any night you like to go up to the old mill and watch the moon rise; Audrey smiles beneath a score of sun-bon-nets; and, thanks to the war, you may come across Celia, as well as Rosalind, tramping it in doublet and hose. And you will soon receive a personal introduction to Shylock.

In our case it was Mrs. Biffin who performed the ceremony. Mrs. Biffin is white haired, upright as a girl, and she has the most charming manners in the world, so much so that you can hardly bring yourself to discuss anything so sordid as bills with her; Mrs. Biffin cooks for us and "does" for us, and so we have to mention money to Mrs. Biffin.

Not that she would forget to remind us if we didn't. Mrs. Biffin has two objectives—the main chance and her neighbors' characters, and she keeps her eyes fixed on the one and her tongue on the other.

"Yes, miss," she said, when Mrs. Gale's lodger died. "I shall slip down and have a look at the coffin. She'll have had a deal one, I know. It's to be a walking funeral, and he hadn't no relatives. Keeping his insurance money, and letting him be buried by the parish. Over 70 he was, too. Yes, miss."

Mrs. Biffin was justly indignant over the iniquities of Mrs. Gale. "Iron hinges, miss," she observed triumphantly as she brought supper in, "and a tin plate. She's got a new black bodice though, and I know she hasn't got no money to buy bodices with, without she's holding back his savings and cheating the parish. I call it shameful!"

Mrs. Biffin has two daughters, one of them is married to a farmer, and supplies us with milk. Now if we were in London we should complain to the milkman about the thinness of that milk, but in Arcady we are silent; I think we are a little afraid of what Mrs. Biffin might say if we complained. For Mrs. Biffin does not consider the milk in question to be milk, with a layer of cream above, but cream with a thin layer of milk below, and we don't like to shatter her illusion.

Besides, Mrs. Biffin's shattered illusions always go down in the bill. Maude Biffin dusts the cottage (inadequately) and hires out her bicycle (adequately) at 6d. an hour or part of an hour; she is an astute little girl, who, next summer, will be perhaps a shining eyed Jessica wandering tongue-tied by the mill. Only somehow I don't believe there could be any genuine Jessicas in the Biffin family.

Mr. Biffin waters the garden and watches over the sweet peas and cabbages in the evenings after he has closed his shop (he is the local baker) and charges heavily for every hour so spent.

The Biffins have wonderful business heads, though they do live in Arcady, and produce a two-figure bill while you are dreaming of holly-hocks and lavender.

Martin's is also very good at making up bills. Martin's is the one and only shop in Arcady. Mr. Martin presides over the grocery, and always keeps a thumb in the scale when weighing your bacon; Mrs. Martin, stout and smooth in an alpaca gown so tight that it looks as if she had been melted and poured into it and left to "set," is in charge of the drapery department (trade is not very brisk on the drapery side). "No, Miss," said Mrs. Martin gravely, "no bone rings at all. The last ones I bought ten years ago and I sold 'em last week. When sales are so slow, one doesn't like to renew the order. I'm afraid I haven't a farthing, Miss."

She never has. Neither has Mr. Martin. So when you shop at Martin's you are safe to lose a farthing every time—and as you have to shop there, well, since we are in Arcady....

That Arcadian cottage is more expensive than we thought it was going to be; but all the same, when I have a week-end that I can spare and a Bradbury that I cannot, then I catch the train to Arcady. Not even Shylock can keep me away.

WILL NOT SEEK ACT CANCELLATION

Saanich Council and Food Production; Twenty Applicants For Engineer's Post

The Saanich Council decided not to take any action last evening with regard to the suggestion to ask the Executive Council for abandonment of the Greater Production Act.

The chairman of the Works Committee, Councillor Henderson, observed that the Act was a good one, and he thought it brought a lot of idle land into cultivation that would not otherwise be used.

The clerk pointed out that a formal declaration by the Government of peace being concluded would terminate the Act automatically.

Councillors considered that the Act was beneficial to a community like Saanich and therefore would not disturb the existing condition of affairs.

Engineer's Position.

A special meeting will be held on Monday to consider the applications for municipal engineer, for which twenty men have sent in their credentials.

Reeve Jones said a number of the applicants had called on him, and he was glad as they appeared a fine, capable lot of men, quite apart from their recommendations.

Soldiers' Housing.

Major Spurgin, superintendent of the Soldiers' Housing Scheme, reported that by next Tuesday twelve of the fourteen houses will be shingled. One other has advanced to the stage when the frame is being put up, the other has the foundations being put in.

In answer to a query from the Esquimalt Council, the Council decided to inform that body that $6 a day is the rate paid for carpenters' and that the amount will be continued to be paid by Saanich for the ordinary rate of wages on the soldiers' houses now building.

This answer was forwarded to a communication following the demand by the carpenters' delegate for $6.60 a day, as reported in the proceedings of the Esquimalt Council on Monday. Councillor Henderson felt they must be guided by the prevailing rate, irrespective of Victoria figures, and be bound by Saanich district prevailing wages.

Other Matters.

In future Saanich will not perform private road work, or similar work, for ratepayers not of direct benefit to the general public, until after any agreed payments by owners for the work are made.

The Council will continue the policy of demanding 66 feet roadways from applicants for subdivision approval. Messrs. Punnett and Edsell last night received approval of a proposal to subdivide an area 1,700 feet by 2,000 feet between Gordon Head Road and Finerty Road with a road from Gordon Head South.

An unusual lawsuit was discussed, the matter arising out of the improvements on the West Road, near Neal's Station. Through his solicitor, John Watts has commenced an action against the municipality for a declaration that the municipality had taken a strip of land, nine acres in extent, the property of plaintiff, for an injunction to prevent the entry of the municipality thereon, and for possession of the land. Failing this alternatively he asked for payment for the timber removed, set at $1,000, and restoration of the land, and an injunction on the municipality to prevent its further use of the land.

The Councillors referred to the history of the diversion of the road, in the eighties or early nineties, and it was decided to defend the action on the ground that the use of the land by the public was secured by the Highways Act long before the incorporation of the municipality, and that land had been exchanged at the time. Superintendent Gilling reported that in Ward 7 this year four miles of grading and three miles of graveling had been done.

Reeve Jones commented on the benefit realized by the two-mill special rate, saying that three years should see all the travelled roads in the ward put in good shape.

FAMOUS FASTS.

When the cupboard is bare, and housekeeping funds are low, the poor taxpayer thinks of the fasting of the Carthusian monks, and wonders if that is a practical answer to his problem.

Apart from the obvious tricksters of the travelling fairs, there are many notable cases of genuine fasting.

In the year 1347, Cicely Lidgway was charged with the murder of her husband, and in order to impress the judges with her innocence, she fasted for forty days and was acquitted, folks considering her salvation as a direct Divine intervention.

A well-known American medical man, Dr. Tanner, of New York, fasted for forty days in the summer of 1880, and lost nearly three stones in the process.

Louis Latteau, who died at the age of thirty-three in 1883, was said to have gone without food for twelve years!

Amongst the most famous of the fasters was "The Fasting Woman" of Tutbury, who claimed to have abstained from food for twenty months. She created a furore before being finally exposed in 1808.

A well-known Canadian anatomist, the world by declaring that he had lived without food from February, 1839, until November, 1840, that is nearly two years, but on his statement being disproved he was imprisoned.—Tit-Bits.

EMBARRASSMENT, THE RESULT OF COUGH

You've seen it often—just as the singer, preacher or great actor reaches the climax and the audience is keyed up to the highest pitch of anticipation, there comes that uncontrollable cough or sneeze from somewhere in the audience. ## WAS PIONEER OF THE BRITISH RED CROSS

Late Sir John Furley Also Originally Organized St.
John Ambulance

Sir John Furley, C.H., C.B., one of the founders of the British Red Cross Society, and one of the original organizers of the St. John Ambulance Association, died recently at Oxford, aged 83.

In 1868 he became associated with the late Sir Edmund Lechmere and other members of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in a provisional committee for the establishment of a national Red Cross Society for the relief of the sick and wounded in war, similar to the societies which had already been formed in other countries. Mr. Furley and Capt. Burgess, as representatives of this committee, went as delegates from the order to the first International Conference at Berlin, where he declared his confidence that, although Great Britain had not then formed a society, she would do so at once in the event of war.

International Committee.

His prediction was speedily fulfilled, for on the outbreak of war, two years later, between France and Germany, the suppression of the Commune, he remained in France, carrying aid to the sick, the wounded, and the destitute, and generally alleviating the horrors by which he was surrounded.

Help For France.

At first he was chiefly on the track of the German armies, but at the beginning of the armistice preliminary to peace he entered Paris with his supplies, and remained there, at imminent personal risk, until the end of the Commune, having undertaken, in addition to his customary work, that of distributing seed to the ruined French farmers.

In 1874 the Carlist war was an irresistible attraction to him, and he undertook the task of endeavoring to find and to release an unfortunate gentleman named Donovan, who had been imprisoned by the Carlists on suspicion of intending to poison Don Carlos, a suspicion which seems to have had for its sole foundation that he carried a small stock of morphine for his personal use when suffering from a painful malady. Donovan was ultimately found and conveyed safely across the frontier into France; but Mr. Furley remained to be a witness of the three days' fighting at Estella, where Marshal Cancha was killed.

On the outbreak of the war in South Africa, Sir John Furley (he had received the honor of knighthood) was requested not only to design but also to command the hospital train which was sent out at the suggestion of Princess Christian.

When the late war broke out Sir John Furley, in spite of his advanced age, was able to render valuable service to the Red Cross.

Presidential Opinion on Life Insurance

What President Wilson Says: "If a man does not provide for his children, if he does not provide for all those dependent upon him, and if he has not that vision of conditions to come, and that care for the days that have not yet dawned, which we sum up in the whole idea of thrift and saving, then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life. We are in this world to provide not for ourselves, but for others, and that is the basis of economy."

What Ex-President Taft Says: "A man in office without means must abandon the hope of making the future of his family luxuriously comfortable. All a man can do under existing circumstances to safeguard his family is to get his life insured."

What Roosevelt Said: "Life insurance increases the stability of the business world, raises its moral tone, and puts a premium upon those habits of thrift and saving which are so essential to the welfare of the people as a body."

What Grover Cleveland Said: "Get a policy and then hold on to it. It means self-respect, it means that nobody will have to put something in a hat for you or your dependent ones if you should be snatched away from them."

The wisest men of modern times are strong believers in life insurance.

SOLDIERS APPEAL TO COUNCIL AGAIN ON HOUSING SCHEME

Say Home Building Would Stay Unrest and Give Employment

Representatives of returned soldiers again appeared before the aldermen yesterday and urged them to bring into operation at once the housing scheme for which the Dominion Government has provided the credit so that returned men may own their own homes.

The aldermen have turned down this scheme before, although there is still a report on the whole situation from Aldermen Sangster and Patrick's committee, that is now long overdue. This may be brought up next week, they said yesterday.

Aldermen who heard the returned men yesterday did not seem to be any more enthusiastic than they were before for the scheme, although Alderman Harvey got up and urged consideration for the men.

"Returned soldiers are to-day paying the same as rent as what they would be required to pay under this scheme on their own houses that they eventually would own," said Major J. W. Clark.

"If this Council now decides against this scheme, it will register it against you that you do not regard the returned men as trustworthy."

"All of you must have prayed that the suffering of the men in France should not be in vain and that Canada after the war would be a better place to live in."

Doubts Removed.

"When I addressed you on a former occasion it was, I trust, made clear to you that I appeared simply on behalf of the returned men. I wish at the outset to reaffirm my position here to-day, being an applicant together with and on behalf of the returned soldiers of this city, and anything I may say is entirely independent of the Provincial Government or of any official position as a civil servant."

"The examples of payments for the plans and specifications which have been placed before you must either appeal to your business sense or by it be rejected. If you decide that the payments are too heavy for the returned men, how can you reconcile such action with the fact that the vast majority of returned men are paying more to-day as rent?"

"If you have been anxious to the legality of your procedure required under the scheme, your doubts on this score should be removed by the reply of the Hon. the Minister of Lands."

Appeals to Patriotism.

"Let us be frank; if this Council new decide against the adoption of the housing scheme, it will register the fact that you, as a Council, do not trust the returned men, that you do not regard them as trustworthy."

"I have previously done my best to appeal to you as a business view point, permit me now to appeal to your patriotism."

"Some of you have borne with us in your own family circles the sacrifices called for by the war. All of you must have prayed that the sufferings of the people might not be in vain. That conditions after the war should be brighter and better, and that our fair land should settle down to steadiness and prosperity. Have you no part in attaining this end, have you no responsibility?"

"Here is your opportunity in the City of Victoria to practice with your flag-waving practical assistance to the returned men, to show your willingness to help in the attainment of what you pray for, not a city of rent payers, flitting with the seasons, but a city of homes, a land of homes, the sure foundation for a Canada of peace and prosperity."

"Do you know of a better plan to-day to steady Canada, to bring in a period of prosperity here than that of affording these men the opportunity of owning their own homes?"

"If you adopt this scheme, you will be taking action to make this city something better than a community of rent-payers flitting hither and thither."

Suggests Buying Old Homes.

"It would be a better plan if the Government would allow the soldiers to buy houses that are already built," said Alderman Sangster.

Tom Norris told the aldermen that Saanich has already taken up its full allotment under the scheme, and proposes to take up eighteen more houses when the money is forthcoming.

"There is no money provided under the scheme to buy old houses for the soldiers," said Mr. Norris. "If on that ground the returned men are turned down the whole question will be given another hoist. It is not in the power of the Provincial, but the Dominion Government to alter this matter."

Alderman Patrick said that the

MRS. M. SUMMERS,
Box 9, WINDSOR, ONT.

Government most likely had in mind the opportunity for graft when it made no provision for buying old houses.

"The whole thing has been turned down unanimously by the council with the exception of one," said Alderman Sangster.

Good Building Weather Gone.

"I would like to congratulate the one who didn't turn it down because he showed considerable common sense," said H. W. Hart, of the B. C. Veterans Weekly.

Mr. Hart protested against the decision of the council which has resulted in the good building weather being passed now with nothing done. He declared that the reported sickness of various aldermen in turn was no excuse for the delay.

"The act clearly states that the scheme is to build new houses to relieve congestion and to give employment," continued Mr. Hart. "I contend that it is advisable to accept the scheme as it stands."

Mr. Hart pointed out that Esquimalt, Saanich, Oak Bay, and even Courtenay are going ahead with the scheme.

"If the city of Victoria does not adopt this scheme it will show that the aldermen have no trust in the returned men," Mr. Hart went on. "I appeal to you men to give this consideration both from the patriotic and the business point of view. It is not fair to the returned men to keep putting them off because there is not a full council present."

Should Encourage Home Owning.

"I think it good business to give these men the opportunity to own their own homes. The money has been put up by the Dominion Government, and through the Provincial Government to the municipalities, and the city does not have to put up the money."

"At the present time it is impossible to get houses in the city at a reasonable rent. These men who have done their bit overseas should be given the opportunity to take advantage of this loan from the Dominion Government."

"It is conceded that houses now would cost thirty-three per cent. more than in a couple of years," said Alderman Sargent. "Thus in a couple of years the returned soldiers might get sick of the agreement and repudiate it. Under such circumstances we would hardly be doing justice to the returned men. We would be putting them in a bad box by placing something on them that they couldn't carry."

"Surely the returned soldier has sufficient business ability to look into the matter and decide whether it is good business or not for himself," replied Mr. Hart.

Soldiers' Word Sacred

"I believe that the soldiers' word is sacred," said Alderman John Harvey. "There is a question of doubting the soldiers' word."

"Can we not in any way get that money from the Government and build these houses altogether on our own. As Mr. Hannington says, that is a very poorly drawn agreement. But there is now $30,000 to $100,000 lying idle that we can use. At the same time unemployment is mounting up. I don't think we would be running any great risk under this scheme."

"These men who went overseas ran the risk of everything they had to fight for us and save the world for civilization. I don't think that any man is warranted in stating that there will be much reduction in the price of building materials during the next couple of years. If we can break away from these Government strings as they are doing in Saanich we might be building five-roomed houses for $2,500."

"I don't think the question of security in the case of the returned men is worth mentioning," said Mr. Hart. "Many of these returned soldiers lived here before the war for years and they are fully responsible."

He said that there were nearly sixty returned men here that the city could rely on to carry out their agreements.

"The housing scheme will come up again when the select committee decides to bring its report before the Council."

WHO MAKES MOST MONEY?

Mr. Booth Tarkington, the writer of "Monsieur Beaucaire," is one of the wealthiest authors. It was stated a few years ago that he had made $200,000 out of his writings.

When success arrives, the pen is a mighty producer of wealth. It is not, however, more lucrative than cinema acting. Charlie Chaplin's annual earnings have been estimated at $250,000, and Mary Pickford, who has just declared her intention of retiring, will relinquish $200,000 a year when she ceases acting for the screen.

Opera singers, like Caruso, coin hundreds of pounds in a few minutes. But perhaps boxing brings in the biggest sums per minute, if we exclude speculation, and as an instance the recent contest between Dempsey and Willard may be quoted. Dempsey won in ten minutes and secured $20,000; $2,000 per minute, or $33 1/3 s 8d per second.—Tit-Bits.

Retail Clerks Present Appli- cation For By-law to Aldermen

An appeal to the aldermen to pass a by-law closing all retail stores in the city at 6 o'clock Saturday evenings, was made at the City Hall yesterday by E. S. Woodward, business agent, and Harry H. Hollins, secretary of the Retail Clerks' Union.

They produced petitions signed by meat, fish, cycle, sporting goods and hardware dealers who are willing to close at 6 o'clock. They reminded the council that the departmental stores of the city and many other establishments now close at 6 o'clock.

Aldermen drew the attention of the clerks to the provision of the early closing act which requires the council to pass a by-law closing all shops in any line of trade at 6 o'clock Saturday on the application of seventy-five per cent. of the firms in that trade.

Mr. Woodward presented a letter from the clerks in support of the appeal.

"On behalf of the retail clerks of this city, we hereby apply to the council to exercise its powers under Section 4, subsection 3, of the Shops Regulation Act, and to pass a by-law requiring all retail stores within the municipality, not otherwise exempted under the said Act, to close on Saturdays not later than 6 p. m."

"We make a similar application under Section 5 of the said Act on behalf of the majority of the retail merchants of the city engaged in the following trades: Meat and fish, cycle and sporting goods, hardware."

"We enclose applications in the above three classes which we believe will fulfil the requirements of the Act, and on behalf of the signatories request that the Victoria City Council pass the necessary by-law to give effect to the applications within the time specified in the Act."

"We beg to call the council's attention to the fact that many stores, including Spencers, Ltd., Weller Bros., Angus Campbell, Gordon's, Ltd., Gordon Drysdale, Smith & Champion, Standard Furniture, Victoria Furniture, Fletcher Bros., Willis Piano Co., Heintzman & Co., McKenzie Grocery, Empire Meat Market, Westcott, Seabrook Young, Beehive and many others, have been closing at 6 p. m. on Saturdays for over three months as a permanent arrangement."

"As clerks and citizens, we appreciate the public spirit and large vision of these firms, and feel that a sincere effort should be made to stand by them and by those who, by the enclosed applications, have expressed their willingness and desire to fall into line with the progressive spirit of the times."

"The elimination of night shopping is, we contend, consistent with national economy, and the practice of Saturday night closing already obtains in the neighboring cities of Vancouver and Seattle."

The Hacking Cough Strains the Lungs

The terrible, hacking, lung-wracking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it is a great source of danger to your health, and the longer it is allowed to stick the more serious the menace becomes.

You can easily get rid of the cough or cold at its inception by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy that has been universally used throughout Canada for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Portage, P. E. I., writes: "Last winter I caught a heavy cold, and was laid up for some time. I had such a hacking cough I could not sleep at night, and did not think I could ever get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me, and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so the next day I sent for a bottle and soon got relief, and in the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I doubt there is anything to equal it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A man called for shepherd's pie, and chose a chair; then, remembering that he wanted coffee, he dashed over to the counter. When he returned with his coffee his chair was occupied by another hurry-up diner.

"Excuse me," said the first man, "but this is my chair."

"How do you know it is your chair?" demanded the occupant, in a surly tone.

"Because I can prove it," stated the first man.

"How can you prove it?" asked the occupier.

"By your clothes," was the reply. "You are sitting on my lunch!"

SHELLY'S 4X BREAD

Baking Thousands of Loaves Keeps the Price of Bread Down

LOUR, sugar, butter, eggs, fuel, milk, meat, etc., all have greatly increased in price during the last 24 months. Just as with the baker, wages and other "overhead" expenses have risen considerably. In spite of such additional cost of production, you are still buying a loaf of bread at the same price you did 24 months ago. Or, only a few cents more than before the war.

Isn't this sufficient evidence to show that you can't afford to bake—that it's cheaper to buy baker's bread. Wouldn't this be a good time to try SHELLY'S 4-X BREAD? Isn't it reasonable to say that it is cheaper per loaf to bake 10,000 loaves than four. This explains 4-X quality and high food value.

TO SEE PREMIER ABOUT WATER SUPPLY FOR VICTORIA WEST

Aldermen Consider Shutting Off Pressure is Serious Matter

Provision of a continuous water service for Victoria West free from interruptions by the Esquimalt Waterworks is to be taken up with Premier Oliver and the Government by Alderman Sangster and City Engineer Preston. It was decided at the Streets Committee of the City Council yesterday.

The aldermen decided on this action when they learned that Victoria West had again been shut off from water supply because of interference with the water mains through the resurfacing of Colwood Road by the Provincial Government.

"Whatever the reason it created a great deal of inconvenience and the possibility of serious fire damage to this section of the city," said the City Engineer. "It is much to be regretted that there is no connection between the Esquimalt Waterworks system and our own, which connection could easily be made if the Esquimalt Waterworks Company were willing."

"I have received numerous complaints from the inhabitants of Victoria West, who blame the City Council very strongly for making no provision for their protection."

Alderman Johns said he understood that the charter of the Esquimalt Company did not compel them to supply water continuously.

"The Provincial Government has the right to see that these people in Victoria West have connection with the city," said Alderman Sangster. "We owe a duty to the people of Victoria West."

When the matter is placed before the Premier and the Government direct connection between the water mains of the city and Victoria West will be recommended.

TOP RUNG TYPISTS.

It is not generally known that amongst other things, President Wilson is an expert typist. Whilst at his official White House residence he scarcely ever uses his pen unless it is to sign some important documents.

The President possesses an absolutely unique typewriter, and he taps away at a speed which would make a professional typist envious.

Quite recently he personally typed a very difficult and lengthy message to Congress whilst on board the convey ship George Washington. It contained nearly sixteen thousand words and the President accomplished the task in a remarkably short space of time.

Mr. Wilson, however, is not the only great statesman who personally manipulates his own typewriters. For Mr. Hughes, the well-known Prime Minister of Australia, rarely travels a long distance unaccompanied by his typewriter, which, it is interesting to know, was specially built for him.

When commencing a sea voyage, Mr. Hughes invariably take with him two reliable machines, in case one gets out of order, and long after his fellow passengers have retired for the night, the Australian Premier can be heard drumming away at the keys.

Mr. Lloyd George is an enthusiastic believer in the possibilities of the typewriter, and has all his speeches typed out by his secretary, who "runs" a strongly-built machine equipped with extra large Pica type, this feature enabling the Premier to read the manuscript at a distance.

Yet another President who has a complete mastery of the keyboard is President Poincare. Like President Wilson, he is an expert typist, and frequently prepares his own manuscript. He possesses a very valuable machine, presented to him by a famous typewriting company.—Tit-Bits.

SUBMITS ANOTHER OFFER TO BOARD

Saanich Council Still Endeavors to Secure Library Facilities

"I think if we were to have the hours of the Provincial Library extended, and have a library of our own, that would be the best solution of the library question," said Councillor Dooley in the Saanich Council last evening.

"I am still of the opinion that there is no extensive demand," observed Councillor Terrell.

"We must have a library of our own," Councillor Dooley declared. "A library of our own would be different," remarked Councillor Terrell, "to the present project."

This discussion took place on a motion to adopt the suggested basis of settlement with the Victoria Library Commissioners for library facilities of the institution to be restored to Saanich residents, at the Saanich Council last evening.

"I am perfectly prepared," said Councillor Watson, "to vote for an arrangement, provided that travelling libraries are instituted for the out-lying districts of Saanich."

"I never expected to have to take part in such a scrap," said Mr. Watson, "over the use of the library, when I helped to cut the letters 'Victoria Public Library' years ago on the building downtown."

The proposal adopted provides for a sliding scale with a minimum of $500, and a maximum of $800, based on the number of Saanich readers, and the conditions of service. The following offer will be made, provided that the Library Commissioners will give to Saanich residents all the privileges enjoyed by Victoria residents:

1. Saanich will make a grant of $500 to pay for the year 1919 and January, 1920.

2. Next year Saanich will grant a sum based on the actual cost of service in 1919, paying this per capita for the number of subscribers taking tickets in 1920, the minimum revenue to the Library being guaranteed at $500.

3. Saanich to issue the membership cards used by Saanich residents, and such cards not to be required of Saanich residents who are city taxpayers.

4. The agreement to run from year to year and to be cancellable at the end of any year on either party giving one month's notice.

PREVENT VOTERS FROM QUALIFYING

Municipal Elections Act and Municipal Act Do Not Coincide

The unsatisfactory state of the Voters' List was brought to the attention of the Saanich Council last evening by Clark Cowper.

He submitted some suggestions that the act should be amended at the next session, which were ordered by the Council to be forwarded to the Executive Council. The suggestions follow:

"In the new act it is intended that no alterations shall be made in the assessment roll from the time it is prepared until the following assessment roll supersedes it. This amendment came into force on July 1, and as a consequence any person who has acquired property in the municipality since that date will not be the assessed owner of such property, even although they have actually made a declaration of ownership. The Voters' List is really a list of the assessed owners of land with the addition of householders and licenseholders who have made declarations. Therefore, owners who have acquired property or made declarations after July 1 of this year will not be on the Voters' List for the year 1920, and as their number is very considerable a great amount of dissatisfaction will be created.

"I might point out that as the act stands at present a person who acquires property and actually registers it in the Land Registry Office on December 1 of the year 1919 will not be the assessed owner of that property until the year 1921, and will not therefore be included in the Voters' List until 1922."

TO ENTERTAIN ADMIRAL

Naval Veterans of Victoria Wish to Hold Smoker November 8.

It is proposed to extend an invitation to Admiral Viscount Jellicoe to attend a smoker to be held in his honor on Saturday night, November 8, by the Naval Veterans of Victoria.

At a meeting held last night, presided over by Captain E. H. Martin, it was decided to send a wireless message to Admiral Jellicoe, who was due to leave Honolulu this morning, asking if he would consent to attend a concert and smoker at the cañon, at Esquimalt. If the date mentioned does not fall in with the Admiral's plans, another meeting will be held to arrange the affair at a time suitable to him. It is believed, however, that November 8 is about the only time that the distinguished sailor will have free outside of his other engagements in Victoria, during his stay here.

It is the idea of those who are promoting the smoker that the gold headed walking-stick and address to be presented to Admiral Jellicoe should be presented on the evening of the smoker.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY FIRMS WIN
HONOR EMBLEMSList Grows Every Day as All Members of Business Houses InvestVANCOUVER DOING WELL
IN EMBLEM COMPETITION

Nearly one hundred and thirty-five firms, shops and families have qualified for honor emblems in the present Victory Loan drive. It was announced at Loan headquarters here to-day. So far additions to the one hundred per cent. list have averaged about fifty a day.

"A glance at the Victory Loan returns in the Vancouver papers must demonstrate to Victorians that the business men of Vancouver are alive to the importance of making a huge success of the Victory Loan, to judge by the ever lengthening lists of firms qualifying for the Hundred Per Cent. Honor Class," said George G. Bushby, Honor Emblem Manager, this morning when asked as to the progress of the competition in Victoria.

"The Victory Bond salesmen are taking full advantage of the leverage possessed by the spirit of friendly competition, and during next week we expect to see the Prince of Wales Honor Flag in the window of every business house in Victoria."

"The Junior Honor Emblem, for families and smaller offices, is rapidly becoming popular, and telephone 638 is winning bumper day by day, for the good people of Victoria do not like to be left out when favors or honors are being distributed. If the salesman does not put your name on the honor list it means that your entire family has not become Victory Bond holders, and that is your fault."

Employee Honored.—The staff of the E. W. Whittington Lumber Company, Ltd., last evening presented T. Elliott with the key to the city in recognition of the esteem in which he is held by the employees of the concern with which he has been engaged since March, 1917, the occasion being his departure for Cowichan district, where he will take up farming.

Police Get Car.—The Provincial Police succeeded in recovering a five-passenger Ford car which was stolen in Nanaimo Monday night, 11-25-1918. The car was located at the side of the road on the Malahat, the thief having abandoned the machine when it ran out of gas.

Constable Fryer brought the car into Pimley's garage last night.

Too Much Dust in Coal.—Despite its high price, some of the coal that is being supplied to the public schools with the view of saving fuel is full of dust.

It is of little service, school trustees learned at their meeting this afternoon. To discover the reason for this and bring it about that decent coal is supplied, the Board appointed Trustee Capt. Aitken and Major Riddell, the chairman, to investigate.

Too Muddy to Go to School.—Children on their way to the Burnside School have to pass through so much mud on Cecilia Street on rainy days that they arrive at the school dirty and wet and not in a fit condition to study.

When the school trustees, at their meeting this afternoon, learned of this they decided to make application to the City Council to have these conditions remedied by repairing and draining the road.

PUBLIC ENTERTAINED AT HALLOWE'EN PARTYSeveral Hundred People Attended Entertainment at
Y.M.C.A. Last Night

One of the most interesting and unique Halloween entertainments staged in this city for many years was held at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Several hundred young people responded to the general invitation extended by the officials of the association to participate in the "spooky evening."

Most of the visitors donned masks and sheets to take part in the grand march which was headed by a weird musical aggregation styling themselves as the "Kazoo Band." Proceeding through the gymnasium there every effort was made to stifle the masqueraders in some manner or another, the party was conducted to the swimming tank. Here a dim red light told of mysterious doings. Immediately a number of grotesquely dressed young men appeared and performed a series of antics in the water. Passing on the party entered the Chamber of Horrors, where skeletons and other ghastly sights were presented. The Cave of Winds was later visited.

There were numerous side-shows conducted by witches, magicians, fortune-tellers and clowns which added greatly to the entertainment of the gay throng.

The building was decorated throughout in a most remarkable and appropriate manner. Pumpkins, lanterns and cedar boughs were arranged in a tasteful manner.

The refreshments served before the gathering dismissed were quite in keeping with the spirit of Halloween. The visitors expressed their thanks in a very hearty manner for the excellent entertainment which had been provided by the association.

REV. J. G. INKSTER.

MUST LIVE LIKE CHRIST TO BE A REAL CHRISTIAN

Gypsy Smith Denounces Prayers Without Works;
Christian Duties

A clear-cut and tangible description of what a real Christian's life should be and a scathing rebuke of the hypocrisy of the age were voiced by the famous evangelist, Gypsy Smith, in a magnificent address delivered at the Armory before over a fifteen hundred people last night. In his enunciation of the Christian's duties, Mr. Smith dwelt upon the importance of prayer and of constant worship, but denounced in stinging sentences the type of religion which made people good on Sunday but which was forgotten during the rest of the week. As his custom, the great preacher talked plainly, and left nothing to the imagination of his audience, speaking of the things which he averred, Victoria preachers would like to speak about.

Must Follow Christ.

"When Jesus said 'follow me,' he meant that we must do a certain thing, rise to a certain standard, think along certain lines, live in a certain way," Mr. Smith declared. "I know lots of the boys over in the trenches who did not profess Christianity because their conception of what a Christian should be was too high. I thought I was pretty wide awake when I went to France, but when I got there I changed my mind. I have come from the mud and the blood of France, and I am determined that, as long as God gives me breath, to tell the people of the world that nothing will do for those boys but a new creation!"

"Did you join the church to come out of the uncleanness of the world?" the preacher asked. "Do you put God first in everything you do?—every dollar you spend? Every book you read? Every business transaction in which you engage? Every word you say? Do you live all your life as if you were in the presence of God? Did you begin your religious life by getting right with the church, the preacher, some sect or ism? If you did you have not begun at all. You can only begin by a detachment of self and the enthronement of God. Otherwise your religion is a spurious one, a counterfeit, a fraud!"

Is God Given a Chance?
"Does God get a chance in your day?" Mr. Smith asked—"this day? Did he start with you this morning? No? And yet you are churchmen. You go to church and say 'Lord have mercy on us miserable offenders.' But you don't look very miserable! Oh, what hypocrites we are!"

"You remember," the speaker reminded the audience, "how Jesus, after a hard, busy day, withdrew into the wilderness and prayed. Now, are you a praying man, a praying woman? When did you pray with your family last? When did you go to a prayer meeting? When did you ask a blessing upon your food? You are ashamed to answer to be seen praying. If anyone sees you praying you blush!" the preacher asserted, in scathing tones.

Mr. Smith related how, when a mere child, he had prayed for his gypsy uncle until he had worn holes through the knees of his trousers, and by his devotion had been able to convert a number of his relatives. "Yes, when people begin to pray something happens," the preacher observed. "Mark you, I don't mean idle repetitions of words! I don't

"I started to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment when I was healed." (Signed) Clifford Yeomans, East Chatham, N. S.

mean long sentences which you hardly understand—I mean talking with God."

Must Teach Children Prayer

Continuing on the theme of prayer, the evangelist wondered if the people who had brought little children to hear him had prayed that day. "May God save any children in this city who are brought up in a home where the family does not pray," he exclaimed. "A child turned out of a home where there is no prayer cannot avoid disaster in the world. If you are really a Christian you are a praying man, a praying woman. You cannot help praying."

"As was his custom," Mr. Smith quoted from the New Testament, "Jesus went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day." When the recording angel records your Sabbath how will the record read?

Canada Must Tighten Grip

"Will it read like this: 'As was his custom' he went to church in the morning and played golf in the afternoon? Or 'As was her custom she went to church in the morning and played bridge in the afternoon? If you people of Canada are going to hold your place in the world you have got to tighten your grip on the Sabbath!"

"We have not been determined enough in our preaching of God's word," the preacher exclaimed, turning to a number of Victoria ministers who sat on the platform. "We have not been sure enough, not dogmatic enough. I am saying the things to you that these preachers would like to say! They don't because they know you. I don't know you and I am not afraid to say it. If the cap fits—wear it."

"Suffer Little Children"

Taking for his text Jesus' command, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven," the speaker declared with stinging rebuke in his voice, "There are women in your city who will fondle a poodle dog and yet have no arms for a baby! I don't believe God Almighty meant any woman to fondle a dog. If he had he would have put her in the kennel. You are not Christians, women, if you do not love little children. You are not Christians if you have not got a heart for a baby in these days when thousands of little children are crying for the daddies who will never come home."

"Have you ever spent yourself so that you could not sleep in seeking those who are astray in your city? Have you ever made yourself tired in the service of humanity? If you have not you have missed the greatest joy this side of Heaven. If you are saved it is to serve, and if you are not serving there is something wrong with the saving. God did not put a light into your heart to be hidden. You are the salt of the earth, but if the people are not sweetened by your presence you had better examine yourselves."

Christians' Duty

"Being a Christian is a terrific thing. It is the biggest business in the world. Have you business men ever stopped making dollars for one hour to try to save someone? Have you ever given up an evening's pleasure to try to save someone from taking the fatal step into the path of evil? If not you are not a Christian. "Christianity means more than church-going; it means more than long prayers; it means the dethronement of self and the enthronement of God! Nothing less than that will satisfy your intelligent conscience and your soul on a death pillow. That is the lesson of the New Testament. That is the lesson I have brought to your city."

AERIAL AMBULANCES.

One by one the things which we only used to see on the ground are being caught up in the air, and the latest is an aerial ambulance. Aeroplanes have, of course, already done invaluable work in bringing medical aid during times of urgency, but the hospital machine being built at Kenley will be the first aerial ambulance in this country. It is being fitted up with all the usual necessities, including a seven-foot stretcher. The machine will have its station at Kenley aerodrome, and will set out in response to its summons when any accident is reported, rendering first aid and bringing back the injured person. Probably, before long, aerial ambulances will be as common a sight as the ordinary ambulance now used in our streets.—Tit-Bits.

Difficulties are notices that we must put forth some extra effort.
